Ike Receives Big Welcome From Indians

More Than Million Cheer President Upon Arrival

NEW DELHI, India (UPI)—A river of humanity eight miles long surged around President Eisenhower on his arrival in Red-threatened India today and acclaimed him with a cheering, flower-strewn welcome rarely equalled in history.

More than a million shoving, cheering Indians hailed Eisenhower as a messenger of peace on the fifth and longest stop of his 11-nation tour. Radio broadcasts carried to every corner of the vast country his pledge to work with India on "our common quest of peace."

FRED MANTEGANI
'Very, very grateful'

At one point, Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru had to leap from, the official car and plunge into the milling crowd to try to clear a path. U. S. Secret Servicemen joined Indian police in pushing back the waves of people that pushed forward with cries of "zindabad Ike"—long live Ike—and hurled flowers that filled the car to a depth of two feet. Eisenhower was visibly overwhelmed.

BEATS KHRUSHCHEV

The welcome for Nikita Khrushchev and then-Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin in 1955 was nothing compared to this.

Officially, a million people turned out for Eisenhower. Observers said they would not doubt that up to two million were present to shout and cheer.

It took three hours from the moment Eisenhower's gleaming jetliner set down at Palam Airport outside the city until the President, after an admittedly "exhausting ride," entered his private apartment in the palace of President Rajendra Prasad to rest for the night.

THIRD CROWD SCENE

It was the third tumultuous crowd scene in the day for Eisenhower. A huge throng bade him farewell in Karachi, Pakistan, and another crowd of 200,000 pelted him with confetti during his five-hour stay in the kingdom of Afghanistan.

The Eisenhower plane set down amide 70,000 cheering people at New Delhi's airport as the setting sun shot the overhead clouds with crimson.

Eisenhower's greetings to Prasad and Nehrú were drowned out. The crowd cheered when he said he wanted to work with them on "our common quest of peace" because the thought of nuclear war was "too horrible to contemplate."

Tiburon Voters Defeat Fire Board Recall

The attempt to recall Fred Mantegani from the Tiburon Fire Protection District Commission was defeated more than 2 to 1 in a special election yesterday.

A total of 376 "no" votes were cast against the recall, to 158 "yes" votes.

County Clerk George S. Jones reported the Reed School voting was 262 "no" and 144 "yes" and the Tiburon Boulevard firehouse vote, 114 "no" and 44 "yes.'

Registered voters in the district number 1,569, making the turnout 46.7 per cent.

VOTE FOR CANDIDATES

Unsuccessful candidates John P. Eichorn and Richard L. Williamson received votes of 91 and 112 votes respectively. Mantegani received 38 write-in votes and Francis J. Ryan received two write-in votes. Ryan is a volunteer fireman.

"I am very, very gratified by the results and I want to thank all the wonderful people who worked so hard for me," Mantegani said today. He added, "I shall try hard to merit confidence in all of the district."

RESPONSIBILITY

Vice Chairman Fred C. Hannahs, one of the four members who started the recall procedure, commented, "I am glad the responsibility of Fred Mantegani's appointment rests with the voters and not with the commission."

The election climaxed a hectic campaign by Mantegani supporters which included a well-attended "Town Hall on Recall" discussion of both sides of the issue.

Mantegani has served on the board since September. He was appointed by the Marin County Board of Supervisors to fill the vacancy created when Howard I. McGill resigned.

Hub Council Selects City Administrator

Douglas Flautt, 39, former city manager of Sanger, Fresno County, will take over next Tuesday as city administrator of San Anselmo.

Flautt was hired last night by a 3-2 vote of the San Anselmo City Council, with Mayor Arthur W. Smith and Councilman Carmel H. Booth casting the "no" votes. He will receive $9,600 per year—the same salary that was paid former City Manager Arthur W. Brewer.

Mayor Smith said he was voting against the appointment because he thought the matter should be left open until after the April municipal election, in which San Anselmans will ballot on whether they want (a) a city manager, (b) a city administrator or (c) neither.

Councilman William Franchini, who moved the appointment of Flautt, objected that the switching from a city manager to a city administrator

FIRST '59 CASE OF PARALYTIC POLIO STRIKES

A 53-year-old San Anselmo woman has become the first known victim of paralytic polio in Marin County this year, Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer, reported today.

It is the fourth case of polio reported this year to the county health department, but the previous cases were of the non-paralytic type, she said.

The woman who has been admitted to Marin General Hospital, did not have any Salk serum inoculations, Dr. Albrecht reported.

Last year during the same period, there were five reported cases of the disease in Marin County.

Costs Threaten Tam Valley Flood Control

Army Engineers Boost Estimate, Stun Supervisors

A bill for $114,000 was unexpectedly dropped on the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday afternoon, leaving it in a temporarily stunned condition.

County Clerk George S. Jones presented a letter, hot out of the post office, from Col. John S. Harnett, district engineer in San Francisco for the Army Corps of Engineers, which announced a "re-analysis" of cost estimates for the proposed federal flood control project in Tamalpais Valley.

Instead of the $413,000 estimate put forward about a year ago, with Uncle Sam footing $400,000 of the bill, the new estimate is $527,000, Harnett wrote.

The Army will still foot $400,000 of the cost, Col. Harnett wrote. The county, which had set up an assessment district to raise $30,000, giving it adequate "cushion" above the $13,000 it previously supposed to be its share of the cost, will be expected to put up $127,000.

The colonel asked "information of the ability and intent to meet the increased contribution."

SLATE HEARING

The board of supervisors, at a loss to know where such an amount could be found, set a hearing for 3 p.m. next Tuesday.

Meanwhile it instructed that copies of the letter be given to all board members and to Leland H. Jordan, county counsel, and Marvin W. Brigham, director of public works.

Brigham professed complete astonishment at the letter.

NO INFORMATION

The county is supposed to condemn property by March 1 between the line of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad and Maple street a mile or more up Tamalpais Valley. Despite frequent recent requests by his office, Brigham said, the Army Engineers office has not provided the necessary information.

The letter didn't make clear just why within a year a discrepancy of such large amount should develop. It spoke vaguely of some sharp increases, the nature of which Supervisor Vera L. Schultz of Mill Valley pledged herself to look into.

Two Gunmen Hold Up Mill Valley Liquor Store

Thugs Bind Clerks, Take Almost $300

Two foul-talking, fidgety men entered a Mill Valley liquor store last evening and took nearly $300, an expensive bottle of Scotch and two wallets at gunpoint.

They tied up and gagged two clerks then had to untie one of them to get into the till.

Owner T. J. DeLasaux, former city councilman and Marin representative to the Bay Area Rapid Transit District, said today the pair took $263.76 from the till, and a bottle of Scotch that brought his total loss to $270.51.

They also took wallets belonging to clerks K. W. Benjamin, 24 Loma Linda road, San Rafael, and Edward S. Ryan, 175 West Blithedale avenue, Mill Valley. There was $21 in Benjamin's wallet; no cash in Ryan's.

Police said the bandits tied up both clerks, taping Benjamin's mouth and stuffing a rag in Ryan's mouth.

MEN DESCRIBED

Police said both men were about 28 years old. One was about five feet, 10 inches and weighed about 160 pounds. He wore a blue windbreaker jacket and black shoes and carried what was believed to be a Luger automatic.

The other man was about an inch taller and was stocky. He wore a tan suede jacket and carried either a .32 or .22 caliber automatic.

Neither man's face was covered.

Mrs. Gene E. Mortley of 17 Roque Moraes, Mill Valley, sitting in a car outside the store, said she saw two men leave the store in a hurry and drive away in a gray-blue 1949 or 1950 Oldsmobile. They nearly hit three cars in their hasty getaway.

ACCOUNT OF HOLDUP

DeLasaux gave this account of the holdup:

Two men used the telephone, or at least stayed in the phone booth outside the store until there were no customers inside. Then they entered and one asked Benjamin for a six-pack of beer. As he reached for it, he felt muzzle of a gun jabbed against his back.

Ryan, who was off duty, happened to be in the store and was placing a box of wine on a shelf. He and Benjamin were taken to a back room where their hands were bound behind their backs with adhesive tape.

Then one of the intruders discovered he could not open the cash register. So he untied Ryan and made him open it.

THREATENS TO KILL

"Don't make any move or I'll kill you," Ryan said the man warned.

He told Ryan to put the money in a sack, then demanded he also put in a bottle of Scotch.

Just as Ryan was being herded to the back room for the second time, a customer entered the store, He, too, was sent to the back. Then two more customers entered. They were ordered to the rear of the store.

DeLasaux identified them as

2 Marinites Safe In Atlantic Storm

A Tiburon sailor and his wife, feared missing aboard a Norwegian-built yacht in the Atlantic storm, apparently are safe at an English harbor, it was indicated today.

The yacht Edvard Grieg, with Emil Lamerdin, 38, of East View avenue, Tiburon, as pilot and his wife, Pat, 32, as a passenger, was reported missing out of Lisbon, Portugal, in news dispatches early today.

But near noon yacht broker Peter W. Varney of Newport Beach told United Press International he had talked by trans-Atlantic telephone Monday with Eugene Scott, also reported aboard the missing boat, and "the yacht was anchored at Port Hamble, near Southampton, England."

PAT LAMERDIN

NEVER IN STORM

"Scott said he never got into the storm at all," Varney reported.

Lamerdin and Scott were sailing the Edvard Grieg back to California from Hjelset, Norway, where it was built, with a plan to establish a business here selling Norwegian-built craft. With them were Mrs. Lamerdin and Scott's wife and two daughters.

The Lamerdins have been Tiburon residents 10 years. Lamerdin at one time was skipper of the luxurious yacht Zaca, owned by late movie star Errol Flynn.

He and Scott had gone to Norway to launch a new venture as yacht dealers, and were due to return here late in January.

BUILT IN NORWAY

En route to England, it passed its first stiff test, weathering a North Sea gale with wind gusts up to 105 miles an hour.

At Cowes on the Isle of Wight, the Grieg laid up to take on ballast. She left there Nov. 18, making for Lisbon, reported F. Gibbons, an employee of Marvins Shipyard, as quoted by UPI.

George Barton, harbormaster at Cowes, England, said the yacht stopped briefly at Port Hamble, then headed out to sea. However, Varney's report of talking to Scott at Port Hamble yesterday indicated the yacht was still there after Barton thought it had left.

At Long Last— Rain Predicted For Dry Marin

Marin County's long drought appeared to be headed for relief today as the Weather Bureau reported rain is likely in Northern California through next Monday.

Forecaster E. H. Quinn estimated a 70 per cent chance of light rain today for the San Francisco Bay Area. None had appeared here by early afternoon, however. Skies were expected to remain partly cloudy through tomorrow.

Temperatures, which have dipped into the 20s at some Marin points in recent days, were somewhat less severe this morning.

Today's lowest temperatures, reported from several locations throughout Marin, ranged from 28 degrees at Woodacre to 41 degrees atop Mt. Tamalpais and in San Rafael. In Novato the mercury dipped to 34.

HONOLULU (AP) — The Honolulu Advertiser said today that Russia has six nuclear powered submarines — thee in the Pacific and three in the Atlantic.

A spokesman for U.S. Pacific Fleet Cmdr. Herbert Hopwood said the Navy's official position is that it has no evidence of Soviet nuclear submarines in the Pacific.

U.S. Helicopter Sets New Altitude Record

BLOOMFIELD, Conn. (AP)—A helicopter piloted by an Air Force captain today established an unofficial world altitude record for its class by climbing to 30,000 feet.

It is not the highest altitude reached by any helicopter, however. A French turbine-powered Alouette helicopter has reached a height of 36,000 feet.

Piloting the helicopter was Capt. Walter J. Hodgson, veteran Air Force rescue pilot stationed at the flight test center at Edwards Air Force Base. Co-pilot was Maj. William J. Davis, project officer on the H43B development program.

The record is far higher than the previous one established by a Soviet helicopter on March 12 this year. Its altitude was 21,932 feet.

The climb will not be official until instruments sealed in the aircraft are checked.

San Rafael School Districts To Vote March 1 On Bond Issue, Tax Rate Hike

Voters in the San Rafael school districts will go to the polls on March 1 to decide on a bond issue of $2,800,000 for high school facilities and a raise in the elementary school district tax rate.

A third measure on the same ballot will ask the voters to continue the present general purpose tax rate limit of $1.25 per $100 assessed valuation for the high school district.

The San Rafael Board of Education last night set the March 1 election date. On a motion by Willard Vernon, the board decided to ask the voters for the following:

1. Continue the $1.25 general purpose tax rate limit for the high school district for an indefinite period. The $1.25 limit expires on June 30. Without voter action, the rate would revert to 75 cents per $100 assessed valuation for next fiscal year.

2. Approve a bond issue of $2,800,000 for buildings, equipment and site acquisition for the high school district. The bond issue would provide funds to enlarge the new Terra Linda High School, expand facilities at San Rafael High, and possibly purchase a site for another high school. The bonds would be sold over a period of years, as needs arise.

3. Raise the elementary school district general purpose tax rate limit from the present $1.50 to $1.75 for an indefinite period. The increase would provide an increased budget for instructional material, bring teachers' salary schedule to the level of the high school schedule, and carry on a building and grounds program.

GUESS YOU'D CALL THIS A TURNOVER

BURLINGAME (UPI) — A pastry truck blew a tire and overturned on Bayshore freeway today, slowing morning traffic to a snail's pace.

Honolulu Paper Says Russ Have Six Atom Subs

HONOLULU (AP) — The Honolulu Advertiser said today that Russia has six nuclear powered submarines — thee in the Pacific and three in the Atlantic.

A spokesman for U.S. Pacific Fleet Cmdr. Herbert Hopwood said the Navy's official position is that it has no evidence of Soviet nuclear submarines in the Pacific.

30,000 FEET

U.S. Helicopter Sets New Altitude Record

BLOOMFIELD, Conn. (AP)—A helicopter piloted by an Air Force captain today established an unofficial world altitude record for its class by climbing to 30,000 feet.

It is not the highest altitude reached by any helicopter, however. A French turbine-powered Alouette helicopter has reached a height of 36,000 feet.

Piloting the helicopter was Capt. Walter J. Hodgson, veteran Air Force rescue pilot stationed at the flight test center at Edwards Air Force Base. Copilot was Maj. William J. Davis, project officer on the H43B development program.

The record is far higher than the previous one established by a Soviet helicopter on March 12 this year. Its altitude was 21,932 feet.

San Rafael School Districts To Vote March 1 On Bond Issue, Tax Rate Hike

Voters in the San Rafael school districts will go to the polls on March 1 to decide on a bond issue of $2,800,000 for high school facilities and a raise in the elementary school district tax rate.

A third measure on the same ballot will ask the voters to continue the present general purpose tax rate limit of $1.25 per $100 assessed valuation for the high school district.

The San Rafael Board of Education last night set the March 1 election date. On a motion by Willard Vernon, the board decided to ask the voters for the following:

1. Continue the $1.25 general purpose tax rate limit for the high school district for an indefinite period. The $1.25 limit expires on June 30. Without voter action, the rate would revert to 75 cents per $100 assessed valuation for next fiscal year.

2. Approve a bond issue of $2,800,000 for buildings, equipment and site acquisition for the high school district. The bond issue would provide funds to enlarge the new Terra Linda High School, expand facilities at San Rafael High, and possibly purchase a site for another high school. The bonds would be sold over a period of years, as needs arise.

3. Raise the elementary school district general purpose tax rate limit from the present $1.50 to $1.75 for an indefinite period. The increase would provide an increased budget for instructional material, bring teachers' salary schedule to the level of the high school schedule, and carry on a building and grounds program.

CBS Names New Television Chief

He was catapulted into the job by the bitter resignation yesterday of Louis G. Cowan, originator of television's first high-stakes quiz show, "The $64,000 Question."

In a strongly worded letter to CBS president Frank Stanton, Cowan said "You have made it impossible for me to continue." He offered to stay on as president for 30 days, in accordance with his contract, or to leave whenever Stanton asked him to.

Stanton replied "I accept your resignation. It is effective immediately."

LOUIS G. COWAN
Bitter resignation

Stanton said he was "very, very sorry" Cowan had written such a letter, but Cowan indicated that the subject of his resignation had been a sore point for some time.

Aubrey, who was appointed executive vice president of CBS-TV last June, had been acting as president since Cowan became ill with a thrombosis of the left leg in October. Cowan was hospitalized during the congressional hearings into quiz show rigging.

Stanton's letter confirmed Cowan's statement that his resignation had been "suggested." Stanton said Cowan planned to leave by next June in any case, and it would be upsetting to the organization "in a fast-moving situation" to have him return after a long absence and then leave again in six months.

Cowan's sudden resignation was the second major development affecting television networks yesterday.

Only a few hours earlier, the National Broadcasting Co. admitted that a choral group, the Clara Ward Singers, had kicked back to NBC half the money they were paid for appearances on the "Today" show in 1957 and 1958.

An NBC spokesman said the singers' union-determined fees were too high for the show's budget. He said such kickbacks were common practice in the industry and were not in the same category as "payola" handed to disc jockeys to plug records. But he said NBC has ordered the practice halted.

Squeeze Play

MILWAUKEE (AP) — For Miss Kathleen Krast, 20, an attractive coed, 13 is an unlucky number.

She was accused of carrying 13 passengers in her car — all little boys.

Miss Krast explained to the judge that the youngsters are members of a school playground baseball team and she is the coach.

The judge made her promise she wouldn't do it again and suspended sentence.

REDONDO BEACH (UPI) — A freckle-faced 17-year-old choir boy stabbed to death his mother and seriously wounded his stepfather yesterday and then prayed his mother would go to heaven.

Edgar Lee Cox, booked on suspicion of murder, told police he carried out the stabbings in the pre-dawn hours because his parents made him study four hours a day. He said he recently was suspended for 11 days from Redondo Beach Union High School for playing hooky to go swimming in the ocean.

Cox's mother, Mrs. Edna Fisher, 38, died of two stab wounds in the chest inflicted with a skin diving knife and his stepfather, Donald H. Fisher, 28, an aircraft engineer, was reported in serious condition at Harbor General Hospital with eight stab wounds in the chest, abdomen and back.

Film Smells At Premiere; Producers Are Delighted

NEW YORK (UPI)—The producers were pleased that their motion picture was smelly during a world premiere last night. They planned it that way.

The spectators got hungry for Chinese food instead of pop corn. Their noses were prickled with the smell of smoke. At one point the theatre had the aroma of a barnyard full of geese. The management was delighted.

It was the world premier of "Aromarama" and, smell-wise, the showing of a travelogue of China, "Behind the Great Wall," was a great success.

Under the Aromarama process, the air conditioning in the newly renovated De Mille Theater was rigged so that odors were introduced which ranged from the fragrant incense in a Buddhist temple to the animal smell of a tiger in the jungle.

The process involves signals carried on the film in the same manner as the sound track. The signals introduce an aroma by triggering a mechanism in the air conditioning system, then whisk the odor into the theater.

The presentation represented a victory for Continental Distributing, Inc., which doctored "Behind the Great Wall" up with smells after it won prizes at the Brussels and Venice Film Festivals without scent.

Sausalito Players Set Three Plays Next Year

Raging Storm Still Playing Havoc With Coasts Of Europe

Shipping In Atlantic Hit Hard; 108 Reported Dead Or Missing

LONDON (AP)—Winter gales in the North Sea overturned a Norwegian freighter today and little hope was held for any of her 20 crewmen. The storm, raging for the fifth day in the Atlantic and along the coasts of Europe, has taken a toll of 108, dead or missing.

The 1,719-ton Elfrida was found floating bottom up off the southern coast of Norway after she radioed for help. Her last call for help said the crew was taking to lifeboats.

The Oso motorship Buffalo found two overturned lifeboats and six bodies. The Norwegian liner Oslofjord found a liferaft but with no one aboard. Amateur radio operators said they heard another ship reporting 10 bodies found.

The Norwegian Air-Sea Rescue Service said, however, it had three planes still searching for another lifeboat.

An entire lifeboat crew of eight drowned Monday night in an effort to reach the drifting lightship, and a tug and lighthouse tender were unable to take her in tow.

Norway's radio frequencies were jammed with distress calls and rescue operations from all over the North Sea.

The wreck of the little German freighter Merkud, 995 tons, was found 100 miles off the rugged Norwegian coast not far from where the Elfrida turned over. The Swedish ship Vasaholm and a British trawler reported there was no sign of the Merkur's seven man crew.

The 700-ton Norwegian freighter Grete Solheim, with nine men on her, also was overdue at Aalesund, Norway, and was presumed lost.

The Norwegian salvage ship Slavator was standing by the German freighter Escherhem about 100 miles off Stavanger. The Escherhem reported she had lost her rudder.

The Norwegian trawler Ertnan of Kristiansund, with 14 men aboard, reported she was in trouble off Lerwick, in the Shetlands, after drifting for four days.

The Isle of Oland was cut off from the Swedish mainland by a blibzzard and food was reported running low.

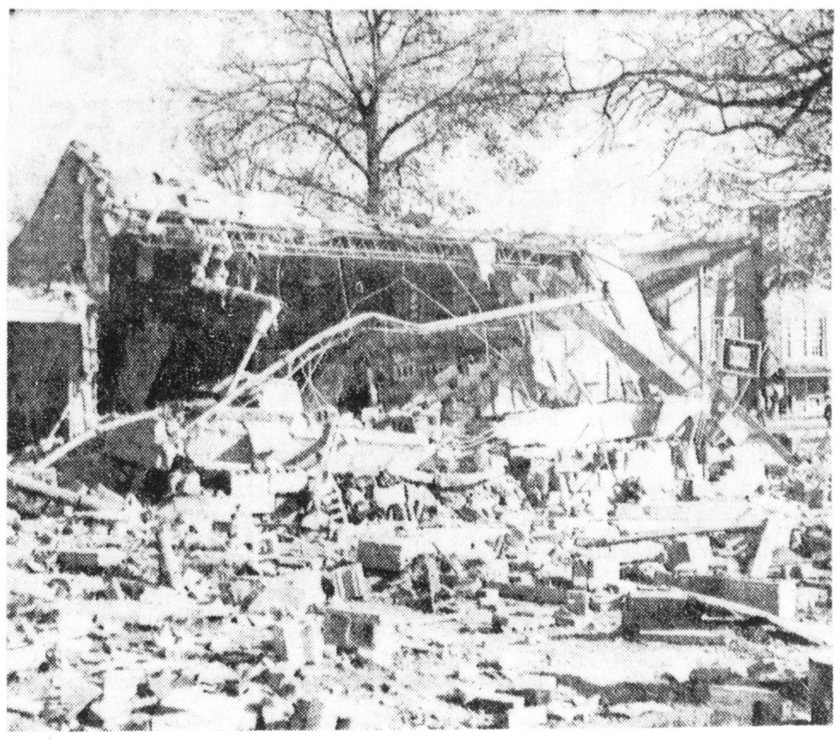
The Baltic Sea was virtually clear of shipping for the fifth day. Off the island of Oland the 2,440-ton German vessel Seevogel sank. Her 17 crewmen were rescued.



THIS USED TO BE A SCHOOLHOUSE

Debris such as this was scattered over the campus of the Paxton Consolidated School campus at Paxton, Fla., after a two-ton boiler exploded in the school building yesterday. The blast occurred just two minutes before recess for the grade school youngsters. Two basketball players in a dressing room adjacent to the boiler room were seriously, but not critically, injured. Damage to the $57,000 building was estimated at $35,000. (AP Wirephoto)

Official Says Drug Probe Could Damage

COMBINED AP & UPI

WASHINGTON — A leading drug manufacturer told the Senate Anti-Trust Subcommittee today that its drug price investigation could "slow the forward march" of medical research unless great care is exercised.

Replying to criticism of drug company pricing practices, John T. Connor, president of Merck and Co., Inc., said objective examination would show that the industry is "highly competitive" and "free of excessive concentration."

PARTNERSHIP

Connor said his company, one of the nation's largest pharmaceutical houses, functions as a "delicate partnership between the quest for scientific knowledge on the one hand and the drive for financial success on the other."

Both research and profits are necessary, he said, if the hunt for new breakthroughs in the "wonder drug" field is to continue.

Connor outlined his company's activities in the development and sale of arthritis drugs, the subject of the subcommittee's current inquiry, in a 23-page prepared statement. Chairman Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) objected to the length of the presentation but Connor insisted that "the facts be fully heard."

CHIEF WITNESS

Rand Dixon, subcommittee counsel, said Connor would be the chief witness to be heard today. He was the second drug firm head to appear before the group. The first was Francis C. Brown, president of the Schering Corp.

Brown wound up two days of testimony yesterday with a sharp challenge of subcommittee figures about his firm's price markups.

He said the subcommittee staff had used distorted figures in picturing the company as marking up prices of some of its medicines by as much as 7,079 per cent.

Testimony presented on the opening day of the hearings was "severly damaging and most unfair to the company," Brown said.

TYPICAL PROFIT

Brown cited as typical of the company's profits what he called a 12.3 per cent return on sales of prednisolone, an anti-arthritis drug.

In testimony Monday, John Blair, the subcommittee's chief economist, said the drug had been marked up 1,118 per cent over the cost of production.

Brown said Blair failed to take into account income taxes, royalties, selling, research and administrative expenses, and cash discounts to wholesalers.

Ike Warmly Welcomed As He Woos Afghans

KABUL, Afghanistan (AP) — President Eisenhower told the Afghans today "true friendship and mutual responsibility" have become essential among nations.

The President paid a visit of nearly six hours to woo this mountainous neutral kingdom, which is under mounting Soviet influence, on his way from a triumphal visit in Pakistan, a U.S. ally, to India, the keystone of his 11-nation goodwill tour.

King Mohammed Zahir greeted Eisenhower warmly in near-freezing weather at the Soviet built airport of this mile-high capital. There were cheers and applause.

Eisenhower, bundler in a black overcoat and muffler, smiled broadly as he shook hands with the king and other Afghan officials against the backdrop of the snow-capped Hindu Kush mountains.

An honor guard of the Afghan army snapped to attention. The airport was decorated with Afghan and U.S. flags and the royal standard.

Thousands of Afghans in long robes, shawls and turbans lined the road at villages in the bleak, barren countryside during the 30-mile drive into Kabul, cheering and applauding.

The schedule packed in discussions between Eisenhower and King Zahir at Chilstoon Palace, a luncheon given by the king, and farewell ceremonies at the Jeshyn national parade grounds.

This nation of 12 million, on the southern rim of the Soviet Union, is the fourth Eisenhower has visited on the tour he launched Dec. 3.

Road Safety Film Shown To Senators

LOS ANGELES (AP) — State senators heard and saw yesterday how divider barriers on freeways can cut traffic deaths.

A motion picture prepared by the California Division of Highways was shown to the Senate fact-finding committee on transportation and public utilities.

The movie covered actual tests in which vehicles were driven into various types of walls and fences.

Safest barrier, official said, is a chain link fence 30 inches high. At $5.50 per running foot it is also the least expensive, they added.

Also presented to the committee, headed by Sen. Randolph Collier, Yreka, was a letter from New York authorities testifying that installation of barriers on that state's freeways cut sharply the number of head-on and sidewise accidents.

Coast Guard Speaker

Lt. Donald M. Draper, representative of the Coast Guard Academy, will speak tomorrow to interested Sir Francis Drake High School students, explaining the Coast Guard cadet program.

Lease On Novato Station Renewed

Renewal of lease for use of the former Novato station of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad nearly ran off the track yesterday.

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos presented the Marin County Board of Supervisors a contract to approve, but Supervisor William D. Fusselman demanded:

"Why should we sign a lease for a year? Novato may be a city by next July!"

His colleagues, however, chimed in to point out that the rental is only a dollar a year. So Mountanos got his renewal.

New Scientific Reports Theorize Cancer-Causing Action Of Smoke

NEW YORK (AP) — Two new scientific reports say cigarette smoke and air pollutants in smog may contribute to development of lung cancer by interfering with fluids and minute hair-like structures in the respiratory tract.

The reports, issued by scientists at the University of Southern California School of Medicine, appear in the November edition of the Journal of the National Cancer Institute.

The reports said natural and artificial smog and their components, as well as smoke from both filtered and non-filtered cigarettes, affect the respiratory tract's defense mechanism in three ways.

They said they slow the flow of the mucous stream, change the physical properties of the mucous, and decrease the whip-like action of the fine structures, called cilia.

EDUCATORS TRY TO END DOCTORATE DIFFERENCES

Survey Team Offers Compromises On Thorniest Of College Issues

BERKELEY (AP)—California's education survey team winds up a three-day conference today, attempting to iron out differences on the future administration of state colleges and the University of California.

The team, a liaison committee of the university Board of Regents and the state Board of Education, is to recommend a master plan covering operation of institutions of higher learning and new construction to meet the state's rapid population growth.

The committee approved a proposal yesterday to channel more students into junior colleges by limiting university admissions to the top 12½ per cent of high school graduates, and state college admissions to the top 33⅓ per cent.

The percentages currently are 15 to 40 per cent.

It was estimated an additional 50,000 students will be in junior colleges by 1975.

The committee recommended also that such students be required to remain in junior colleges two years before being permitted to transfer to the university or to state colleges. Exceptions would be made in the case of brilliant students.

Principal differences between the Board of Regents and state college administrators are what doctorate degrees state colleges should grant, if any. At present they grant none. Also, to what extent state colleges should engage in research programs, currently extremely limited.

Dr. Arthur Coons, president of Occidental College and survey team chairman, said three compromise proposals will be offered:

1. Permit state colleges to grant doctorate of education degrees only.

2. Transfer certain state colleges to the University of California system.

3. Limit the number of doctorates at state colleges, but permit various degrees.

Also at issue is whether to create a powerful joint council to administer California's higher education programs, review budgets and make recommendations to the Legislature. At present, state colleges are under the state Board of Education. The Board of Regents is empowered to take university matters direct to the Legislature.

Arnold Joyal, president of Fresno State College, told the committee that in addition to the 1.4 billion dollars in new construction by 1975, California's bill for higher education might rise to more than two billion dollars if present inflationary trends continue.

MULES HAVE PROBLEM – LACK OF JOBS

ST. LOUIS (AP) — It's getting tough for Missouri mules to find work, even in Missouri.

The St. Louis State Hospital has regretfully announced that it is replacing its team, Kate and Pearl, with a truck. The truck is cheaper than a new wagon would be, and the old wagon in which Kate and Pearl have been hauling trash, has broken down.

The hospital has had mules as long as anyone can remember.

Finch Lawyers Say Fair Trial Impossible In L. A.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The first day of the Finch murder trial began in a crowded courtroom and ended in a Hollywood television studio.

In between, there was plenty of dramatic action yesterday as:

Dr. R. Bernard Finch's lawyers cited a public opinion poll they said showed the wealthy surgeon can't get a fair trial in Los Angeles County because of sensational pre-trial publicity in newspapers, radio and TV.

Defense attorneys argued among themselves about a request by Finch's lawyers to hold trial outside the county.

Dr. Finch, 41, and his sweetheart, Carole Tregoff, 22, are accused of slaying his pretty socialite wife Barbara, 33, last July 18 outside the Finches' luxurious home in nearby West Covina.

Supporting their request for a new trial location, Finch's attorneys cited a poll conducted by a Los Angeles marketing research group. They said the poll showed a large number of those people questioned already had an opinion about the guilt or innocence of the defendants.

Miss Tregoff's attorneys said she can't afford the additional costs of going on trial outside the county and that she believed jurors here would be fair.

The court watched a television station's filmed interview giving the prosecution's reasons for indicting Miss Tregoff. Then it adjourned to a Hollywood television station to see a filmed interview of the district attorney.

Finch's attorneys said the films show public officials improperly expressing opinions about the alleged guilt of the defendants.

Superior Court Judge Walter R. Evans said he would postpone a decision on the request for a transfer until after questioning of prospective jurors. This means the decision may not come for several days.

EDUCATORS TRY TO END DOCTORATE DIFFERENCES

Survey Team Offers Compromises On Thorniest Of College Issues

BERKELEY (AP)—California's education survey team winds up a three-day conference today, attempting to iron out differences on the future administration of state colleges and the University of California.

The team, a liaison committee of the university Board of Regents and the state Board of Education, is to recommend a master plan covering operation of institutions of higher learning and new construction to meet the state's rapid population growth.

The committee approved a proposal yesterday to channel more students into junior colleges by limiting university admissions to the top 12½ per cent of high school graduates, and state college admissions to the top 33⅓ per cent.

The percentages currently are 15 to 40 per cent.

It was estimated an additional 50,000 students will be in junior colleges by 1975.

The committee recommended also that such students be required to remain in junior colleges two years before being permitted to transfer to the university or to state colleges. Exceptions would be made in the case of brilliant students.

Principal differences between the Board of Regents and state college administrators are what doctorate degrees state colleges should grant, if any. At present they grant none. Also, to what extent state colleges should engage in research programs, currently extremely limited.

Dr. Arthur Coons, president of Occidental College and survey team chairman, said three compromise proposals will be offered:

1. Permit state colleges to grant doctorate of education degrees only.

2. Transfer certain state colleges to the University of California system.

3. Limit the number of doctorates at state colleges, but permit various degrees.

Also at issue is whether to create a powerful joint council to administer California's higher education programs, review budgets and make recommendations to the Legislature. At present, state colleges are under the state Board of Education. The Board of Regents is empowered to take university matters direct to the Legislature.

Arnold Joyal, president of Fresno State College, told the committee that in addition to the 1.4 billion dollars in new construction by 1975, California's bill for higher education might rise to more than two billion dollars if present inflationary trends continue.

NATION'S CHRISTMAS TREE

School Boards To Join To Study Tract Needs

School needs in Corte Madera's fast growing subdivision area east of Highway 101 will be explored in the next few months by a joint committee of Larkspur and Reed Union School District officials.

The Larkspur board last night appointed Trustee Doris Barck and Supt. Vaughn D. Seidel to the fact-finding group.

School district boundaries will be one of the major topics for study, as the Reed and Larkspur districts meet in the middle of Marin Estates subdivision.

Ways of providing a safer route for children walking to Larkspur's new Henry C. Hall School were discussed by the Larkspur Board last night. It was reported the city soon will build a walkway of about 200 feet along Magnolia avenue, opposite the Lark Theater. It will run behind a parking area which the city also will pave.

At an informal meeting with city officials Monday night, trustees asked that something be done to make William avenue, which has no sidewalks, safer for school children.

Formation of a sidewalk assessment district or restriction of parking in front of William avenue homes were suggested as possible solutions. The matter is to be taken up by the city council at its next meeting.

The school board also:

1. Authorized experimental placement of a dust binding material on a portion of the Neil Cummins schoolgrounds in Corte Madera. The material costs about three cents per square foot as opposed to about 21 cents for blacktop.
2. Was told by Dr. Seidel that the experimental school lunch program at Hall School, involving the use of pre-cooked heat-and-serve meals is proceeding satisfactorily.
3. Hired Marion Boren as a third grade teacher at Hall School, replacing Mary Lou Krempel, resigned.

2 Slightly Hurt In Marinwood Crash

Two drivers suffered minor injuries in a three-car accident at the entrance to Marinwood on Highway 101 about 6 o'clock last night.

James Robert Gilday, 37, of 89 Grande Vista, Novato, had stopped in the side road waiting to enter the highway according to a California Highway Patrol report. A southbound truck driven by Joe Perry McKelvy, 42, of Richmond, hit a car driven by Dr. Alfred Doane, 56, a dentist living at 251 Cobblestone drive, Marinwood, as the latter was turning across his path to enter Marinwood.

Planners Give Approval To Santa Claus

A policy decision in favor of Santa Claus was made at last night's meeting of the San Rafael Planning Commission.

Mitchell Baird, city planner, had placed on the agenda applications for two use permits by Lawrence Ramatici and Jimmy Ferguson to sell Christmas trees on lots at 251 Third street and at Second street and Lincoln avenue, respectively.

The commission gave Baird a free hand for his office to grant use permits for such purposes without formal application to the commission.

Because it wanted to establish a walk-in stand on Fourth street near the San Rafael High School, the A. and W. Root Beer Co. drew unanimous rejection of its application. Planning commissioners felt such a stand should be farther from the school. If allowed at the selected site it would constitute a hazard and police problem, they added.

Dewey Staggs also had unanimous opposition to his wish to continue use of property at 25 Tiburon street as an auto wrecking yard, but the commission gave him until Jan. 26 to find a new location.

The commission also:

1. Set hearings for Jan. 12 and 26 for John Novak's application for rezoning of certain East San Rafael properties, now zoned "planned commercial" and light industrial, to special multiple residential.
2. Approved Calvin C. B. Wheeler's application for a six-foot fence on his Terra Linda property. City ordinance limits fences to three feet.
3. Approved George Pantazes' petition to subdivide property at 24 Eucalyptus lane into two lots, but set for Dec. 22 a hearing on his request for a partial front setback of eight feet eight inches on this property.
4. Discussed, without action, the Cypress Point annexation of about 30 acres, a matter now before the city council.
5. Granted a use permit for Doreen Nelson to move her convalescent rest home across the street from its present location at 10 Pacheco street, to occupy a building which is to be enlarged to give 17-bed capacity.
6. Approved John Mahoney's petition to divide his lot at 20 Mountain View avenue, but with a requirement that he install curbs, gutters and sidewalks.

Marin Boys Club Sells Yule Trees

The Marin Boys Club is operating its Christmas tree lot for the third year at the Purity Store parking lot in Mill Valley.

President Jack Benjamin announced that anyone who purchases a tree from the lot, if he is not a subscriber to the Independent-Journal, will get a free one-month subscription.

Proceeds go into equipment, operating expenses and scholarships for football, baseball and basketball teams throughout Marin County. This year's Stew Anderson Scholarship was given to Pete Dohn of San Rafael.

CITY FINANCING

Novato Hopefuls Get Briefing By McInnis

Candidates for Novato's city council received their second "educational" session last night when San Rafael Mayor John F. McInnis discussed city financing with the political tyros.

Analyzing the proposed city's income, McInnis pointed out that more than 41 per cent of San Rafael's income comes from city sales tax.

"Less than 25 per cent of your income will come from property taxes," the mayor said.

Other sources and percentages, according to his experience in San Rafael, are: State subventions (including gasoline, alcohol and motor vehicle taxes), 10 per cent; court fines, three and one-half per cent; business licenses, three and one-half per cent, with miscellaneous sources of income accounting for the remainder, McInnis said.

The meeting, held at Novato High School, was the second in a series of such meetings scheduled each Tuesday night prior to the Jan. 12 election. Also on that date the voters will decide on incorporation of Novato.

The next educational session, scheduled next Tuesday night, will hear Lawrence Livingston Jr., of Sausalito, professional city planner with offices in San Francisco, speak on planning.

Tomorrow night at the Marion School, another in a series of "candidates' night" will present candidates Charles S. Adkins, William Loewen, Robert J. Mautner and F. J. Picchi. Each speaker will present his views and answer questions from the audience, starting at 8 o'clock.

Sausalito Ark Colony Freed Of Charges

Several of Sausalito's embattled ark owners and dwellers were freed of criminal charges yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on the recommendation of the district attorney.

The ark owners had been charged with misdemeanor violations of the state Health and Safety Code by not having adequate sewer lines connected with the city sewer system.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Harold F. Wolters reported the sewer defects have been corrected and violations no longer exist. Judge Harold J. Haley granted his recommendation for dismissal of charges against the following:

Lawrence Steese of Gate 5, Marinship; Donald Arques of 298 Johnson street; Carol Lester, 358 Litho street; William Hanley, San Francisco; Alex Georgiadis, 356 Napa street; Jack Mino of the houseboat Lassen and Byron and Sidney Edwards of 602 Humboldt street.

The criminal complaints were filed last May. The case had been continued from time to time to permit the ark owners to correct the defects.

TRUCKING LINES TO UP THEIR HANDLING FEES

The state Public Utilities Commission yesterday authorized an increase in the handling charges of truck lines to become effective Jan. 15 in Marin and 13 other coastal counties.

The boost was requested by California Trucking Associations, Inc. to offset the cost of higher wages since July 1.

There will be a minor increase in handling charges and a 10 per cent car pool surcharge. There will be no boost in hauling charges.

Other counties to be effected by the increase surcharge are Alameda, Contra Costa, Lake, Mendocino, Monterey, Napa, San Benito, San Francisco, Santa Clara, Santa Cruz and Sonoma.

Stiff Punishment

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (UPI) — The Department of Social Welfare reported that some Malayan parents punish their children for flunking school examinations by rubbing red pepper in their eyes. Others resort to thrashing the pupils with leather belts.

Property Tax Penalty Date Drawing Near

Tomorrow is the last day to pay your first installment property taxes without penalty, Marin County Tax Collector M. F. Donohue announced today.

Deadline for payment is 5 p.m. tomorrow, either through the mails or in person on the first floor of the county courthouse in San Rafael. All payments after tomorrow will be penalized 6 per cent.

Almost six million dollars have been paid so far out of this year's total tax bill of $16,104,863. By tomorrow evening's deadline, Donohue expects to receive about nine million dollars.

The second installment deadline is next April, but many taxpayers are paying both installments at this time.

Talk On Literature Slated In Novato

Dorothy Petitt, assistant professor of English at San Francisco State College, will speak tonight at Novato High School on "Literary Appreciation — a Re-Focus."

The meeting, sponsored by the Novato Advisory Council for Education, will be held in the school cafeteria at 8 o'clock.

Miss Petitt, former high school teacher in Michigan, Minnesota, New York and California, will deal with the problems facing framers of English curricula in selecting literature for junior and senior high school students.

Early Decision Pledged On Savings-Loan Firms

A decision is expected within about a week to 10 days by James M. Laurent, assistant commissioner in San Francisco for the state Savings and Loan Division, on two applications for new savings and loan operations in San Rafael.

Hearings took place both morning and afternoon yesterday on applications of the proposed Tamalpais Savings and Loan Assn. to open on Fourth street, and by the Ross Valley Savings and Loan Assn. of San Anselmo to open a branch in Montecito Shopping Center.

Laurent, who commented this morning that "I knew a little about the situation already because I used to live in Mill Valley," said the hearings are now concluded and he will announce his decision as soon as possible.

By law, he said, he has 120 days from the time of filing of applications, which was done early in October. But Laurent said he expects to rule before the holidays.

Evidences of Marin County's booming prosperity were put before Laurent as the basis for the applicants' contention that a need for additional savings and loan facilities exist, no new offices having been opened for several years though two companies operate in San Rafael and there are four companies in the county. One is in San Anselmo and one in Sausalito.

Placed before the assistant commissioner was a front page of Monday's Independent-Journal displaying a headline about "$150 Million San Rafael Tidelands Project . . . 2,000 Homes Planned."

Sausalito Board Rates Teachers

The board also reviewed an agreement by which the district would receive $31,000 a year for three years from the Marin County Housing Authority during redevelopment of Marin City.

Big Program Of Highway Building Ends

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The state Department of Public Works has announced the successful completion of a 36-million-dollar "crash program" of county road and state highway construction.

Public Works Director Robert B. Bradford said yesterday that under terms of the anti-recession provisions of the 1958 Federal Highway Act, the 90 construction projects had to be finished between April, 1958, and this month.

He said that of 67 federal aid secondary county road projects and 23 state highway projects, only one, in Inyo County, was not complete. He added that the deadline was extended on that job.

The work included approximately $29,500,000 for state highway construction, and $5,100,000 in federal funds., $1,000,000 in county funds and $400,000 in state funds for county road projects.

NATION'S CHRISTMAS TREE

School Boards To Join To Study Tract Needs

School needs in Corte Madera's fast growing subdivision area east of Highway 101 will be explored in the next few months by a joint committee of Larkspur and Reed Union School District officials.

The Larkspur board last night appointed Trustee Doris Barck and Supt. Vaughn D. Seidel to the fact-finding group.

School district boundaries will be one of the major topics for study, as the Reed and Larkspur districts meet in the middle of Marin Estates subdivision.

Ways of providing a safer route for children walking to Larkspur's new Henry C. Hall School were discussed by the Larkspur Board last night. It was reported the city soon will build a walkway of about 200 feet along Magnolia avenue, opposite the Lark Theater. It will run behind a parking area which the city also will pave.

At an informal meeting with city officials Monday night, trustees asked that something be done to make William avenue, which has no sidewalks, safer for school children.

Formation of a sidewalk assessment district or restriction of parking in front of William avenue homes were suggested as possible solutions. The matter is to be taken up by the city council at its next meeting.

The school board also:

1. Authorized experimental placement of a dust binding material on a portion of the Neil Cummins schoolgrounds in Corte Madera. The material costs about three cents per square foot as opposed to about 21 cents for blacktop.
2. Was told by Dr. Seidel that the experimental school lunch program at Hall School, involving the use of pre-cooked heat-and-serve meals is proceeding satisfactorily.
3. Hired Marion Boren as a third grade teacher at Hall School, replacing Mary Lou Krempel, resigned.

2 Slightly Hurt In Marinwood Crash

Two drivers suffered minor injuries in a three-car accident at the entrance to Marinwood on Highway 101 about 6 o'clock last night.

James Robert Gilday, 37, of 89 Grande Vista, Novato, had stopped in the side road waiting to enter the highway according to a California Highway Patrol report. A southbound truck driven by Joe Perry McKelvy, 42, of Richmond, hit a car driven by Dr. Alfred Doane, 56, a dentist living at 251 Cobblestone drive, Marinwood, as the latter was turning across his path to enter Marinwood.

Planners Give Approval To Santa Claus

A policy decision in favor of Santa Claus was made at last night's meeting of the San Rafael Planning Commission.

Mitchell Baird, city planner, had placed on the agenda applications for two use permits by Lawrence Ramatici and Jimmy Ferguson to sell Christmas trees on lots at 251 Third street and at Second street and Lincoln avenue, respectively.

The commission gave Baird a free hand for his office to grant use permits for such purposes without formal application to the commission.

Because it wanted to establish a walk-in stand on Fourth street near the San Rafael High School, the A. and W. Root Beer Co. drew unanimous rejection of its application. Planning commissioners felt such a stand should be farther from the school. If allowed at the selected site it would constitute a hazard and police problem, they added.

Dewey Staggs also had unanimous opposition to his wish to continue use of property at 25 Tiburon street as an auto wrecking yard, but the commission gave him until Jan. 26 to find a new location.

The commission also:

1. Set hearings for Jan. 12 and 26 for John Novak's application for rezoning of certain East San Rafael properties, now zoned "planned commercial" and light industrial, to special multiple residential.
2. Approved Calvin C. B. Wheeler's application for a six-foot fence on his Terra Linda property. City ordinance limits fences to three feet.
3. Approved George Pantazes' petition to subdivide property at 24 Eucalyptus lane into two lots, but set for Dec. 22 a hearing on his request for a partial front setback of eight feet eight inches on this property.
4. Discussed, without action, the Cypress Point annexation of about 30 acres, a matter now before the city council.
5. Granted a use permit for Doreen Nelson to move her convalescent rest home across the street from its present location at 10 Pacheco street, to occupy a building which is to be enlarged to give 17-bed capacity.
6. Approved John Mahoney's petition to divide his lot at 20 Mountain View avenue, but with a requirement that he install curbs, gutters and sidewalks.

Marin Boys Club Sells Yule Trees

The Marin Boys Club is operating its Christmas tree lot for the third year at the Purity Store parking lot in Mill Valley.

President Jack Benjamin announced that anyone who purchases a tree from the lot, if he is not a subscriber to the Independent-Journal, will get a free one-month subscription.

Proceeds go into equipment, operating expenses and scholarships for football, baseball and basketball teams throughout Marin County. This year's Stew Anderson Scholarship was given to Pete Dohn of San Rafael.

CITY FINANCING

Novato Hopefuls Get Briefing By McInnis

Candidates for Novato's city council received their second "educational" session last night when San Rafael Mayor John F. McInnis discussed city financing with the political tyros.

Analyzing the proposed city's income, McInnis pointed out that more than 41 per cent of San Rafael's income comes from city sales tax.

"Less than 25 per cent of your income will come from property taxes," the mayor said.

Other sources and percentages, according to his experience in San Rafael, are: State subventions (including gasoline, alcohol and motor vehicle taxes), 10 per cent; court fines, three and one-half per cent; business licenses, three and one-half per cent, with miscellaneous sources of income accounting for the remainder, McInnis said.

The meeting, held at Novato High School, was the second in a series of such meetings scheduled each Tuesday night prior to the Jan. 12 election. Also on that date the voters will decide on incorporation of Novato.

The next educational session, scheduled next Tuesday night, will hear Lawrence Livingston Jr., of Sausalito, professional city planner with offices in San Francisco, speak on planning.

Tomorrow night at the Marion School, another in a series of "candidates' night" will present candidates Charles S. Adkins, William Loewen, Robert J. Mautner and F. J. Picchi. Each speaker will present his views and answer questions from the audience, starting at 8 o'clock.

Sausalito Ark Colony Freed Of Charges

Several of Sausalito's embattled ark owners and dwellers were freed of criminal charges yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on the recommendation of the district attorney.

The ark owners had been charged with misdemeanor violations of the state Health and Safety Code by not having adequate sewer lines connected with the city sewer system.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Harold F. Wolters reported the sewer defects have been corrected and violations no longer exist. Judge Harold J. Haley granted his recommendation for dismissal of charges against the following:

The criminal complaints were filed last May. The case had been continued from time to time to permit the ark owners to correct the defects.

The state Public Utilities Commission yesterday authorized an increase in the handling charges of truck lines to become effective Jan. 15 in Marin and 13 other coastal counties.

The boost was requested by California Trucking Associations, Inc. to offset the cost of higher wages since July 1.

There will be a minor increase in handling charges and a 10 per cent car pool surcharge. There will be no boost in hauling charges.

School Trustees, Lawyer In Sharp Dispute Over Land

By WAT TAKESHITA

San Rafael school officials and an attorney for the Freitas family politely tore into each other last night in a long and bitter argument over purchase of two strips of "No Man's Land" near the new Terra Linda High School.

Everyone kept smiling throughout the more than two hours of debate, but barbed charges and countercharges flew thick and fast.

The net results: A general impasse as to how much of one sliver of land the school board should buy, and for what price; and a condemnation movement by the school board to acquire the other strip of land.

The board of education set 5:30 p.m. Dec. 22 as tentative date for the next meeting to see if the problem is ironed out by then.

Here is the problem: The school acquired the 30-acre Terra Linda High School site for $5,000 per acre three years ago. No roads or improvements were developed in the area then. The high school plant was designed and construction started.

Now, a new road (Nova Albion way), which was supposed to run in front of the new high school, has been so located that it does not touch the school property. This leaves a sliver of land between the road and the school property. This sliver is about seven-tenths of an acre.

The problem arose because the road was laid out by engineer Carlos Gonzalez of the George Nolte firm, leaving a "No-Man's Land" between the road and the school, board member Williard Vernon pointed out. "It's an oversight on somebody's part for laying out the street without telling us about it, then billing us for it," he declared.

Supt. Frank L. Lucas said the school got a $5,000 bill as its share in the cost of engineering the street, "but we can't legally pay because we don't front on the road."

Attorney Walter Freitas contended that it was generally understood the school district would pay its share of engineering cost and improving the road. He suggested the school buy the sliver of land plus one half of the road at the original price of $5,000 per acre, plus interest that would have been earned if the land had been bought originally. He said the prevailing price is now $6,250 per acre.

School board members acknowledged that the school was going to pay for improving one-half of the road fronting the school. But, they added, since the road doesn't come up to the school property, it doesn't "front" the school. The sliver of land between is of no value to the school, said board member Rex Silverdale.

Freitas said the practical solution is to adjust to meet the road where the engineer placed it.

If the school will not buy the sliver of land, Freitas said, he could just as well move the road further away from the school and put in homes. The school plant may then be looking right into a row of homes with laundry hanging out the back, Freitas noted.

"Yes, and we can also hang out a sign saying 'courtesy of Freitas'," board chairman C. Paul Bettini fired back.

Freitas then suggested that the road might be moved toward the school to touch school property.

If that is possible, said board member Harold Fulkerson, he would be willing to pay for paving half the street, but would not vote for purchasing half of the street right-of-way.

Freitas turned to argue with Fulkerson. "Now if you were in my place and not sitting on the school board . . . " Freitas began. But before he could finish the sentence, Fulkerson declared: "I'd be doing exactly what you're doing."

The other strip of land is a part of Nova Albion way that leads from Ranchitos road to the school property from the south. Eichler Homes has put in part of the road for the Terra Linda Valley subdivision. A 22-foot strip of road about 400 feet long remains unpaved. The school will need that strip for access from the south.

On motion of board member Roderick A. Martinelli, the board decided to start condemnation proceedings on that strip. It is about two-tenths of an acre.

Freitas wants the school to pay at the rate of $5,000 per acre.

Martinelli said he would be willing to pay no more than $500 for the strip because he feels that is all it is worth.

"If you acquire that access, you'll no longer have access to Freitas parkway" (to the north), Freitas declared.

But Superintendent Lucas and Martinelli disagreed. They pointed out the contract calls for a road easement starting from the parkway.

One possible solution would be to have Gonzalez move the road flush to school property. School officials said they would wait to see if that is possible by the next meeting on Dec. 22. The only question then would be: Will the school buy half the road?

The ghost bat is regarded with superstition by the Australian aborigines because its wings and fur are white and it feeds on other bats.

Dr. Kelly Again Directs Oratorio Impressively

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Dr. John Milton Kelly's direction of more than 100 singers last night in the Christmas portion of Handel's "Messiah" so that they sounded like a single many-voiced instrument resulted in a performance worthy of this masterwork.

Conducted for the 22nd consecutive year by Dr. Kelly, the oratorio was presented for the first time in the beautiful setting of San Anselmo's First Presbyterian Church. Every seat was filled.

The chorus, composed of the San Francisco Theological Seminary's A Cappella choir and the Marin Chorale, was commendable for its vital tone, blended and balanced male and female voices, and controlled volume. Making it a dramatic as well as a musical event was the creative imagination shown in projecting the emotional qualities that can make hearing this work a religious experience.

Adding much to the total effect were the soloists. Ralph Peterson of Berkeley, substituting at the last moment for Robert Bruce, sang well the only tenor recitative and air, while Cary Smith's singing of the bass numbers was especially good in the lower register.

Eleanor Clemmons' mellow contralto was the most moving in her last recitative and air, and soprano Marion Swartz was outstanding in both the ethereal recitatives following the pastoral symphony and the triumphant "Rejoice Greatly, O Daughter of Zion."

The piano, as played by Faith Yost France, was an important part of the performance, as was the organ with Wilbur Franklin Russell providing an obligato, except when he became the soloist in the pastoral symphony and a major participant in the "Hallelujah!"

Most impressive parts of the production as a whole from the standpoint of close relation to the Nativity, were the pastoral symphony followed by the recitatives describing the angel's announcement to the shepherds, and, as always, the "hallelujah!" chorus that brings the audience to its feet in traditional homage.

Dr. Theodore A. Gill, president of the San Francisco Theological Seminary, gave the invocation and benediction and spoke briefly.

Goldfine Questioned Behind Closed Doors

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House investigators questioned textile tycoon Bernard Goldfine behind closed doors today about charges that he "manipulated and mismanaged" two companies he controlled.

After two hours of discussion, the investigating subcommittee agreed to the New England industrialist's request that it invoke a House rule barring the public from hearing testimony which may tend to defame, degrade or incriminate anyone.

Goldfine, pink-faced and smiling, then was summoned into the hearing room where Chairman Oren Harris (D.-Ark.) administered the oath and read an 11-page statement explaining the purpose of the hearing.

Goldfine was called to answer 18 questions he balked at answering before the same subcommittee last year, when he was the central figure in the sensational Adams-Goldfine hearings. The revelations about gifts he gave to chief presidential assistant Sherman Adams led to Adams' resignation.

Goldfine was convicted of contempt of Congress for his refusal to answer the questions. A federal judge, in placing him on probation, directed the Boston financier to answer the questions if the subcommittee gave him a second chance.

The questions centered on charges he tapped the till of a firm he controlled to the tune of $104,973. His attorneys had notified the sub-committee in advance that he would seek to have the questioning held on a closed-door basis.

Crash-Hurt Pair still In Only Fair Condition

Leo C. Vigars, 42, and his wife, Beatrice, 40, of 205 Margarita drive, critically injured in a Sausalito traffic accident Monday, were both reported still in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital.

A/1c Patrick H. Doran, 23, of 725 Bridgeway, Sausalito, was killed when the car he was driving crashed head-on with the Vigars' car.

Novato Board Receives Bids On Band Outfits

A low bid of $2,772.53 for 40 Novato High School band uniforms was tentatively accepted last night by Novato Unified School District trustees.

The lowest of three bids for the black and gold uniforms came from Stanbury and Co. of Hollywood.

Board Learns New School's Sewer Costs

If Terra Linda High School joins the Las Gallinas Sanitary District for sewer service, it would have to pay $100 per acre, or about $3,000 as an annexation fee, the San Rafael Board of Education learned last night.

At the suggestion of member Rex Silvernale, the board decided to postpone a decision until it has had a chance to meet the sanitary district board to learn more exactly what the terms and costs will be. Supt. Frank L. Lucas will set up a meeting to coincide with one of the sanitary board meetings.

In other actions last night, the San Rafael Board of Education:

1. Set 11 a.m. on Jan. 8 as time for opening bids for equipment for the new Terra Linda High School.
2. Authorized the sale of $208,000 in bonds to carry on the elementary school building program.
3. Authorized leaves of absence for bus driver Leslie Bellafeuille and janitor Roy Parks. Bellefeuille gets leave from Nov. 6 through remainder of school year without pay because of illness. Parks received two days bereavement leave because of the death of his mother in Oklahoma.
4. Acknowledged the resignation of Mrs. Patricia Wendt, payroll clerk, and Mrs. Irene Muhly, clerk at Davidson School, and appointed Mrs. Eleanore Harden as payroll clerk.

Boy Stabbed, Dies In Reform School

TRACY (AP)—A young San Francisco boy was stabbed to death yesterday at Deuel Vocational Institute, a California Youth Authority facility near Tracy.

Peter C. Mayo, 17, was stabbed four times while in the midst of a crowd of other inmates at the end of an exercise period.

Allan Cook, superintendent of the prison-like mavimum-security facility, said 20 youths were questioned but no weapon was found and none of the inmates divulged any information on the slaying.

School Trustees, Lawyer In Sharp Dispute Over Land

By WAT TAKESHITA

San Rafael school officials and an attorney for the Freitas family politely tore into each other last night in a long and bitter argument over purchase of two strips of "No Man's Land" near the new Terra Linda High School.

Everyone kept smiling throughout the more than two hours of debate, but barbed charges and countercharges flew thick and fast.

The net results: A general impasse as to how much of one sliver of land the school board should buy, and for what price; and a condemnation movement by the school board to acquire the other strip of land.

The board of education set 5:30 p.m. Dec. 22 as tentative date for the next meeting to see if the problem is ironed out by then.

Here is the problem: The school acquired the 30-acre Terra Linda High School site for $5,000 per acre three years ago. No roads or improvements were developed in the area then. The high school plant was designed and construction started.

Now, a new road (Nova Albion way), which was supposed to run in front of the new high school, has been so located that it does not touch the school property. This leaves a sliver of land between the road and the school property. This sliver is about seven-tenths of an acre.

The problem arose because the road was laid out by engineer Carlos Gonzalez of the George Nolte firm, leaving a "No-Man's Land" between the road and the school, board member Williard Vernon pointed out. "It's an oversight on somebody's part for laying out the street without telling us about it, then billing us for it," he declared.

Supt. Frank L. Lucas said the school got a $5,000 bill as its share in the cost of engineering the street, "but we can't legally pay because we don't front on the road."

Attorney Walter Freitas contended that it was generally understood the school district would pay its share of engineering cost and improving the road. He suggested the school buy the sliver of land plus one half of the road at the original price of $5,000 per acre, plus interest that would have been earned if the land had been bought originally. He said the prevailing price is now $6,250 per acre.

School board members acknowledged that the school was going to pay for improving one-half of the road fronting the school. But, they added, since the road doesn't come up to the school property, it doesn't "front" the school. The sliver of land between is of no value to the school, said board member Rex Silverdale.

Freitas said the practical solution is to adjust to meet the road where the engineer placed it.

If the school will not buy the sliver of land, Freitas said, he could just as well move the road further away from the school and put in homes. The school plant may then be looking right into a row of homes with laundry hanging out the back, Freitas noted.

"Yes, and we can also hang out a sign saying 'courtesy of Freitas'," board chairman C. Paul Bettini fired back.

Freitas then suggested that the road might be moved toward the school to touch school property.

If that is possible, said board member Harold Fulkerson, he would be willing to pay for paving half the street, but would not vote for purchasing half of the street right-of-way.

Freitas turned to argue with Fulkerson. "Now if you were in my place and not sitting on the school board . . . " Freitas began. But before he could finish the sentence, Fulkerson declared: "I'd be doing exactly what you're doing."

The other strip of land is a part of Nova Albion way that leads from Ranchitos road to the school property from the south. Eichler Homes has put in part of the road for the Terra Linda Valley subdivision. A 22-foot strip of road about 400 feet long remains unpaved. The school will need that strip for access from the south.

On motion of board member Roderick A. Martinelli, the board decided to start condemnation proceedings on that strip. It is about two-tenths of an acre.

Freitas wants the school to pay at the rate of $5,000 per acre.

Martinelli said he would be willing to pay no more than $500 for the strip because he feels that is all it is worth.

"If you acquire that access, you'll no longer have access to Freitas parkway" (to the north), Freitas declared.

But Superintendent Lucas and Martinelli disagreed. They pointed out the contract calls for a road easement starting from the parkway.

One possible solution would be to have Gonzalez move the road flush to school property. School officials said they would wait to see if that is possible by the next meeting on Dec. 22. The only question then would be: Will the school buy half the road?

The ghost bat is regarded with superstition by the Australian aborigines because its wings and fur are white and it feeds on other bats.

Hub Chief Reports Zoning Violations

One hundred and thirty-four San Anselmo homes are in violation of single-family zoning, Police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani reported to the San Anselmo City Council last night.

In 126 cases, he said, there are actually two families living on the premises, "or one family plus one person, which is a violation under our ordinance."

The others, he reported, are technical violations through existence of kitchen facilities in rumpus rooms or other installations which would make possible their use by an additional family.

The report brought from City Atty. John G. Buresh the declaration, "It's high time our ordinance was made a little bit practical."

The Hub City's zoning ordinance, said Buresh, is so written that today's home building practices include facilities which make new houses actually in violation of one-family restrictions.

Councilman Carmel H. Booth urged that several of the older areas of the city should be immediately rezoned for multiple dwellings, "before they get more run down than they are."

On motion of Councilman Carleton G. Little, discussion of rezoning and of possible prosecution of violators of the zoning ordinance was put over to the Jan. 12 council meeting. Mrs. Booth voted "no" on the motion.

In another report to the council, Chief Buchignani said his officers have found 31 house trailers parked in San Anselmo. The council took no action on this report, which was ordered after the council last month abandoned plans for an ordinance to outlaw parking of house trailers in front yards.

Also at last night's San Anselmo council meeting:

1. The Ed Wood Service Station at 1535 Sir Francis Drake boulevard was granted a variance permit for two signs. Councilmen Little and William Franchini voted "no."
2. The Marin County Humane Society was authorized to take a census of dogs in San Anselmo, to determine how many are unlicensed.
3. The street department was instructed to remove a tree from a small island in the intersection of Calumet and Park streets.
4. Addition of one man to the street department, to be employed "as long as needed," was authorized 4-1, on motion of Mrs. Booth, with Franchini voting "no."
5. The street department was ordered to close the recently opened connection of Los Angeles boulevard to San Francisco boulevard via the city park, on petition of 49 residents of the area.

Carmel Tries To Give Up CD Position

Mrs. Carmel H. Booth, in tears over criticism by fellow San Anselmo City Council members, tried early today to divest herself of her dearest task: That of the Hub City's civil defense director.

The ruckus started when Councilman Carleton G. Little inquired why San Anselmo does not participate in county purchases of surplus civil defense equipment. Such purchases, at very low cost, have been made for various county agencies and cities where any possible civil defense use for the equipment bought could be shown.

Mrs. Booth replied she is against the practice. She is also against filing a civil defense plan for San Anselmo to conform to state requirements because she believes the plans utterly impractical—a stand she has often repeated.

As Little and Councilman William Franchini continued to probe regarding possible equipment purchase and other details of civil defense, Mrs. Booth broke into tears and moved that the job of civil defense director be given to Police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani.

Nobody seconded the move, with all four of her city council colleagues assuring Mrs. Booth that "we think you're doing a good job."

18 Marin Artists To Show Work At S. F. Museum

Eighteen Marin County artists will display their work Dec. 18 through Jan. 17 at the M. H. de Young Memorial Museum in San Francisco in a special exhibit by San Francisco Art Assn. members.

They will join with 160 other artists from the Bay Area and as far off as Washington and Oregon in the exhibition which will include paintings, sculpture and prints.

Marin artists participating will be:

Richard A. White, San Anselmo; Doris Morrison, Fairfax; Jose del Pino Moya, Ross; Adrienne Kraut, Larkspur; Art Grant and Serge Trubach, Sausalito.

A catalogue containing biographies of each participating artist and reproduction of the displayed work will be published in conjunction with the exhibit.

Time For Civic Center Bid Opening Changed

Time for opening bids for the estimated $3,370,000 Marin County Civic Center administration building and site development has been changed to 4 p.m. Dec. 22 instead of 10:30 a.m. as set last month.

The county board of supervisors yesterday changed the time on recommendation of County Counsel Leland H. Jordan, who said he had learned the afternoon bid opening would be much more convenient for contractors.

Hub City Demolition Job Will Cost $545

Mission Quarry Co. of San Rafael will tear down the old brick Northwestern Pacific powerhouse near the Hub intersection at a cost of $545 to the City of San Anselmo.

The city council last night awarded a contract to the San Rafael firm, lowest of eight bidders on the demolition project.

On motion of Councilman William Franchini, it was specified that the demolition should start Jan. 4, so that partial blocking of Sir Francis Drake boulevard during the operation will not interfere with Christmas shopping traffic.

A representative of Mission Quarry who was present agreed to the Jan. 4 date and said the company expects to take a week to 10 days to remove the building and its concrete slab foundation. Mission Quarry will get the salvage in addition to the $545.

Councilman Carleton G. Little, who had urged that the building be removed sooner "as a Christmas present to the people of San Anselmo," somewhat reluctantly went along on the January date.

So Santa Claus will park his reindeer on the brick building's roof and descend a mammoth chimney at its end for the last time this year. The Santa Claus display is mostly in place, reported Street Supt. Nello Marcucci.

Hub City Soon May Have Lights Like San Rafael's

San Anselmo may soon have new downtown street lights like those on B street in San Rafael.

Mayor Arthur W. Smith informed the San Anselmo City Council last night he had received a letter from Pacific Gas and Electric Co. desiring the city's wishes regarding 13 new downtown electroliers which are provided in the current city budget.

PG&E wants to know, said the mayor, whether overhead wires may be used for the lights, or whether they must be connected to underground cables at an unspecified higher cost.

The lights, said the mayor, "will be like those on B street in San Rafael." The B street lights, part of a relighting project installed on San Rafael's downtown streets this year, are of slightly lower candlepower than San Rafael's Fourth street lights but of the same type. They are installed with overhead wires.

The council authorized Mayor Smith to arrange with PG&E for an on-the-spot inspection of the San Rafael lights and discussion as to placing wires underground or overhead on some Saturday this month.

Hub Chief Reports Zoning Violations

One hundred and thirty-four San Anselmo homes are in violation of single-family zoning, Police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani reported to the San Anselmo City Council last night.

In 126 cases, he said, there are actually two families living on the premises, "or one family plus one person, which is a violation under our ordinance."

The others, he reported, are technical violations through existence of kitchen facilities in rumpus rooms or other installations which would make possible their use by an additional family.

The report brought from City Atty. John G. Buresh the declaration, "It's high time our ordinance was made a little bit practical."

The Hub City's zoning ordinance, said Buresh, is so written that today's home building practices include facilities which make new houses actually in violation of one-family restrictions.

Councilman Carmel H. Booth urged that several of the older areas of the city should be immediately rezoned for multiple dwellings, "before they get more run down than they are."

On motion of Councilman Carleton G. Little, discussion of rezoning and of possible prosecution of violators of the zoning ordinance was put over to the Jan. 12 council meeting. Mrs. Booth voted "no" on the motion.

In another report to the council, Chief Buchignani said his officers have found 31 house trailers parked in San Anselmo. The council took no action on this report, which was ordered after the council last month abandoned plans for an ordinance to outlaw parking of house trailers in front yards.

Also at last night's San Anselmo council meeting:

1. The Ed Wood Service Station at 1535 Sir Francis Drake boulevard was granted a variance permit for two signs. Councilmen Little and William Franchini voted "no."
2. The Marin County Humane Society was authorized to take a census of dogs in San Anselmo, to determine how many are unlicensed.
3. The street department was instructed to remove a tree from a small island in the intersection of Calumet and Park streets.
4. Addition of one man to the street department, to be employed "as long as needed," was authorized 4-1, on motion of Mrs. Booth, with Franchini voting "no."
5. The street department was ordered to close the recently opened connection of Los Angeles boulevard via the city park, on petition of 49 residents of the area.

Carmel Tries To Give Up CD Position

Mrs. Carmel H. Booth, in tears over criticism by fellow San Anselmo City Council members, tried early today to divest herself of her dearest task: That of the Hub City's civil defense director.

The ruckus started when Councilman Carleton G. Little inquired why San Anselmo does not participate in county purchases of surplus civil defense equipment. Such purchases, at very low cost, have been made for various county agencies and cities where any possible civil defense use for the equipment bought could be shown.

Mrs. Booth replied she is against the practice. She is also against filing a civil defense plan for San Anselmo to conform to state requirements because she believes the plans utterly impractical—a stand she has often repeated.

As Little and Councilman William Franchini continued to probe regarding possible equipment purchase and other details of civil defense, Mrs. Booth broke into tears and moved that the job of civil defense director be given to Police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani.

Nobody seconded the move, with all four of her city council colleagues assuring Mrs. Booth that "we think you're doing a good job."

18 Marin Artists To Show Work At S. F. Museum

Eighteen Marin County artists will display their work Dec. 18 through Jan. 17 at the M. H. de Young Memorial Museum in San Francisco in a special exhibit by San Francisco Art Assn. members.

They will join with 160 other artists from the Bay Area and as far off as Washington and Oregon in the exhibition which will include paintings, sculpture and prints.

Marin artists participating will be:

Richard A. White, San Anselmo; Doris Morrison, Fairfax; Jose del Pino Moya, Ross; Adrienne Kraut, Larkspur; Art Grant and Serge Trubach, Sausalito.

A catalogue containing biographies of each participating artist and reproduction of the displayed work will be published in conjunction with the exhibit.

Time For Civic Center Bid Opening Changed

Time for opening bids for the estimated $3,370,000 Marin County Civic Center administration building and site development has been changed to 4 p.m. Dec. 22 instead of 10:30 a.m. as set last month.

The county board of supervisors yesterday changed the time on recommendation of County Counsel Leland H. Jordan, who said he had learned the afternoon bid opening would be much more convenient for contractors.

Hub City Demolition Job Will Cost $545

Mission Quarry Co. of San Rafael will tear down the old brick Northwestern Pacific powerhouse near the Hub intersection at a cost of $545 to the City of San Anselmo.

The city council last night awarded a contract to the San Rafael firm, lowest of eight bidders on the demolition project.

On motion of Councilman William Franchini, it was specified that the demolition should start Jan. 4, so that partial blocking of Sir Francis Drake boulevard during the operation will not interfere with Christmas shopping traffic.

A representative of Mission Quarry who was present agreed to the Jan. 4 date and said the company expects to take a week to 10 days to remove the building and its concrete slab foundation. Mission Quarry will get the salvage in addition to the $545.

Councilman Carleton G. Little, who had urged that the building be removed sooner "as a Christmas present to the people of San Anselmo," somewhat reluctantly went along on the January date.

So Santa Claus will park his reindeer on the brick building's roof and descend a mammoth chimney at its end for the last time this year. The Santa Claus display is mostly in place, reported Street Supt. Nello Marcucci.

THEY'D BETTER RECONCILE PRETTY QUICK

CHICAGO (UPI)—John K. Lawrence, 49, and his divorced wife, Annabelle, 43, both came into court with demands that the other be cited for contempt.

Judge John A. Sbarbo obliged them both. He cited both for contempt and ordered them jailed unless they could settle their differences out of court within 24 hours.

THIEVES HAVE MUSCLES THESE DAYS IN L.A.

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Somebody stole two concrete lions from contractor William Matteson's garage in Arcadia. They weigh 1,200 pounds each and are valued at $3,500.

In a third case, police booked Allen Charles Shenette, 24, a transient from Texas, on suspicion of burglary. They said he took a 150-pound safe from the Rocket Messenger Services office.

It contained $1.47.

San Rafael Banker Will Head Chamber

Kirchner will succeed Paul R. Leahy, manager of the California Pacific Title Co., Marin Division.

BURTON R. KIRCHNER
In top spot for '60

Kirchner and other officers for the new year were elected during the last regular meeting of the year at Rickey's Rancho Rafael, Ignacio.

The chamber's first vice president will again be Walter R. Castro Jr., manager of Castro Motors. The post of second vice present went to Jordan L. Martinelli Jr., secretary and assistant manager of the Marin Savings and Loan Assn., who was among newly elected directors.

Glenn W. Sleezer, partner in the firm of Sleezer and Eckhoff, public accountants, was re-elected treasurer. Richard L. Shirley was again named manager of the chamber. These officers and the past president compose the executive committee.

The 1960 budget guide, amounting to $26,660, was approved by the new board, which met jointly with the 1959 directors.

The annual dinner and installation of officers will be Jan. 27. The chamber's annual progress report will be published Jan. 22 as a special section in the Independent-Journal.

TUNNEL KEY ISSUE

Shippers Hear Advice For Rail Service Fight

The Northwestern Pacific Railroad's Corte Madera grade tunnel apparently is the key to the railroad's proposed abandonment of freight service to Sausalito, shippers protesting the proposal agreed yesterday.

The railroad wants to abandon a seven-mile stretch of the line from a point called Detour above the Corte Madera grade tunnel to Sausalito. And shippers in the Sausalito area, as well as several public and semi-public bodies, are on record against the proposal.

The railroad has filed a petition for abandonment with the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Yesterday a group of Sausalito shippers, meeting in the executive offices of A. G. Schoonmaker Co. Inc., learned of the proper procedures in making official protests before the ICC. They were told by attorney Robert Lowry of the law firm of Brobeck, Phleger and Harrison, San Francisco, there are three things they should do:

1. File a protest with the ICC.

2. Seek the intervention of the California Public Utilities Commission. The commission cannot decide on the issue, but Lowry felt that, if the PUC "intervened," some weight might be added to the protests.

3. Hire an engineer to inspect the Corte Madera grade tunnel.

The NWP claims that freight is falling off in Sausalito, and that if the railroad is to continue the service, it will have to repair the tunnel at great cost—perhaps a half million dollars.

The shippers doubt this assertion and yesterday discussed hiring an independent engineer to inspect the tunnel. It was thought the initial expense of hiring such an engineer would be approximately $1,000. Payment of the fee and that of the attorneys is to be prorated among the shippers.

Lowry suggested that hiring a retired railroad engineer might be difficult. He said many such persons fear cutoffs of pensions if their findings differ from those of the railroad.

A non-railroad industrial engineer or one from a construction company also was discounted because, Lowry said, many such companies do business with or wish to do business with a railroad.

One suggestion that appeared to be favorably received was that a university engineering professor be retained. But no final decision was made.

Lowry passed out questionnaires asking the shippers to state how much freight they have shipped in recent years, and how much they expect to ship in the future.

"You must be able to demonstrate your need, and your willingness to continue to use the rail line in the future," Lowry said.

He said that once he has the questionnaires in hand, he can either prepare a protest for each shipper individually or one group protest listing the shippers.

Lowry said the shippers would have to show "absolute physical dependence on the railroad, economic dependence," and that it would be a good idea to show also a desire for service that could not be directly related to dependence.

The Sausalito Chamber of Commerce opposes the abandonment, as does the Sausalito City Council and the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Town Exhausts Supply Of Water

MORRO BAY (UP)—The municipal well of this seaside community of 4,000 ran dry and the county board of supervisors today prohibited any use of water except for cooking and bathing.

There would be no water at all except for farmer Louis Domeghini. He offered the city the supply from his private well, although it may ruin his crop.

Supervisor Jesse Drake, appealing to residents to take every means of conserving water, praised Domeghini. He said the farmer told him: "The people come first."

Missing Airliner's Wreckage Sighted

BOGOTA, Colombia (UP)—The Colombian navy reported today that its patrol planes have sighted the wreckage of an airliner missing since yesterday with 46 persons aboard.

The wreckage was seen in the San Blas Mountains in Panama, the navy announced. There were no signs of life.

The plane disappeared on a flight from the San Andres Islands to Cartagena, northern Columbia. The San Andres are Colombian islands east of Nicaragua in the Caribbean.

The plane made its last radio report yesterday at 11:27 a.m., 20 minutes after taking off from San Andres. There was no report of trouble.

The plane was carrying tourists returning to Cartagena and Medellin after a holiday on the islands. A free port was recently declared on San Andres to attract tourists. About 20,000 persons, mostly English-speaking, live on the islands.

The plane carried 33 women and 13 men, the airline said.

HE CERTAINLY FELL FOR HER IN A BIG WAY

Miss McCarthy, 39, told police the man tried to grab her purse on the stairway of her apartment house. They struggled halfway up the stairs, lost their balance and crashed through the banister.

They fell eight feet to the floor, and Miss McCarthy landed on top, knocking the unidentified man unconscious. He was still groggy when police arrived several minutes later.

Miss McCarthy said her purse contained about $5.

Board Votes New District In Subdivision

A series of technical resolutions passed by the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday afternoon launched the Marin Golf and Country Club Estates Unit 4 Assessment District, for which there will be a $929,000 bond issue.

Actual project cost was estimated at $882,645. Owner is Marin Oaks Development Co., associated in the project with California Pacific Title Co. Eugene K. Sturgis is to serve as special assessment district counsel.

Among the resolution passed was a petition for acquisition of improvements and agreement by the developers to pay all costs of streets, sewers, walks, water system and other necessities.

The supervisors also:

1. Accepted a low bid of $1,345 from Crown Painting Co. to do painting at Juvenile Hall.

2. Set Dec. 15 at 4 p.m. for presentation of a joint report on Marin County fire service by the county administrator, the state Division of Forestry and the county fire department.

3. Approved a proposal by Donald A. Jensen, county administrator, that he prepare and administer during January an annual report summarizing for the public the accomplishments of the board of supervisors during the calendar year.

4. Set for Dec. 29 at 10 a.m. a hearing on a petition for formation of a Marinwood Community Services District.

5. Voted to accept $1,600 from Marinwood Builders, relieving the builders of the obligation to provide plants in the center strip of Miller Creek road. This work will be handled by the landscaping committee of the Marinwood Assn., which will get the money from the county.

Eight thousand year old rock paintings found in the Sahara Desert indicate that the now barren wasteland was once the home of elephants, giraffes and antelope.

Fund Appeal For Seminary Under Way

San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo has a $102,000 end-of-the-year fund appeal under way to help cut down this year's budget deficit, Dr. Jacob A. Long, vice president, said today.

Letters have been sent to 18,000 individuals, including many in Marin County, asking for their assistance in the drive. These include members of the Presbyterian Church, local businessmen, alumni and ministers in 11 western states.

Dr. Long said the money contributed would go toward regular operating expenses.

The 1959 budget totals $650,615. Other income is anticipated from the benevolence causes of the church's general assembly, investments, student fees and special contributions from organizations.

In his letter of appeal, Dr. Long said 239 students are enrolled for the current year. Five new faculty members have been added.

FREE PUBLICITY

Professions Which Frown On Advertising Criticized

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—An Arkansas publisher yesterday criticized such professions as medicine, law, architecture and dentists who "do not wish to lower themselves by advertising" but who "then break their necks to secure free advertising."

Ellis W. Ramsey, publisher of the Beebe (Ark.) News and the Bald Knob, (Ark.) Banner, both weekly newspapers, spoke to the Little Rock Advertising Club.

Ramsey, president of the Arkansas Press Assn., said he checked a newspaper recently and found the title "doctor" listed an average of three times on every page, 14 times on two society pages and eight times in the state news page.

He said if the ethics of the medical profession really prohibit doctors from advertising, newspapers should help by omitting the title in front of their names or instead use "farmer" Jim Smith and "plumber" John Jones to be fair to everybody else.

"And architects cannot advertise," he said, "but they represent it if we don't run a picture of a new building they have designed and use their name in the caption.

"The legal profession cannot ethically advertise," Ramsey said, "but newspapers usually use lawyers' names in connection with lawsuits they are trying or cases they are handling."

THIEVES HAVE MUSCLES THESE DAYS IN L.A.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Somebody stole two concrete lions from contractor William Matteson's garage in Arcadia. They weigh 1,200 pounds each and are valued at $3,500.

In a third case, police booked Allen Charles Shenette, 24, a transient from Texas, on suspicion of burglary. They said he took a 150-pound safe from the Rocket Messenger Services office.

It contained $1.47.

San Rafael Banker Will Head Chamber

Kirchner will succeed Paul R. Leahy, manager of the California Pacific Title Co., Marin Division.

BURTON R. KIRCHNER

Kirchner and other officers for the new year were elected during the last regular meeting of the year at Rickey's Rancho Rafael, Ignacio.

The chamber's first vice president will again be Walter R. Castro Jr., manager of Castro Motors. The post of second vice present went to Jordan L. Martinelli Jr., secretary and assistant manager of the Marin Savings and Loan Assn., who was among newly elected directors.

Glenn W. Sleezer, partner in the firm of Sleezer and Eckhoff, public accountants, was re-elected treasurer. Richard L. Shirley was again named manager of the chamber. These officers and the past president compose the executive committee.

The 1960 budget guide, amounting to $26,660, was approved by the new board, which met jointly with the 1959 directors.

The annual dinner and installation of officers will be Jan. 27. The chamber's annual progress report will be published Jan. 22 as a special section in the Independent-Journal.

TUNNEL KEY ISSUE

Shippers Hear Advice For Rail Service Fight

The Northwestern Pacific Railroad's Corte Madera grade tunnel apparently is the key to the railroad's proposed abandonment of freight service to Sausalito, shippers protesting the proposal agreed yesterday.

The railroad wants to abandon a seven-mile stretch of the line from a point called Detour above the Corte Madera grade tunnel to Sausalito. And shippers in the Sausalito area, as well as several public and semi-public bodies, are on record against the proposal.

The railroad has filed a petition for abandonment with the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Yesterday a group of Sausalito shippers, meeting in the executive offices of A. G. Schoonmaker Co. Inc., learned of the proper procedures in making official protests before the ICC. They were told by attorney Robert Lowry of the law firm of Brobeck, Phleger and Harrison, San Francisco, there are three things they should do:

1. File a protest with the ICC.

2. Seek the intervention of the California Public Utilities Commission. The commission cannot decide on the issue, but Lowry felt that, if the PUC "intervened," some weight might be added to the protests.

3. Hire an engineer to inspect the Corte Madera grade tunnel.

The NWP claims that freight is falling off in Sausalito, and that if the railroad is to continue the service, it will have to repair the tunnel at great cost—perhaps a half million dollars.

The shippers doubt this assertion and yesterday discussed hiring an independent engineer to inspect the tunnel. It was thought the initial expense of hiring such an engineer would be approximately $1,000. Payment of the fee and that of the attorneys is to be pro rated among the shippers.

Lowry suggested that hiring a retired railroad engineer might be difficult. He said many such persons fear cutoffs of pensions if their findings differ from those of the railroad.

A non-railroad industrial engineer or one from a construction company also was discounted because, Lowry said, many such companies do business with or wish to do business with a railroad.

One suggestion that appeared to be favorably received was that a university engineering professor be retained. But no final decision was made.

Lowry passed out questionnaires asking the shippers to state how much freight they have shipped in recent years, and how much they expect to ship in the future.

"You must be able to demonstrate your need, and your willingness to continue to use the rail line in the future," Lowry said.

He said that once he has the questionnaires in hand, he can either prepare a protest for each shipper individually or one group protest listing the shippers.

Lowry said the shippers would have to show "absolute physical dependence on the railroad, economic dependence," and that it would be a good idea to show also a desire for service that could not be directly related to dependence.

The Sausalito Chamber of Commerce opposes the abandonment, as does the Sausalito City Council and the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Town Exhausts Supply Of Water

MORRO BAY (AP)—The municipal well of this seaside community of 4,000 ran dry and the county board of supervisors today prohibited any use of water except for cooking and bathing.

There would be no water at all except for farmer Louis Domeghini. He offered the city the supply from his private well, although it may ruin his crop.

Supervisor Jesse Drake, appealing to residents to take every means of conserving water, praised Domeghini. He said the farmer told him: "The people come first."

STAMP TO HONOR BOY SCOUTS

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield announced that this Boy Scout 50th anniversary commemorative stamp will be placed on first-day sale at Washington, D. C., Feb. 8. The stamp is designed by the noted artist, Norman Rockwell. The likeness of a Scout will be printed in gradations of khaki while the lettering will be in blue.

Missing Airliner's Wreckage Sighted

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—The Colombian navy reported today that its patrol planes have sighted the wreckage of an airliner missing since yesterday with 46 persons aboard.

The wreckage was seen in the San Blas Mountains in Panama, the navy announced. There were no signs of life.

The plane disappeared on a flight from the San Andres Islands to Cartagena, northern Columbia. The San Andres are Colombian islands east of Nicaragua in the Caribbean.

The plane made its last radio report yesterday at 11:27 a.m., 20 minutes after taking off from San Andres. There was no report of trouble.

The plane was carrying tourists returning to Cartagena and Medellin after a holiday on the islands. A free port was recently declared on San Andres to attract tourists. About 20,000 persons, mostly English-speaking, live on the islands.

The plane carried 33 women and 13 men, the airline said.

HE CERTAINLY FELL FOR HER IN A BIG WAY

Miss McCarthy, 39, told police the man tried to grab her purse on the stairway of her apartment house. They struggled halfway up the stairs, lost their balance and crashed through the banister.

They fell eight feet to the floor, and Miss McCarthy landed on top, knocking the unidentified man unconscious. He was still groggy when police arrived several minutes later.

Miss McCarthy said her purse contained about $5.

Fund Appeal For Seminary Under Way

San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo has a $102,000 end-of-the-year fund appeal under way to help cut down this year's budget deficit, Dr. Jacob A. Long, vice president, said today.

Letters have been sent to 18,000 individuals, including many in Marin County, asking for their assistance in the drive. These include members of the Presbyterian Church, local businessmen, alumni and ministers in 11 western states.

Dr. Long said the money contributed would go toward regular operating expenses.

The 1959 budget totals $650,615. Other income is anticipated from the benevolence causes of the church's general assembly, investments, student fees and special contributions from organizations.

In his letter of appeal, Dr. Long said 239 students are enrolled for the current year. Five new faculty members have been added.

Board Votes New District In Subdivision

A series of technical resolutions passed by the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday afternoon launched the Marin Golf and Country Club Estates Unit 4 Assessment District, for which there will be a $929,000 bond issue.

Actual project cost was estimated at $882,645. Owner is Marin Oaks Development Co., associated in the project with California Pacific Title Co. Eugene K. Sturgis is to serve as special assessment district counsel.

Among the resolution passed was a petition for acquisition of improvements and agreement by the developers to pay all costs of streets, sewers, walks, water system and other necessities.

The supervisors also:

1. Accepted a low bid of $1,345 from Crown Painting Co. to do painting at Juvenile Hall.
2. Set Dec. 15 at 4 p.m. for presentation of a joint report on Marin County fire service by the county administrator, the state Division of Forestry and the county fire department.
3. Approved a proposal by Donald A. Jensen, county administrator, that he prepare and distribute during January an annual report "summarizing for the public the accomplishments of the board of supervisors during the calendar year."
4. Set for Dec. 29 at 10 a.m. a hearing on a petition for formation of a Marinwood Community Services District.
5. Voted to accept $1,600 from Marinwood Builders, relieving the builders of the obligation to provide plants in the center strip of Miller Creek road. This work will be handled by the landscaping committee of the Marinwood Assn., which will get the money from the county.

Eight thousand year old rock paintings found in the Sahara Desert indicate that the now barren wasteland was once the home of elephants, giraffes and antelope.

FREE PUBLICITY

Professions Which Frown On Advertising Criticized

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — An Arkansas publisher yesterday criticized such professions as medicine, law, architecture and dentists who "do not wish to lower themselves by advertising" but who "then break their necks to secure free advertising."

Ellis W. Ramsey, publisher of the Beebe (Ark.) News and the Bald Knob, (Ark.) Banner, both weekly newspapers, spoke to the Little Rock Advertising Club.

Ramsey, president of the Arkansas Press Assn., said he checked a newspaper recently and found the title "doctor" listed an average of three times on every page, 14 times on two society pages and eight times in the state news page.

He said if the ethics of the medical profession really prohibit doctors from advertising, newspapers should help by omitting the title in front of their names or instead use "farmer" Jim Smith and "plumber" John Jones to be fair to everybody else.

"And architects cannot advertise," he said, "but they resent it if we don't run a picture of a new building they have designed and use their name in the caption.

"The legal profession cannot ethically advertise," Ramsey said, "but newspapers usually use lawyers' names in connection with lawsuits they are trying or cases they are handling."

Bridge, Transit Directors Start Working Together

It was encouraging to see the Golden Gate Bridge directors finally take a solid step toward active cooperation with the Bay Area Rapid Transit District.

By voting unanimously to cooperate with the transit district, the bridge directors have started the ball rolling toward a final and definitive answer to a question which has plagued us since the span was built:

Can Golden Gate Bridge carry rapid transit?

We had been concerned at the seeming indifference the bridge directors have shown toward rapid transit problems. They appeared to stand back and say, "That's no concern of ours." Somehow they seemed to have forgotten that the reason for creation of the district and the building of the bridge was to improve transportation to and from the North Bay counties.

Rapid transit is just another phase of transportation. We are delighted that the bridge directors are now willing to take a serious look at the problem.

Separation of the engineering feasibility study from the economic and practical feasibility may slow the transit district's program somewhat. But it appears to be a sensible suggestion.

There is need to answer the specific question, can the bridge hold transit? If the answer is No, we don't need an economic study. If the answer is Yes, we can then turn to the arguments on economic or practical grounds.

We hope the action of the bridge directors signals a new cooperation between the two districts. In the long run, the directors of both districts are supposed to be serving the public, not their own little empires.

Taxes Make Democracy Work

Tomorrow is deadline for payment of your county and city taxes. If you don't pay the first installment by tomorrow, they will cost you even more in penalties.

No one likes to pay taxes, at least we don't know of anyone. But taxes are the things that make democracy work. If we didn't pay taxes, there would be no money for operation of government unless someone else paid them. If someone else paid, they not us, would call the tune of how the government should function.

So tomorrow's payment date is not the sound of doom, but in effect the pealing of the liberty bell. It is a guarantee of government by the people when the people pay the taxes. You might call it an investment in democracy, or even better, in civilization.

WINS ELECTION FROM ZOO

A rhinoceros won an election in Brazil! More ballots were cast for her than for all other candidates running for city council in Rio de Janeiro.

The sweeping victory of this outstanding member of the local zoo was no tribute to her popularity but rather a public protest against politics and politicians.

It is good and necessary to be disturbed by inefficiency, graft or corruption. But far more than disapproval is needed, no matter how vocal it may be.

Time and again good citizens rise in indignation after allowing their government to become tainted and demoralized. They seldom get beyond the negative.

It would be far more constructive to take a few positive steps to restore missing values to government—or to replace faulty officeholders with those who are capable and conscientious.

It is a never-ending job to apply divine justice to the running of human affairs. But it is a holy task that honors God and benefits everybody.

"Do not regard him as an enemy, but admonish him as a brother."
(2 Thessalonians 3:15)

Grant us, O Lord, the wisdom and courage to correct defects in government, not merely complain about them.

Old-Time Soda Jerk Was Hero, Ruler In His Own Little Empire

Next spring they'll be talking about new baseball heroes Football fellows will be forgotten.

But the fellow who had the firmest grip on the local situation in the old days was the soda jerker in the town's coolest hot spot. He had a following, as any hero does, and a technique, as any hero must.

He also had a language that set him apart. It was largely a language of grunts, waved hands, shrugs, squinted eyes and "what'll you have?"

If he didn't like a fellow, he would put one less dollop of ice cream in his malted milk.

He didn't serve breakfast, he didn't serve lunch, and he didn't serve dinner.

All he served was a miracle of ice cream, syrup and romance.

He had other duties when the wire-backed chairs held no couple sucking mutual desperation through separate straws. He had to sell perfumes, tobacco, candy and bile cures, and call the druggist on family concerns.

He had his own pleasures, too. He could dip into all the flavors of ice cream.

He wandered into the back part of the drugstore and knew all the wonderful long-ago smells near to the nose and distant to the mind.

There was a behind-the-scenes pungency to a drugstore then which few of the antiseptic drugstores of today retain. The old drugstore had drawers to pull out, patent medicine to sell.

Soda jerkers in those days also had to bring up things from the basement. The underground area of a drugstore at that time differed only from the sales area above by an odor of moldy neglect and the carelessness in which the stock was piled.

When you go into a modern drugstore today the man who serves you at the fountain is a technician in a new field of performance. He rules an empire for a tip.

The old-fashioned soda squirt had an empire without a tip.

10 YEARS AGO

Marin political leaders expressed surprise as Gov. Earl Warren revealed his intention to appoint Jordan L. Martinelli judge of Marin's new superior court. Up to then it had been thought that leading contenders were State Sen. Tom Keating, Dist. Atty. Albert E. Bagshaw and Justice of the Peace N. Charles Brusatori. Marinelli said his selection was "unexpected and unsolicited."

Police Cars Don't Need Motorcycles

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

In a front page article of the Independent-Journal of Dec. 2, "Novato Police Needs Discussed By Kelly," last paragraph:

Dietary Workers Resent Wino Label

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

We, the dietary workers, at the Ross General Hospital take exception to Doctor Dufficy's reference to kitchen workers as being mostly "winos."

We refer to an article which appeared in the Independent-Journal on Wednesday, Nov. 25. We feel that Doctor Dufficy's statement casts a reflection on all kitchen workers and this we resent.

We, in the kitchen of the Ross General Hospital, take great pride in our work and the part we have in the care of the sick. We take great pride in the friendly, humanitarian and compassionate manner in which we serve our patients. We, in the kitchen, are a part of a dedicated team . . . we are wondering, Doctor Dufficy, if it matters so much which part of patient care is done by whom!

Our personnel manager does not employ "winos," as you term it, however through any circumstance, if we were associated with a person of this type we would remember to treat him as an unfortunate human being—we would not label him "wino" in the newspaper!

We would like to remind Doctor Dufficy through these columns that food is a very important part of health and we would hope that health is our mutual interest.

Yes, Doctor Dufficy, we who work in the kitchens of our hospitals resent being labeled "winos."

How Court Ruled In Taxpayer Suit

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

We wish to express our appreciation for the article appearing in Nov. 24 issue of your paper but to call your attention to a positive statement you included in this article which is untrue, i.e., "last year the (Marin County Taxpayer's) association proposed an ordinance limiting county expenditures to five per cent more than the previous year. It was declared unconstitutional by the courts."

The facts are — 5,500 or so voters signed this petition — it was duly certified to the Board of Supervisors and at that time Leland Jordan, county counsel, appeared before the board and stated that in his opinion, the petition was unconstitutional and therefore he advised the board to vote not to place it on the ballot. This they did.

Then our association got in touch with the office of the secretary of state and talked with a Mr. Haggerty who told us, "this initiative and referendum law is a mandatory law and all you have to do is bring a mandate action in your local superior court and the judge must sign the mandate.

We had an attorney file such a mandate action—Judge Brusatori signed an alternative writ of mandate ordering this petition placed on the ballot, on Oct. 15 — then Mr. Jordan filed a demurrer and the mandate action came up in the office of Superior Judge Keating and he upheld the demurrer, and we never did get to a trial to determine if the petition was unconstitutional or not. Judge Keating refused to sign the mandate following the rendering again by county counsel, that in his opinion it was unconstitutional.

In view of the direct and positive wording of the initiative and referendum law, we had every right to believe that when we complied with the law and filed signed petitions with the county clerk and he afterward certified such petitions to the Board of Supervisors, it would go on the ballot. We believe that the rights of these 5500 registered voters in Marin County have been illegally and fraudently taken from them under the initiative and referendum act.

In view of the misstatement made by you in the article mentioned, which surely tends to discredit our actions in the minds of the public, we ask that this letter be printed in full in the news section of your paper without delay, to correct this impression insofar as possible by giving to the general public the actual facts in the case.

Victor Borge, whose one-man shows have been drawing capacity audiences from coast to coast, is an accomplished pianist as well as a connoisseur of comedy. One music critic admitted grudgingly, "He plays superbly, but he's no Horowitz." "That," replied the unperturbed Borge, "should come as a great relief to the parents of Horowitz.'

"I don't know what they mean by long- hair concerts," added Borge. "There's no such thing as long-hair. To me there are just two kinds of hair: no hair and mohair."

Noah Webster, the dictionary dynamo, was never at a loss for the proper word — nor would he allow anyone else to err in his presence. There was one famous encounter in the Webster kitchen, when Mrs. Webster caught her distinguished husband flirting with the pretty new maid. "Mr. Webster!" she cried indignantly. "I am surprised!"

"No, my dear," reproved Webster, disengaging himself with dignity. "You are astounded. It is I who am surprised."

Novato Councilmen Should Follow Lead Of Bryan—Except Tomatoes

Neal was the chief defense attorney in the famous "Monkey Trial" in Dayton, Tenn., some 34 years ago when John T. Scopes was prosecuted for teaching evolution in the state schools.

Assisting him in the defense were Clarence Darrow, Arthur Garfield Hays, Dudley Field Malone and Bainbridge Colby, an impressive quartet of legal eagles whose names have overshadowed Neal's throughout the years.

The big wheel for the prosecution was William Jennings Bryan, whose name Neal's death gives me an opportunity to mention.

In connection with Bryan's name, I am also able to mention my Aunt Clara, her home-grown tomatoes and the Novato City Council.

The Novato City Council, assuming the city incorporates Jan. 12, comes to mind because Bryan was primarily known as a silver tongued orator and I am hoping the new councilmen will make themselves heard while I am covering their meetings.

Bryan, a fast man with a knife and fork, visited our house the day after the trial and my Aunt Clara was so impressed with him that she gave him a basket of her tomatoes as a going away present.

He was found dead in his hotel room the next day, the empty basket and a few tomato peelings behide him.

Bryan would probably fail to see the humor of the situation, but my family has kidded Aunt Clara about the incident ever since.

BUT, BACK TO the Novato City Council.

Politicians, for the most part, are great in the spoken word department. At least, until they are elected to office.

While campaigning, a politician is strictly stereophonic sound in hi-fidelity. But let him get elected to office and conduct a meeting and his amplification drops to zero decibles.

Bryan, who talked himself into three presidential campaigns on nothing more than oratory, could hold an audience spellbound for hours. I can still hear my father, a great admirer and friend of Bryan's, giving out with the old master's famous speech at the Republican National Convention in 1896:

"You shall not press down upon the brow of labor this crown of thorns, you shall not crucify mankind on a cross of gold!"

Bryan never made it to the White House. I have always felt it was only because there was no nationwide radio hookup for him to speak over.

Had he been heard from coast to coast, chances are he would still be in the president's chair. At least, until he ate the basketful of my Aunt Clara's tomatoes.

LET US HOPE the Novato city fathers take a leaf from Bryan's book and let themselves be heard beyond the front row of the council chambers. It's hard enough to report in detail the proceedings of meetings — even when you can hear the speakers.

Speak up, men.

West Wants Federal, State Water Pact

By Congressional Quarterly

WASHINGTON — A powerful bloc of westerners in Congress wants action in 1960 to patch up the rift between the federal government and several western states over water rights.

Water is as precious as gold in many regions of the West and its use always has been closely regulated by state law. But several Supreme Court decisions of recent years have made the states fearful their authority to grant rights for the development of water resources may be restricted by the federal government.

What would be worse, the states say, is the possibility that projects begun years ago under state-granted water rights and developed at great expense could be taken over by the government at any time with no guarantee of compensation.

THE PROBLEM is two-fold. To begin with, the constitutional clause directing Congress to regulate interstate commerce was interpreted by the Supreme Court to mean that the federal government could exercise control over all navigable waterways. In other words, a person using the waters of a river under a right granted him by the state conceivably could be forced to yield that right to the government at any time with no compensation for his loss.

Under this doctrine, which has come to be known as navigation servitude, the states had to confine their jurisdiction over water rights to the smaller non-navigable streams within their respective boundaries.

In 1940, the Supreme Court decided that even some non-navigable streams should be subject to federal control under the Constitution's commerce clause. The court extended the navibability standard to non-navigable streams that might be made navigable and to tributaries flowing into navigable rivers.

THE DOCTRINE of navigation servitude aroused fears among state officials and potential water users that virtually no waterway — even the remote streams in the vast western watersheds — could be developed without the possibility of later federal control.

Their fears were compounded by the court's decision in the Pelton Dam case in 1955. The court upheld the right of the Federal Power Commission to license a power company to build a dam on a river in Oregon, despite the fact that the State of Oregon had refused to grant water rights to that company.

The Pelton Dam decision touched off violent protests from the western states, which have huge tracts of government-owned public land within their borders. Public lands can be withdrawn or reserved by the Government for use as national parks and forests, military reservations or power development sites.

TWO LEGISLATIVE proposals on water rights are awaiting 1960 action. A measure specifically designed to nullify the effects of the Pelton Dam case has the support of the Departments of Interior and Justice and the National Reclamation Assn.

They say the bill, which provides that reservations of public lands by the government would not affect state water rights, is a good first step in redefining federal-relations on this issue. It is sponsored by House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee Chairman Wayne N. Aspinall (D, Colo.).

A MUCH BROADER bill is being pushed by the American Farm Bureau Federation, most of the western states and by some in the Midwest and South.

It requires federal compliance with state water laws and compensation for water rights assumed by the Government along navigable waterways.

Yule Shoppers Warned About Fly-By-Nights

Consumer Counsel Also Cautions Of Over-Buying

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Only 16 more shopping days till Christmas, so keep your eyes open and your emotions under control.

That was the advice given California consumers today by Mrs. Helen Nelson of Mill Valley, installed two months ago by Gov. Edmund G. Brown as their special advocate.

Mrs. Nelson, the state's first consumer counsel, warned holiday shoppers of "the two greatest hazards" facing them:

"Fly-by-night operators" selling questionable merchandise, and over-eagerness, which may cause some credit buyers to pack home more than they'll be able to pay for.

OUT FOR QUICK KILL

"I certainly don't want to dampen their Christmas spirits," Mrs. Nelson told a reporter, "but buyers should be wary of those sellers out to make a quick kill, then disappear. They're out in abundance every Christmas."

She said consumers should be particularly on guard when dealing with sellers in temporary quarters, street vendors and door to door salesmen.

In all cases, Mrs. Nelson cautioned, "wear your glasses. Carefully examine the merchandise, label and price tag. Count your change and check the addition on your sales slips. Mistakes are easily made in the hustle-bustle of Christmas.

READ CONTRACTS

"In short, make sure you're buying what you think you're buying, and paying what you're supposed to be paying for it."

As for installment buying, the consumer is almost completely on his own, Mrs. Nelson explained, because tightened state regulations don't go into effect until January.

She urged buyers not to sign installment contracts until they have read them thoroughly, are certain they contain no blank spaces, and have been told the entire cost of the purchase, including all credit charges and service fees.

SHOP FOR CREDIT

Mrs. Nelson also urged buyers to shop for credit in the same manner as they shop for goods, since interest charges vary from firm to firm.

The most important thing for consumers to practice is "pride in being careful shoppers," she declared.

"The best hope is for the general consumer to become as informed, careful and discerning as the professional buyer."

Military To Assist New Space Agency

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Defense Department said today that creation of a new civilian space unit headed by an Air Force officer has assured full military cooperation in building high-powered rockets for deep space exploration.

The civilian unit, part of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, is to be headed by 45-year-old Maj. Gen. Don R. Ostrander, who had been directing military missile programs since 1951.

Dr. T. Keith Glennan, space administration director, announced yesterday that beginning about Jan. 1 Ostrander would be "director of launch vehicle programs."

He will serve as policy boss for Dr. Wernher von Braun and other German-born rocket experts whose transfer from the Army to the space administration has been completed except for final details subject to congressional approval.

Ostrander returned six weeks ago from serving as director of guided missile development for the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance, with headquarters in Paris. In recent weeks, he has been serving as acting director of the Pentagon's Advanced Research Projects Agency.

The Defense Department announced that Army Brig. Gen. Austin W. Betts, former deputy director for guided missiles, would become permanent head of the reasearch agency.

Ike Mulls 2 Plans To Modernize Government

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower reportedly is mulling over two ideas for modernizing the top-level executive organization of the government.

They are:

Creation of a first secretary of the government, a sort of super-secretary, who would outrank cabinet members and the vice president and who would take over much foreign policy detail now handled by a president.

A "business manager," who would rank at cabinet level and who would coordinate many domestic programs now involving a number of agencies and departments.

The President has been thinking along these lines for several years, White House associates say, but his ideas are still rather vague, not yet in a concrete form for submission to Congress.

Eisenhower has spoken publicly of his thoughts from time to time. He has made it clear that any reorganization of the executive would be one of his final acts, so that no one would think he was trying to benefit himself.

If such proposals are actually presented, then, it probably would be done some time next year.

Aluminum Talk Next For Union

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United Steelworkers Union, having secured a new labor agreement in the can manufacturing industry, today moved on to aluminum in hopes a settlement there would help pressure steel labor peace.

The agreement reached yesterday with the American and Continental Can companies—two of the nation's largest steel consumers — calls for wage-benefit gains valued at 30 cents an hour over a three-year period.

It includes provision for wage boosts of 8.2 cents an hour in each of the three contract years. The can workers averaged $2.73 per hour including overtime in September.

Ferryboat Serving 3 Contra Costa Islands Runs Again

MARTINEZ (AP)—That whistle tootin' on the San Joaquin Delta brings good news to the folks in three little island communities. The ferry is running again.

Contra Costa County supervisors agreed yesterday to a six-month contract with skipper Christopher Lauritzen Jr. Today he resumes piloting the Victory II between Jersey Island and Bradford, Webb and Franks Tracts.

Lauritzen will be paid $4,450 a month by the county. The passengers get the best deal of all—free rides.

Lauritzen's family has operated the ferry service for 31 years but discontinued it Oct. 31 when the county refused to raise the monthly fee above $2,500.

San Rafael Man Draws Fine For Drunk Driving

James Andrew Shultheiss, 35, of 6 Arguello circle, San Rafael, must pay $275 fine and restrict his driving for 90 days because of his first drunken driving conviction.

He was sentenced yesterday by Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Municipal Court. San Rafael police arrested Shultheiss on Second street on Nov. 29. The judge put him on one year probation.

Bids Called For Girls' Institution

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The state has called for bids on the five-million-dollar first phase of construction for the Youth Authority's new Ventura School for Girls.

Bids will be opened Jan. 27 and construction is expected to get under way by March 1.

The new institution, planned to house 550 girls ultimately, will be built south of Ventura to replace the antiquated existing school north of the city. The present school houses 185.

Russia Reports On Big Tour Traffic

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union had 530,000 tourists in 1958 and will have more by the end of this year, according to the official Tass news agency.

Vladimir Ankudinov, head of Intourist, the official travel agency, told Tass the U.S.S.R. was trying to make itself as attractive as possible for tourists.

Bridge, Transit Directors Start Working Together

It was encouraging to see the Golden Gate Bridge directors finally take a solid step toward active cooperation with the Bay Area Rapid Transit District.

By voting unanimously to cooperate with the transit district, the bridge directors have started the ball rolling toward a final and definitive answer to a question which has plagued us since the span was built:

Can Golden Gate Bridge carry rapid transit?

We had been concerned at the seeming indifference the bridge directors have shown toward rapid transit problems. They appeared to stand back and say, "That's no concern of ours." Somehow they seemed to have forgotten that the reason for creation of the district and the building of the bridge was to improve transportation to and from the North Bay counties.

Rapid transit is just another phase of transportation. We are delighted that the bridge directors are now willing to take a serious look at the problem.

Separation of the engineering feasibility study from the economic and practical feasibility may slow the transit district's program somewhat. But it appears to be a sensible suggestion.

There is need to answer the specific question, can the bridge hold transit? If the answer is No, we don't need an economic study. If the answer is Yes, we can then turn to the arguments on economic or practical grounds.

We hope the action of the bridge directors signals a new cooperation between the two districts. In the long run, the directors of both districts are supposed to be serving the public, not their own little empires.

Taxes Make Democracy Work

Tomorrow is deadline for payment of your county and city taxes. If you don't pay the first installment by tomorrow, they will cost you even more in penalties.

No one likes to pay taxes, at least we don't know of anyone. But taxes are the things that make democracy work. If we didn't pay taxes, there would be no money for operation of government unless someone else paid them. If someone else paid, they not us, would call the tune of how the government should function.

So tomorrow's payment date is not the sound of doom, but in effect the pealing of the liberty bell. It is a guarantee of government by the people when the people pay the taxes. You might call it an investment in democracy, or even better, in civilization.

WINS ELECTION FROM ZOO

A rhinoceros won an election in Brazil! More ballots were cast for her than for all other candidates running for city council in Rio de Janeiro.

The sweeping victory of this outstanding member of the local zoo was no tribute to her popularity but rather a public protest against politics and politicians.

It is good and necessary to be disturbed by inefficiency, graft or corruption. But far more than disapproval is needed, no matter how vocal it may be.

Time and again good citizens rise in indignation after allowing their government to become tainted and demoralized. They seldom get beyond the negative.

It would be far more constructive to take a few positive steps to restore missing values to government—or to replace faulty officeholders with those who are capable and conscientious.

It is a never-ending job to apply divine justice to the running of human affairs. But it is a holy task that honors God and benefits everybody.

"Do not regard him as an enemy, but admonish him as a brother."
(2 Thessalonians 3:15)

Grant us, O Lord, the wisdom and courage to correct defects in government, not merely complain about them.

Old-Time Soda Jerk Was Hero, Ruler In His Own Little Empire

Next spring they'll be talking about new baseball heroes Football fellows will be forgotten.

But the fellow who had the firmest grip on the local situation in the old days was the soda jerker in the town's coolest hot spot. He had a following, as any hero does, and a technique, as any hero must.

He also had a language that set him apart. It was largely a language of grunts, waved hands, shrugs, squinted eyes and "what'll you have?"

He didn't serve breakfast, he didn't serve lunch, and he didn't serve dinner.

All he served was a miracle of ice cream, syrup and romance.

He had other duties when the wire-backed chairs held no couple sucking mutual desperation through separate straws. He had to sell perfumes, tobacco, candy and bile cures, and call the druggist on family concerns.

He had his own pleasures, too. He could dip into all the flavors of ice cream.

He wandered into the back part of the drugstore and knew all the wonderful long-ago smells near to the nose and distant to the mind.

There was a behind-the-scenes pungency to a drugstore then which few of the antiseptic drugstores of today retain. The old drugstore had drawers to pull out, patent medicine to sell.

Soda jerkers in those days also had to bring up things from the basement. The underground area of a drugstore at that time differed only from the sales area above by an odor of moldy neglect and the carelessness in which the stock was piled.

When you go into a modern drugstore today the man who serves you at the fountain is a technician in a new field of performance. He rules an empire for a tip.

The old-fashioned soda squirt had an empire without a tip.

10 YEARS AGO

Marin political leaders expressed surprise as Gov. Earl Warren revealed his intention to appoint Jordan L. Martinelli judge of Marin's new superior court. Up to then it had been thought that leading contenders were State Sen. Tom Keating, Dist. Atty. Albert E. Bagshaw and Justice of the Peace N. Charles Brusatori. Marinelli said his selection was "unexpected and unsolicited."

Police Cars Don't Need Motorcycles

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

In a front page article of the Independent-Journal of Dec. 2, "Novato Police Needs Discussed By Kelly," last paragraph:

Dietary Workers Resent Wino Label

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

We, the dietary workers, at the Ross General Hospital take exception to Doctor Dufficy's reference to kitchen workers as being mostly "winos."

We refer to an article which appeared in the Independent-Journal on Wednesday, Nov. 25. We feel that Doctor Dufficy's statement casts a reflection on all kitchen workers and this we resent.

We, in the kitchen of the Ross General Hospital, take great pride in our work and the part we have in the care of the sick. We take great pride in the friendly, humanitarian and compassionate manner in which we serve our patients. We, in the kitchen, are a part of a dedicated team . . . we are wondering, Doctor Dufficy, if it matters so much which part of patient care is done by whom!

Our personnel manager does not employ "winos," as you term it, however through any circumstance, if we were associated with a person of this type we would remember to treat him as an unfortunate human being—we would not label him "wino" in the newspaper!

We would like to remind Doctor Dufficy through these columns that food is a very important part of health and we would hope that health is our mutual interest.

Yes, Doctor Dufficy, we who work in the kitchens of our hospitals resent being labeled "winos."

How Court Ruled In Taxpayer Suit

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

We wish to express our appreciation for the article appearing in Nov. 24 issue of your paper but to call your attention to a positive statement you included in this article which is untrue, i.e., "last year the (Marin County Taxpayer's) association proposed an ordinance limiting county expenditures to five per cent more than the previous year. It was declared unconstitutional by the courts."

The facts are — 5,500 or so voters signed this petition — it was duly certified to the Board of Supervisors and at that time Leland Jordan, county counsel, appeared before the board and stated that in his opinion, the petition was unconstitutional and therefore he advised the board to vote not to place it on the ballot. This they did.

Then our association got in touch with the office of the secretary of state and talked with a Mr. Haggerty who told us, "this initiative and referendum law is a mandatory law and all you have to do is bring a mandate action in your local superior court and the judge must sign the mandate.

We had an attorney file such a mandate action—Judge Brusatori signed an alternative writ of mandate ordering this petition placed on the ballot, on Oct. 15 — then Mr. Jordan filed a demurrer and the mandate action came up in the office of Superior Judge Keating and he upheld the demurrer, and we never did get to a trial to determine if the petition was unconstitutional or not. Judge Keating refused to sign the mandate following the rendering again by county counsel, that in his opinion it was unconstitutional.

In view of the direct and positive wording of the initiative and referendum law, we had every right to believe that when we complied with the law and filed signed petitions with the county clerk and he afterward certified such petitions to the Board of Supervisors, it would go on the ballot. We believe that the rights of these 5500 registered voters in Marin County have been illegally and fraudently taken from them under the initiative and referendum act.

In view of the misstatement made by you in the article mentioned, which surely tends to discredit our actions in the minds of the public, we ask that this letter be printed in full in the news section of your paper without delay, to correct this impression insofar as possible by giving to the general public the actual facts in the case.

Victor Borge, whose one-man shows have been drawing capacity audiences from coast to coast, is an accomplished pianist as well as a connoisseur of comedy. One music critic admitted grudgingly, "He plays superbly, but he's no Horowitz." "That," replied the unperturbed Borge, "should come as a great relief to the parents of Horowitz.'

"I don't know what they mean by long- hair concerts," added Borge. "There's no such thing as long-hair. To me there are just two kinds of hair: no hair and mohair."

"No, my dear," reproved Webster, disengaging himself with dignity. "You are astounded. It is I who am surprised."

Novato Councilmen Should Follow Lead Of Bryan—Except Tomatoes

Neal was the chief defense attorney in the famous "Monkey Trial" in Dayton, Tenn., some 34 years ago when John T. Scopes was prosecuted for teaching evolution in the state schools.

Assisting him in the defense were Clarence Darrow, Arthur Garfield Hays, Dudley Field Malone and Bainbridge Colby, an impressive quartet of legal eagles whose names have overshadowed Neal's throughout the years.

The big wheel for the prosecution was William Jennings Bryan, whose name Neal's death gives me an opportunity to mention.

In connection with Bryan's name, I am also able to mention my Aunt Clara, her homegrown tomatoes and the Novato City Council.

The Novato City Council, assuming the city incorporates Jan. 12, comes to mind because Bryan was primarily known as a silver tongued orator and I am hoping the new councilmen will make themselves heard while I am covering their meetings.

Bryan, a fast man with a knife and fork, visited our house the day after the trial and my Aunt Clara was so impressed with him that she gave him a basket of her tomatoes as a going away present.

He was found dead in his hotel room the next day, the empty basket and a few tomato peelings behide him.

Bryan would probably fail to see the humor of the situation, but my family has kidded Aunt Clara about the incident ever since.

BUT, BACK TO the Novato City Council.

Politicians, for the most part, are great in the spoken word department. At least, until they are elected to office.

While campaigning, a politician is strictly stereophonic sound in hi-fidelity. But let him get elected to office and conduct a meeting and his amplification drops to zero decibles.

Bryan, who talked himself into three presidential campaigns on nothing more than oratory, could hold an audience spellbound for hours. I can still hear my father, a great admirer and friend of Bryan's, giving out with the old master's famous speech at the Republican National Convention in 1896:

"You shall not press down upon the brow of labor this crown of thorns, you shall not crucify mankind on a cross of gold!"

Bryan never made it to the White House. I have always felt it was only because there was no nationwide radio hookup for him to speak over.

Had he been heard from coast to coast, chances are he would still be in the president's chair. At least, until he ate the basketful of my Aunt Clara's tomatoes.

LET US HOPE the Novato city fathers take a leaf from Bryan's book and let themselves be heard beyond the front row of the council chambers. It's hard enough to report in detail the proceedings of meetings — even when you can hear the speakers.

Speak up, men.

RIGHTS IN JEOPARDY

West Wants Federal, State Water Pact

By Congressional Quarterly

WASHINGTON — A powerful bloc of westerners in Congress wants action in 1960 to patch up the rift between the federal government and several western states over water rights.

Water is as precious as gold in many regions of the West and its use always has been closely regulated by state law. But several Supreme Court decisions of recent years have made the states fearful their authority to grant rights for the development of water resources may be restricted by the federal government.

What would be worse, the states say, is the possibility that projects begun years ago under state-granted water rights and developed at great expense could be taken over by the government at any time with no guarantee of compensation.

THE PROBLEM is two-fold. To begin with, the constitutional clause directing Congress to regulate interstate commerce was interpreted by the Supreme Court to mean that the federal government could exercise control over all navigable waterways. In other words, a person using the waters of a river under a right granted him by the state conceivably could be forced to yield that right to the government at any time with no compensation for his loss.

Under this doctrine, which has come to be known as navigation servitude, the states had to confine their jurisdiction over water rights to the smaller non-navigable streams within their respective boundaries.

In 1940, the Supreme Court decided that even some non-navigable streams should be subject to federal control under the Constitution's commerce clause. The court extended the navibability standard to non-navigable streams that might be made navigable and to tributaries flowing into navigable rivers.

THE DOCTRINE of navigation servitude aroused fears among state officials and potential water users that virtually no waterway — even the remote streams in the vast western watersheds — could be developed without the possibility of later federal control.

Their fears were compounded by the court's decision in the Pelton Dam case in 1955. The court upheld the right of the Federal Power Commission to license a power company to build a dam on a river in Oregon, despite the fact that the State of Oregon had refused to grant water rights to that company.

The Pelton Dam decision touched off violent protests from the western states, which have huge tracts of government-owned public land within their borders. Public lands can be withdrawn or reserved by the Government for use as national parks and forests, military reservations or power development sites.

TWO LEGISLATIVE proposals on water rights are awaiting 1960 action. A measure specifically designed to nullify the effects of the Pelton Dam case has the support of the Departments of Interior and Justice and the National Reclamation Assn.

They say the bill, which provides that reservations of public lands by the government would not affect state water rights, is a good first step in redefining federal-relations on this issue. It is sponsored by House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee Chairman Wayne N. Aspinall (D, Colo.).

A MUCH BROADER bill is being pushed by the American Farm Bureau Federation, most of the western states and by some in the Midwest and South.

It requires federal compliance with state water laws and compensation for water rights assumed by the Government along navigable waterways.

Massive Search On For 19 Convicts At Large In South

IVY BLUFF, N.C. (AP) — Hundreds of officers, using planes and bloodhounds, conducted a massive manhunt today for 19 heavily armed and dangerous convicts still at large from yesterday's break from North Carolina's toughest prison here. One convict was recaptured.

Two helicopters from Ft. Bragg joined the hunt today, the Federal Bureau of Investigation announced. Several private planes also are being used in efforts to spot any of the convicts still in this area.

The fact that only a few cars were reported stolen in this section led officers to believe at least some of the escapees are still hiding not far from this prison site close to the Virginia line.

Four men, one of whom identified himself with the escape here, broke into a home in Memphis, Tenn., and raped a woman. They tied up the woman's husband and, while one stood guard with a knife, three raped her.

At least three of the escapees were definitely placed in Roanoke, Va., last night after a Buchanan, Va., man reported he was forced to drive three men at gunpoint to Roanoke.

Virginia state police reported a car stolen in North Carolina shortly after the break was found abandoned a short distance from the Robinson home.

In addition, a dark green sedan was reported stolen in Tazwell County, west of Roanoke. A few hours later a similar car was spotted speeding through Roanoke. Officers said it may have contained others of the escapees.

The prison is located near the Virginia state line in Caswell County.

Posses using bloodhounds and scouting planes scoured a six-county area on the theory that all of the fugitives couldn't have gotten out of North Carolina after the escape, despite a four-hour start before the break was reported yesterday.

Prisons Director W. F. Bailey reported on the break to Gov. Luther Hodges. The governor said he was awaiting a full investigation before making any comment.

Residents in a wide area around Ivy Bluff slept uneasily last night behind locked doors and windows, with family weapons within easy reach.

The 20 felons who escaped included four killers and four serving life for such crimes as rape and burglary. They all walked from the prison after overpowering six guards and taking eight rifles, eight pistols and a sub-machine gun.

Charles Edwards, 28, serving life for burglary and attempted rape, was recaptured eight miles from the prison, six and one-half hours after the break.

4 Men In Convict Garb Held In Ohio

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio (AP)—Police here today picked up four men, one wearing a convict's uniform under civilian clothes, and said the car in which they were traveling was loaded with rifles and ammunition.

Mitchell Plan Rejected By Big Steel Companies

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The "Big 11" steel companies today turned down a proposal by Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell to let a neutral party recommend a settlement of the steel dispute.

The companies made their position known in a statement by R. Conrad Cooper, chief management negotiator.

He said third-party intervention would result only in recommendations the union has rejected or that would lead to an "inflationary" agreement.

Mitchell advised both union and management negotiators yesterday to authorize a government board or private panel to submit recommendations as a framework for settlement.

United Steelworkers Union President David J. McDonald immediately endorsed Mitchell's suggestion. McDonald proposed last week that President Eisenhower's fact-finding board be empowered to offer a settlement formula.

New School To Adjoin Site Of Novato High

Novato Unified School District trustees will select 10 acres adjacent to Novato High School for the site of a future elementary school, they decided last night.

The district's need for the 10 acres was approved in a letter from the Marin County Planning Commission on request of the board. The planners suggested that the site consist of six acres of present high school grounds and an additional four acres of the proposed adjacent subdivision known as Novato Hills.

The trustees will visit the property as soon as possible for an inspection tour and selection of the acreage, said Supt. William J. J. Smith.

TO VISIT PROPERTY

At last night's meeting, the board also accepted with regret the resignation of Peter J. Ferrarese. Board Chairman Earl Marshall cast a dissenting vote.

ACCEPTS DEED

The board also passed a resolution accepting the deed to the Connell property on Grant avenue which is to be the site of the next elementary school constructed in the district.

Richard Banwell, representative of the architectural firm of John Lyon Reid and Associates, was instructed to go ahead with plans for the eight-room school.

First stage of the building will include a kindergarten and administrative offices, Banwell said. A second stage, to be built later, will add four classrooms and a multi-purpose room.

An updating of a 1955 survey of district building needs was also approved by the board, which sent a request to the University of California to start the survey. The university staff conducted the original survey.

INFORMAL MEETS SLATED

Zoning Action Delayed For Enchanted Knolls

The Mill Valley Planning Commission last night deferred to its January meeting action on a request to change hilltop zoning in Enchanted Knolls to commercial.

The commission also asked the city council to hold up recommended action for changing from unclassified to residential the zoning of another portion of Enchanted Knolls.

Planning Commission spokesman Lew Tyrrell said the commission hopes to settle all matters regarding Enchanted Knolls at once. The commission previously had asked the council to approve the residential rezoning.

The delay in consideration of changing hilltop zoning to one that would permit the construction of a restaurant and motel, was requested by the Enchanted Knolls Property Owners Assn. The delay was agreed to by Aspen Corp. of Palo Alto, the firm which wishes to develop the area.

Tyrrell said the rezoning is opposed by the property owners because they fear a commercial development will bring a rash of traffic along residential streets. Tyrrell said, however, there is an existing road right of way from Highway 101 to the hilltop, and the developers believe this road can be used, thus diverting traffic from the residential area.

Tyrrell said that, prior to the Jan. 12 meeting, the planners, the developers and the property owners will try to reach agreement through informal meetings.

Hillside Sewer Problems In Tam Valley Studied

Directors of the Tamalpais Valley Sanitary District last night started action to hire an engineer for a special report of hillside sewer problems.

Chairman Bruce J. Gillette said the trouble spot is on the north side of the district where it borders the Almonte and Homestead districts. The problem, he said, is that the area is being developed from the top down, instead of in the more usual manner of from the bottom upwards. This means, he said ,that many new home owners, because they are some distance from the sewer lines, apply for and receive permission to install septic tanks.

There is now an application by a subdivider to install regular sewer lines at his own expense for 18 buildings, but with the proviso that the lines connect with the nearer Almonte sanitary district lines, Gillette reported.

The engineer's report could bring out several possibilities, Gillette said. These could include a recommendation that the district pay for the lines, or that new property owners be asked to foot the expense.

Also in the offing is some sort of an agreement with the Almonte district, although the directors of that district have not yet been contacted.

Judge Sims, Wife Parents Of Girl

Judge Richard M. Sims of Marin Municipal Court had good reason to beam when he opened court at 9:30 a.m. today.

Less than two hours before, his wife gave birth to a second daughter, their fourth child, at Marin General Hospital. The stork delivered Alice Dale Sims, six and one-half pounds, at 7:45 a.m.

Tiburon Picks New Chamber Chief, Aides

OTHER OFFICERS

George Bitter defeated William Slater, the nominating committee's candidate, for vice president. Mrs. Betty Donzel was elected secretary, and Howard A. Longford was re-elected treasurer.

David Allen was elected to a two-year term as director. Elected to three-year terms were: Edward P. Ward, Fred Mantegani and Richard Less.

William H. Rafter is outgoing president.

PARKING DISCUSSED

Marin County Planning Commissioner Margaret Azevedo and planning staff member David Van Pelt discussed forming a parking assessment district in downtown Tiburon to make more parking spaces available for present and proposed businesses.

Sixty per cent of the commercial property owners would have to sign up for the district, Rafter said. The area is bounded by Beech road, Corinthian Island, Tiburon highway and Main street. Fred G. Zelinsky owns most of the property.

A committee was appointed to work with the county planning commission on the problem. Members are Mantegani, Kirby Atterbury, William Caldwell, Peter Warburg and Thomas Cox.

Yule Shoppers Warned About Fly-By-Nights

Consumer Counsel Also Cautions Of Over-Buying

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Only 16 more shopping days till Christmas, so keep your eyes open and your emotions under control.

That was the advice given California consumers today by Mrs. Helen Nelson of Mill Valley, installed two months ago by Gov. Edmund G. Brown as their special advocate.

Mrs. Nelson, the state's first consumer counsel, warned holiday shoppers of "the two greatest hazards" facing them:

"Fly-by-night operators" selling questionable merchandise, and over-eagerness, which may cause some credit buyers to pack home more than they'll be able to pay for.

OUT FOR QUICK KILL

"I certainly don't want to dampen their Christmas spirits," Mrs. Nelson told a reporter, "but buyers should be wary of those sellers out to make a quick kill, then disappear. They're out in abundance every Christmas."

She said consumers should be particularly on guard when dealing with sellers in temporary quarters, street vendors and door to door salesmen.

In all cases, Mrs. Nelson cautioned, "wear your glasses. Carefully examine the merchandise, label and price tag. Count your change and check the addition on your sales slips. Mistakes are easily made in the hustle-bustle of Christmas.

READ CONTRACTS

"In short, make sure you're buying what you think you're buying, and paying what you're supposed to be paying for it."

As for installment buying, the consumer is almost completely on his own, Mrs. Nelson explained, because tightened state regulations don't go into effect until January.

She urged buyers not to sign installment contracts until they have read them thoroughly, are certain they contain no blank spaces, and have been told the entire cost of the purchase, including all credit charges and service fees.

SHOP FOR CREDIT

Mrs. Nelson also urged buyers to shop for credit in the same manner as they shop for goods, since interest charges vary from firm to firm.

The most important thing for consumers to practice is "pride in being careful shoppers," she declared.

"The best hope is for the general consumer to become as informed, careful and discerning as the professional buyer."

Ike Mulls 2 Plans To Modernize Government

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower reportedly is mulling over two ideas for modernizing the top-level executive organization of the government.

They are:

Creation of a first secretary of the government, a sort of super-secretary, who would outrank cabinet members and the vice president and who would take over much foreign policy detail now handled by a president.

A "business manager," who would rank at cabinet level and who would coordinate many domestic programs now involving a number of agencies and departments.

The President has been thinking along these lines for several years, White House associates say, but his ideas are still rather vague, not yet in a concrete form for submission to Congress.

Eisenhower has spoken publicly of his thoughts from time to time. He has made it clear that any reorganization of the executive would be one of his final acts, so that no one would think he was trying to benefit himself.

If such proposals are actually presented, then, it probably would be done some time next year.

Aluminum Talk Next For Union

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United Steelworkers Union, having secured a new labor agreement in the can manufacturing industry, today moved on to aluminum in hopes a settlement there would help pressure steel labor peace.

The agreement reached yesterday with the American and Continental Can companies—two of the nation's largest steel consumers — calls for wage-benefit gains valued at 30 cents an hour over a three-year period.

It includes provision for wage boosts of 8.2 cents an hour in each of the three contract years. The can workers averaged $2.73 per hour including overtime in September.

Bids Called For Girls' Institution

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The state has called for bids on the five-million-dollar first phase of construction for the Youth Authority's new Ventura School for Girls.

Bids will be opened Jan. 27 and construction is expected to get under way by March 1.

The new institution, planned to house 550 girls ultimately, will be built south of Ventura to replace the antiquated existing school north of the city. The present school houses 185.

Russia Reports On Big Tour Traffic

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union had 530,000 tourists in 1958 and will have more by the end of this year, according to the official Tass news agency.

Vladimir Ankudinov, head of Intourist, the official travel agency, told Tass the U.S.S.R. was trying to make itself as attractive as possible for tourists.

Ferryboat Serving 3 Contra Costa Islands Runs Again

MARTINEZ (AP)—That whistle tootin' on the San Joaquin Delta brings good news to the folks in three little island communities. The ferry is running again.

Contra Costa County supervisors agreed yesterday to a six-month contract with skipper Christopher Lauritzen Jr. Today he resumes piloting the Victory II between Jersey Island and Bradford, Webb and Franks Tracts.

Lauritzen will be paid $4,450 a month by the county. The passengers get the best deal of all—free rides.

Lauritzen's family has operated the ferry service for 31 years but discontinued it Oct. 31 when the county refused to raise the monthly fee above $2,500.

San Rafael Man Draws Fine For Drunk Driving

James Andrew Shultheiss, 35, of 6 Arguello circle, San Rafael, must pay $275 fine and restrict his driving for 90 days because of his first drunken driving conviction.

He was sentenced yesterday by Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Municipal Court. San Rafael police arrested Shultheiss on Second street on Nov. 29. The judge put him on one year probation.

Military To Assist New Space Agency

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Defense Department said today that creation of a new civilian space unit headed by an Air Force officer has assured full military cooperation in building high-powered rockets for deep space exploration.

The civilian unit, part of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, is to be headed by 45-year-old Maj. Gen. Don R. Ostrander, who had been directing military missile programs since 1951.

Dr. T. Keith Glennan, space administration director, announced yesterday that beginning about Jan. 1 Ostrander would be "director of launch vehicle programs."

He will serve as policy boss for Dr. Wernher von Braun and other German-born rocket experts whose transfer from the Army to the space administration has been completed except for final details subject to congressional approval.

Ostrander returned six weeks ago from serving as director of guided missile development for the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance, with headquarters in Paris. In recent weeks, he has been serving as acting director of the Pentagon's Advanced Research Projects Agency.

The Defense Department announced that Army Brig. Gen. Austin W. Betts, former deputy director for guided missiles, would become permanent head of the reasearch agency.

Three-School Merger Postponed For Year

There will be no merger of the Burdell School District with the Lincoln and Union districts this year, it was announced today by James Grossi, clerk of the Burdell school board.

The proposed merger, under discussion for some time among the three districts, would have had to be voted upon on or before next Jan. 19 to be effective next school year, Grossi said. Notice would have to be filed with the county clerk 75 days in advance, a deadline now passed.

The 14 pupils of the Burdell district are now using the facilities of Our Lady of Loretto School in Novato. The one-room Burdell School was burned by vandals in November of 1958.

The district's contract with Our Lady of Loretto School runs through the current school year. A decision on where to locate the pupils during the 1960-61 school year, will be reached through joint meetings with the other two districts, Grossi said.

STOCKS TODAY

COMBINED AP & UPI

NEW YORK—The stock market ran into some heavy selling around the close today, especially in the blue chips which yesterday helped put the market within touching distance of the all-time high.

Volume for the day was estimated at three and one-half million shares compared with 3,870,000 yesterday.

Losses of fractions to a point or a bit more were the rule for most key stocks.

Some took wider losses, notably American Motors, down about four. The electronics group also showed greater losses than the list as a whole, Texas Instruments and Motorola falling more than three apiece and Ampex about four.

Mother, Boys Slightly Hurt In Collisions

A Mill Valley mother driving her two children home from San Rafael last night in a borrowed car struck a truck twice, inflicting injuries on herself and the children.

Mrs. Patricia Evans of 20 Shelly drive, having been at a motel restaurant with her children, Nicholas, 8, and Christopher 5, borrowed a car from a friend there and started south on Highway 101, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Mercer Jack Johnson, 44, of Marin City, told the patrol that he saw the Evans car coming up fast behind him.

"First she hit my truck on the left rear," he said. "Her car went back, then she came up again and hit on the right rear."

As Johnson stopped, he said, the Evans car went ahead to cross the southbound lane and stop on the divider strip.

Mrs. Evans and her children were given emergency treatment at Marin General Hospital for cuts and bruises.

Mosk Says 6,000 In State Use Dope

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California's known narcotics users number 6,000 in the six months since such records were started, Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk says.

And the numbers are growing at the alarming rate, he told the state senate committee on judiciary yesterday. The committee is getting testimony on penalties for dope users and sellers.

"Our information indicates," he added, "that 75 per cent of all illicit narcotics in California originates in California originates in Mexico. We must be aware of the sensibilities of our good neighbors to the south but facts are facts."

with less authority had been proposed by the mayor.

Smith, however, said the decision to place the matter on the ballot had ben reached subsequently, and he now thinks the appointment should be held up to learn the wishes of the electorate.

Mrs. Booth se vrdeon

Mrs. Booth served notice that Flautt can expect no more enthusiastic support from her than was received by his predecessor, City Manager Brewer.

"We were in a heck of a muddle," she declared, "due to a former council who thought they were very clever manipulators. . . . By the time we got rid of the city manager, we were in a mess. . . ."

Since Brewer's departure, she said, "I have watched each and every office work, and they have worked to peak capacity. There has ben no dissension for the first time in two years. . . . You can't give your boys a raise but you can go right out and hire an administrator." (She referred to her recent unsuccessful attempts to get a 5 per cent pay hike for city employees.)

"You wanted an administrator!" exclaimed Councilman Carleton G. Little.

She also objected that Flautt "hasn't worked at the job for some time and was a good friend of the former city manager."

"Yes," said Mrs. Booth.

"I had a friend check on Flautt," said Franchini. "He did a remarkable job for the city of Sanger."

Councilman Jordan L. Martinelli added that Flautt is aware that the job will be subject to the result of the April election "but is willing to take the chance."

"You said he was a glad-hander," declared Mrs. Booth, turning to Martinelli.

"I did," admitted Martinelli, "but I think the city needs a glad-hander. Public relations are important."

Flautt left the city manager of Sanger, a city of about 10,000 population, recently, after five years' service, when, at his suggestion, the job was combined with that of city engineer-public works director.

Before becoming Sanger city manager, he held municipal posts in Montrose, Colo., and in Visalia and San Jose.

He was born in Manteca and is a graduate of San Jose State College, where he also took post-graduate work in public administration. He is married and has four children.

Big Explosion Jars German Border Area

LUEBECK, Germany (AP) — An explosion shook the border region between East and West Germany today. West German police say they believe a Communist explosives depot blew up.

Officials said they heard two detonations and observed a 1,200-foot smoke cloud about a mile inside East Germany. The shock wave shattered windows in several houses on the West German side.

Police recalled small detonations had been heard from East Germany in the last few days. They said it appeared East German guards wanted to clear a wooded area for better control of the border.

The West German authorities theorized the charges used in this clearing work had been stored at a depot which blew up today, either by accident or sabotage.

HOLDUP

Gene E. Mortley, 17 Rogue Moraes drive; Walter Merila, 70 Heather way, and Leland K. Spragle, 10 Shelly drive, all of Mill Valley.

The two gunmen also took a wrist watch belonging to Benjamin, but in their haste to leave the store ignored the wallets of the three customers.

Delasaux said his two clerks told him they believe the men may have been drug addicts, judging from their agitated appearance.

He said he believes they may be the same men who a day or so ago held up a store in Santa Clara. He said he based this on an all-points bulletin issued from Santa Clara giving almost the same descriptions.

DeLasaux, who was not in the vicinity during the holdup, said the two clerks and the three customers were told to "lay quiet for five minutes."

Officer Carl Mead heard the alarm and was the first to reach the store. Officer D. Terzich is handling the investigation.

COSTS

ed Eugene K. Sturgis, attorney for the assessment district, who happened to be in the supervisors' chamber on another matter.

The board indicated that it shared this view after a desultory effort to evaluate prospects of raising any more money.

"We formed an assessment district and raised $30,000 instead of $13,000," said Mrs. Schultz. "But . . ."

She then made and the board unanimously passed a motion to put the matter on next Tuesday's agenda.

The letter said the re-analysis was made "as result of comments on the detailed project report by the State of California and the divisional engineer of the Corps of Engineers."

It pointed out that the federal contribution has a $400,000 statutory limitation imposed by Public Law 685.

It added that no "land enhancement benefits as interpreted by the federal government" were to be brought about by the project, also that "because of the increased cost the economic justification for construction of the project is marginal."

Then came the demand to know, quick, where Marin County stood on picking up a $114,000 tab in addition to the $13,000 one already in prospect.

Man Jailed After Marin City Blaze

An unemployed man, suspected of accidentally setting fire to a washroom in Building A-31, was booked in jail yesterday for drunkenness and vagrancy.

Sheriff's Deputy Harold Sleezer identified the suspect as Earl Prentis Perry, 56, who has no home and no occupation. Sleezer said witnesses saw Perry stagger out of the washroom about two minutes before the fire flared up about 3 p.m. He appeared to be intoxicated when Sleezer intercepted him near Building A-1. Inside the washroom, a mattress was ablaze. Investigators said Perry may have been sleeping on the mattress and set it on fire with a cigarette.

OBITUARIES

Novato Man Found Dead Of Gunshot

A retired cook, living alone in a Novato home, carefully addressed Christmas cards for friends, put his house in order, and shot himself to death in his back yard, sheriff's deputies reported last night.

Deputy Gerald Fries found the body of Charles Lambert, 74, of 1689 Indian Valley road, lying in his back yard with a .22 caliber revolver clutched in his right hand. Lambert, a bachelor, left a suicide note in the living room.

Funeral arrangements were pending at Redwood Chapel in Novato this morning.

Lambert had lived in Marin for about 20 years. His friends and neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. George of 1671 Indian Valley road, first noticed something amiss yesterday. Mrs. George, who saw Lambert Sunday, said they had not heard from him for several days.

Yesterday, she telephoned him and knocked on his door several times without getting any answer. She left a note under the door. Last night, she and her husband entered and spotted the suicide note in the living room. It was dated Dec. 8. They called the sheriff.

Fries said everything in the house was in neat order. The Christmas cards were arranged neatly in a box ready for mailing. About 60 yards to the rear of the house, across a creek, the officer found the body, fully clothed, face up.

Lambert leaves a brother, Joseph, of Yonkers, N. Y.

Massive Search On For 19 Convicts At Large In South

IVY BLUFF, N.C. (AP) — Hundreds of officers, using planes and bloodhounds, conducted a massive manhunt today for 19 heavily armed and dangerous convicts still at large from yesterday's break from North Carolina's toughest prison here. One convict was recaptured.

Two helicopters from Ft. Bragg joined the hunt today, the Federal Bureau of Investigation announced. Several private planes also are being used in efforts to spot any of the convicts still in this area.

The fact that only a few cars were reported stolen in this section led officers to believe at least some of the escapees are still hiding not far from this prison site close to the Virginia line.

Four men, one of whom identified himself with the escape here, broke into a home in Memphis, Tenn., and raped a woman. They tied up the woman's husband and, while one stood guard with a knife, three raped her.

At least three of the escapees were definitely placed in Roanoke, Va., last night after a Buchanan, Va., man reported he was forced to drive three men at gunpoint to Roanoke.

Virginia state police reported a car stolen in North Carolina shortly after the break was found abandoned a short distance from the Robinson home.

In addition, a dark green sedan was reported stolen in Tazwell County, west of Roanoke. A few hours later a similar car was spotted speeding through Roanoke. Officers said it may have contained others of the escapees.

The prison is located near the Virginia state line in Caswell County.

Posses using bloodhounds and scouting planes scoured a six-county area on the theory that all of the fugitives couldn't have gotten out of North Carolina after the escape, despite a four-hour start before the break was reported yesterday.

Prisons Director W. F. Bailey reported on the break to Gov. Luther Hodges. The governor said he was awaiting a full investigation before making any comment.

Residents in a wide area around Ivy Bluff slept uneasily last night behind locked doors and windows, with family weapons within easy reach.

The 20 felons who escaped included four killers and four serving life for such crimes as rape and burglary. They all walked from the prison after overpowering six guards and taking eight rifles, eight pistols and a sub-machine gun.

Charles Edwards, 28, serving life for burglary and attempted rape, was recaptured eight miles from the prison, six and one-half hours after the break.

4 Men In Convict Garb Held In Ohio

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio (AP)—Police here today picked up four men, one wearing a convict's uniform under civilian clothes, and said the car in which they were traveling was loaded with rifles and ammunition.

Mitchell Plan Rejected By Big Steel Companies

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The "Big 11" steel companies today turned down a proposal by Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell to let a neutral party recommend a settlement of the steel dispute.

The companies made their position known in a statement by R. Conrad Cooper, chief management negotiator.

He said third-party intervention would result only in recommendations the union has rejected or that would lead to an "inflationary" agreement.

Mitchell advised both union and management negotiators yesterday to authorize a government board or private panel to submit recommendations as a framework for settlement.

United Steelworkers Union President David J. McDonald immediately endorsed Mitchell's suggestion. McDonald proposed last week that President Eisenhower's fact-finding board be empowered to offer a settlement formula.

New School To Adjoin Site Of Novato High

Novato Unified School District trustees will select 10 acres adjacent to Novato High School for the site of a future elementary school, they decided last night.

The district's need for the 10 acres was approved in a letter from the Marin County Planning Commission on request of the board. The planners suggested that the site consist of six acres of present high school grounds and an additional four acres of the proposed adjacent subdivision known as Novato Hills.

The trustees will visit the property as soon as possible for an inspection tour and selection of the acreage, said Supt. William J. J. Smith.

TO VISIT PROPERTY

At last night's meeting, the board also accepted with regret the resignation of Peter J. Ferrarese. Board Chairman Earl Marshall cast a dissenting vote.

Present at the meeting were Trustees Marett Boisevain and Mrs. Lee Dougherty.

ACCEPTS DEED

The board also passed a resolution accepting the deed to the Connell property on Grant avenue which is to be the site of the next elementary school constructed in the district.

Richard Banwell, representative of the architectural firm of John Lyon Reid and Associates, was instructed to go ahead with plans for the eight-room school.

First stage of the building will include a kindergarten and administrative offices, Banwell said. A second stage, to be built later, will add four classrooms and a multi-purpose room.

An updating of a 1955 survey of district building needs was also approved by the board, which sent a request to the University of California to start the survey. The university staff conducted the original survey.

Zoning Action Delayed For Enchanted Knolls

The Mill Valley Planning Commission last night deferred to its January meeting action on a request to change hilltop zoning in Enchanted Knolls to commercial.

The commission also asked the city council to hold up recommended action for changing from unclassified to residential the zoning of another portion of Enchanted Knolls.

Planning Commission spokesman Lew Tyrrell said the commission hopes to settle all matters regarding Enchanted Knolls at once. The commission previously had asked the council to approve the residential rezoning.

The delay in consideration of changing hilltop zoning to one that would permit the construction of a restaurant and motel, was requested by the Enchanted Knolls Property Owners Assn. The delay was agreed to by Aspen Corp. of Palo Alto, the firm which wishes to develop the area.

Tyrrell said the rezoning is opposed by the property owners because they fear a commercial development will bring a rash of traffic along residential streets. Tyrrell said, however, there is an existing road right of way from Highway 101 to the hilltop, and the developers believe this road can be used, thus diverting traffic from the residential area.

Tyrrell said that, prior to the Jan. 12 meeting, the planners, the developers and the property owners will try to reach agreement through informal meetings.

Hillside Sewer Problems In Tam Valley Studied

Directors of the Tamalpais Valley Sanitary District last night started action to hire an engineer for a special report of hillside sewer problems.

Chairman Bruce J. Gillette said the trouble spot is on the north side of the district where it borders the Almonte and Homestead districts. The problem, he said, is that the area is being developed from the top down, instead of in the more usual manner of from the bottom upwards. This means, he said ,that many new home owners, because they are some distance from the sewer lines, apply for and receive permission to install septic tanks.

There is now an application by a subdivider to install regular sewer lines at his own expense for 18 buildings, but with the proviso that the lines connect with the nearer Almonte sanitary district lines, Gillette reported.

The engineer's report could bring out several possibilities, Gillette said. These could include a recommendation that the district pay for the lines, or that new property owners be asked to foot the expense.

Also in the offing is some sort of an agreement with the Almonte district, although the directors of that district have not yet been contacted.

Judge Sims, Wife Parents Of Girl

Judge Richard M. Sims of Marin Municipal Court had good reason to beam when he opened court at 9:30 a.m. today.

Less than two hours before, his wife gave birth to a second daughter, their fourth child, at Marin General Hospital. The stork delivered Alice Dale Sims, six and one-half pounds, at 7:45 a.m.

Tiburon Picks New Chamber Chief, Aides

OTHER OFFICERS

George Bitter defeated William Slater, the nominating committee's candidate, for vice president. Mrs. Betty Donzel was elected secretary, and Howard A. Longford was re-elected treasurer.

David Allen was elected to a two-year term as director. Elected to three-year terms were: Edward P. Ward, Fred Mantegani and Richard Less.

William H. Rafter is outgoing president.

PARKING DISCUSSED

Marin County Planning Commissioner Margaret Azevedo and planning staff member David Van Pelt discussed forming a parking assessment district in downtown Tiburon to make more parking spaces available for present and proposed businesses.

Sixty per cent of the commercial property owners would have to sign up for the district, Rafter said. The area is bounded by Beech road, Corinthian Island, Tiburon highway and Main street. Fred G. Zelinsky owns most of the property.

A committee was appointed to work with the county planning commission on the problem. Members are Mantegani, Kirby Atterbury, William Caldwell, Peter Warburg and Thomas Cox.

Tam, Redwood Co-Favored In Cage Tourney This Weekend

First official varsity basketball function of the new Marin County Athletic League will take place Friday and Saturday of this week when all six schools send their cagers into the first annual league tournament.

To be held at Redwood High, the tournament will present three games Friday night and a full, five-game program on Saturday.

Friday night's opening games, according to Tournament Director Bob Troppman, will be: San Rafael vs. Drake at 6:30 o'clock, Marin Catholic vs. Tamalpais at 7:45 and Novato vs. Redwood at 9.

The Drake-San Rafael contest will not be counted in tournament standings because those teams drew a first round bye and automatically advance into Saturday's championship round.

Saturday's big schedule starts off at 1:30 p.m. and games will follow at 2:45, 6:30, 7:45 and the championship battle at 9 o'clock.

Redwood and Tamalpais have been rated co-favorites and are expected to be in the finals.

Friday's games will be played in eight-minute quarters while Saturday's tilts will be shortened to five-minute quarters.

Only one trophy — for the championship team — will be awarded. Original plans called for first, second and third place team trophies, similar awards to the outstanding player and best cheering section and cups to the All-Tournament team, but league principles ruled against the extra "hardware." An All-Tournament team will be selected, however.

New Loop To Seek Aid From Congress

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Branch Rickey's four-month tug-o'-war with baseball's higher echelon for recognition and admission of his embattled Continental League into the major league circle may wind up in the courts, it was learned today.

William Shea, founder of the circuit, currently limited to six teams, has just about convinced Rickey the time has come to seek congressional aid in their bid to become a third major league. This was reliably reported to The Associated Press by a source closely connected with the embryo circuit.

Only a clear-cut stand on expansion by the American League—either yes or no—will deter the 78-year-old president of the Continental League from making this grave decision. The American League announced Monday that at the present time it had no plans to expand but that it had reached no definite decision on future expansion because of a number of problems which could not presently be resolved.

A. L. President Joe Cronin added that expansion was inevitable and instructed his fact-finding committee to continue its study.

"The American League decision is not satisfactory to us," the source said. "Cronin had promised us a yes-or-no answer. He hasn't lived up to that promise. Unless the American League tells us it will expand and makes its selection of cities, or declares emphatically and unequivocally that it has absolutely no intention of expanding, I'm afraid the only recourse is for us to go to the courts."

'NO COMMENT'

Cronin refused to comment on Rickey's assertion that he had offered to release any two cities the American League desired if it was sincere about expansion.

"There is no indication at this time," said Joe, "that the American League intends to expand in 1961, 1962, 1963, 1964 or 1956. I made it clear the A. L. will not delay the Continental League from going forward with the completion of its organization.

"It looks as though they have problems and are trying to blame them on us."

Cronin referred to the fact that the Continental League currently is comprised of only six members. Atlanta joined the founding five yesterday. The original franchise holders were Toronto, Houston, Denver, Minneapolis-St. Paul and New York.

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick also denied he was deterring the new league.

"When they get eight teams, I'll be behind them 100 per cent," he said. "I cannot subscribe to the theory that there is a road block. It's just impossible for anyone to say 'we are never going to expand.' I interpret the A. L. statement that it is not going to expand. To me it was perfectly clear that the A. L. gave the Continental League the go-ahead sign.

"It seems to me that instead of trying to hang the hat on somebody else, the time has come for the Continental League to act and not alibi."

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Johnny Parsons, winner of the 1950 Indianapolis 500 classic, says he will retire from auto racing at the end of the year while he's "still known as 'champ' rather than a driver who didn't know when to quit."

Parsons, 41, said in making his announcement yesterday that he will finish his driving career in the Dec. 27 midget auto race feature at Saugus Stadium.

West Boasts Mile Long Pass Record

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Five pass receivers on the West squad for the Jan. 2 Shrine East-West Game accounted for a mile gained through the air during the 1959 collegiate season.

Chris Burford of Stanford caught 61 for 757 yards and six touchdowns. His teammate, Ben Robinson, caught 34 for 594 and two touchdowns.

Gail Cogdill of Washington State snagged 28 for 531 and six touchdowns. His fellow Cougar Don Ellersick had 26 for 302 and two tallies.

All told, that accounted for 20 touchdowns and 2,399 yards or more than a mile.

Passer Don Meredith of SMU completed 69 passes for 804 yards while Jim Walden of Wyoming hit on 45 for 882.

Buck Shaw Named Coach Of East In Pro-Bowl Tilt

Shaw will be opposed by Red Hickey of the San Francisco 49ers who will direct the Western Conference team in the annual football classic at the Coliseum.

Shaw previously coached the 49ers and in 1955 was head coach for the West in the Pro Bowl. So far this year Shaw's Eagle squad has a 7-4 record in the National Football League's Eastern Conference standings.

Chisox Pulled A Fast One, Lane Charges

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Baseball men tipped their hats to the White Sox today for making the best deals of the meetings despite Frank Lane's angry accusation that they had "pulled a fast one" in their latest trade with the Phillies.

Lane was steaming and he didn't care who knew it over the deal in which the White Sox obtained hard-hitting third baseman Gene Freese from the Phils for rookie outfielder Johnny Callison.

The burned-up Cleveland general manager said he believed the White Sox were promised Freese before they traded third baseman-outfielder Bubba Phillips to his club in a seven-man deal last Sunday.

"I never thought the White Sox could get Freese," Lane snapped. "In fact, John Quinn (general manager of the Phillies) told me he wouldn't trade him. I sort of figured they'd get a third baseman, but never dreamed it would be someone like Freese. Now they've got one helluva ball club."

BID FOR TEMPLE

Up until the moment he left here last night, Lane still was trying to swing another deal for Cleveland. He offered Cal McLish, Billy Martin and minor league pitcher Dick Stigman to Gabe Paul of Cincinnati for Johnny Temple. Paul rode all the way out to the airport with Lane trying to get him to substitute another pitcher for Stigman.

Several other deals still were in the works as the meetings wound up, and the general managers involved said there was a good chance some would be completed before the end of the inter-league trading period on Dec. 15.

The Phillies offered veteran center-fielder Richie Ashburn to Washington for either Russ Kemmerer or Tex Clevenger and one of three infielders—Reno Bertoia, Ken Aspromonte or Billy Consolo.

Another deal on the fire involved Billy Gardner and Joe Ginsberg of the Orioles and Clint Courtney and Hal Griggs of the Senators.

Cleveland joined Milwaukee and San Francisco in the bidding for Don Blasingame of the Cardinals.

"I'll talk with all of them again soon," said Cardinal G. M. Bing Devine, "and maybe something will materialize."

Schloredt Named Top Coast Gridder

The one-eyed signal caller got 110 first-place votes in balloting by sportswriters and TV-radio sportscasters to win by a wide margin over the No. 2 man, Stanford end Chris Burford, who got 38 votes for first place.

White Named Drake High's Top Gridder

Paul White, all-around athlete from San Anselmo and first string tackle on the Sir Francis Drake High School varsity football team, won the prized "Most Valuable Player" award last night at the 1959 varsity awards dinner.

The dinner, for players and parents, was sponsored by the Drake High School Benchwarmers at Sleepy Hollow School.

The speaker was John J. Connolly, sports columnist for the Independent-Journal and former sports editor and writer in San Francisco, Los Angeles and Oakland.

White, a senior at Drake, also is first string catcher on the Pirate baseball team and a few years ago was a star of the San Anselmo Little League and Junior League baseball organization.

Three awards—most to any player—went to Alden Sievers, Lagunitas senior who was varsity center. He won the outstanding lineman trophy, the scholarship award and a co-captaincy voted by his teammates.

OUTSTANDING BACK

Winner of the other co-captaincy was Sam Johnson, junior quarterback from Fairfax, who also was awarded the trophy for outstanding back.

Cal Wallops USF For 18th Straight Win

California breezed to its eighteenth straight victory last night with a 65-40 romp over the San Francisco Dons.

Big Darrall Imhoff, Cal's 6-10 center, paced the scoring with 16 in the Cal Bears' second win of the current season. Three other Bears hit double figures in the victory on the Dons' court. Tandy Gilils hit 12 and Bill McClintock and Dick Doughty bucketed 11 apiece.

Sophomore Bob Ralls led the inexperienced Dons with 9.

Three former Marin County high school stars saw action for the Dons. They were Ron Cox of Drake and Bill Breuner of Marin Catholic who each scored six points and Bill Gallagher of Drake who scored two.

Bill Leedom's 18 points paced St. Mary's runaway in the game with Sacramento State. The Gaels sprinted to a 29-9 lead in the first 10 minutes and then cleared their bench. Al Smith paced Sacramento with 14.

Short, Peppery Santa Clara Cage Hopeful Challenges Skyscrapers

HANLEY

This year's basketball rosters at Santa Clara, San Jose State, University of San Francisco and other Northern California schools are laden with names of young sophomores.

Of all the names none is more rhythmic or melodic than Adrian Osvaldo Buoncristiana Jr. Roll that on your tongue. It even has a fine, solid taste.

As a young man should be, Adrian Osvaldo Buoncristiana Jr., is mighty proud of his heritage. He was elected student body president of St. Ignatius High School in San Francisco on his full handle which required over-sized election cards.

Thus, when he went to Santa Clara it was only reasonable for him to expect that his full name, including the "Jr.," would be listed in the Bronc basketball brochure after he made the team this year as a sophomore.

Gene Perry, Santa Clara's news director, apologized to the young man when the listing appeared "Buoncristiana, Adrian Guard 5-4, 152, 19." Doesn't sound the same at all.

"I apologized to Ade," said Perry. "Yes, he already has the nickname of Ade. He's that kind of fellow, you know, a very likeable guy on whom teammates are quick to put a nickname.

"And, incidentally, you'll be hearing more about Ade as the season progresses. He is a ball hawk and excellent dribbler. Ade should shine brightly when Santa Clara's famous stall-pattern and press is necessary."

ADE IS THE pepperpot of the Bronc team. He almost ended his basketball career, however, before it started. After Bob Feerick, Bronc coach, concluded his pre-game dressing room talk for Santa Clara's season opener Dec. 1 at Chico State College, Ade grabbed a basketball and raced toward the door.

The rest of the team, moving slower than Ade, was admonished by him to hurry.

Then, whipping around without breaking stride, he ran face forward into the closed door.

IN THIS BASKETBALL age of towering men, it always is a joy to discover little 5-4 fellows like Ade wtih enough courage to challenge them.

We haven't seen Santa Clara in action yet this season but we hope Feerick spots Ade in the first Bronc game we catch. He might be a little fellow but he sure has a towering name.

IF THOSE All-America selectors don't pick Cal's Darrall Imhoff or St. Mary's Tom Meschery or both, we suggest they take a second look at Santa Clara's Frank Sobrero or College of Pacific's Leroy Wright.

Any one of the four is a most worthy candidate and Stanford's coach, Howie Dallmar, rates Imhoff and Meschery "among the 10 best in the country."

Duino Honored As Golf Pro Of Year

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—The Professional Golfers Assn. today at its forty-third annual meeting got down to the business of electing a successor to President Harold Sargent of Atlanta and other officers.

The executive committee and delegates from the 34 PGA districts make the selections. More than 250 are attending the meeting which ends Thursday.

Art Wall Jr. received the professional golfer of the year award and Eddie Duino the golf club professional of the year award at the president's dinner last night.

Wall, 36, of Pocono Manor, Pa., was elected by sports writers and sportscasters. Duino, pro at the San Jose, Calif., Country Club, was named by an anonymous committee of amateur golfers.

Jock Hutchison of Golf, Ill.; Paul Runyan of LaJolla, Calif.; and Harry Cooper of White Plains, N. Y., were inducted into the Hall of Fame during the banquet.

TRYING TO CATCH UP — Don Carter, four times national bowling champ, is behind in this year's world invitational tournament. He barely made the finals. Shown rolling yesterday, he predicted he would finish strong. Tournament winds up Friday night. (AP Wirephoto)

Longshots Hold Lead In World Keg Finals

CHICAGO (AP)—A pair of longshots led the field of 16 men and 16 women finalists today as firing resumes in the third annual World Invitational Bowling Tournament in the Chicago Coliseum.

Lou Frantz, a Louisville, Ky., bowling proprietor, shot into first place in the final four games last night, winding up the first round of head-to-head competition.

Frantz, who had finished fourth in the qualifying rounds, ended his day's schores with 13 wins and 3 losses and 80.34 Petersen points. He gave fans a couple of thrills in the qualifying rounds with games of 300 and 297. He posted series scores of 832, 845, 848 and 859 for an average of 211 plus. His pin total of 3,384 was topped by nine other finalists.

Olga Gloor, Chicago housewife, who finished 15th and last in the qualifying rounds, tok over the top spot in the women's division. Mrs. Gloor lost only one of seven games and ended the day's shooting with 40.38 points. Her pin total was 1,688.

Four four-game matches are on today's schedule for the men while the women will roll four two-game matches. This schedule continues through Friday.

Ingo Voted Fighter Of Year Honor

NEW YORK (AP) — Heavyweight Champion Ingemar Johansson of Sweden and Marv Jenson, fight manager, mink rancher and elder in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, are the winners of two of boxing's highest awards.

The undefeated, 27-year-old Swede was chosen "Fighter of the Year" yesterday. And Jenson, former mayor of West Jordan, Utah, and manager of NBA Middleweight Champion Gene Fullmer, was singled out today for the James J. Walker Award "for long and meritorious service to boxing."

Johansson will receive the Edward J. Neil Memorial Plaque, awarded annually by the Boxing Writers Assn.

Johansson's three-round destruction of Floyd Patterson in their title fight at Yankee Stadium, last June 26, earned the handsome Swede the nod over three other champions in the BWA's final voting. The others nominated were flyweight Pascaul Perez of Argentine, Lightweight Joe Brown of New Orleans and Fullmer.

Jenson, one of Utah's leading citizens, has been connected with boxing ever since he fought as a youngster. He was undefeated in 14 pro fights when he was stricken with Rocky Mountain spotter fever and had to hang up his gloves. But he never lost his deep interest in the sport.

The James J. Walker award is named in memory of the former New York mayor who introduced the boxing laws in New York. The Neil plaque is named in memory of the famed Associated Press sports writer who was killed while covering the Spanish Civil War in 1938.

STATISTICS

Conerly Takes Passing Lead From Unitas

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — New York's Charlie Conerly has displaced Baltimore's Johnny Unitas as the National Football League's top passer, but Unitas has set a league record.

Conerly completed 14 of 21 passes for 271 yards against Cleveland Sunday as he led the Giants to their second straight Eastern Conference title.

With one game to go, the former Mississippi star has gained 1,499 yards on 98 completed passes in 171 attempts, an 8.77 average, league statistics showed today.

He thus jumped from third to first in the passing division, relinquishing his old slot to Unitas, who has an 8.20 average on 180 completions in 340 attempts. He has gained 2,789 yards, the best in the league.

The Colts, however, scored three times Saturday on passes from their star quarterback, thus boosting Unitas' total to a record 29 touchdown passes.

The old NFL record of 28 for one season was held by Sid Luckman.

Jimmy Brown, of Cleveland, still holds a comfortable edge in the ground gaining department. The former Syracuse All-America has picked up 1,177 yards on 257 carries for a 4.6 average.

Baltimore's ace pass receiver, Ray Berry, is far ahead in his specialty. Berry has caught 63 passes for 936 yards and 12 touchdowns.

MOORE SECOND

Teammate Lenny Moore is second with 44 completions for 815 yards. Tommy McDonald, of Philadelphia, jumped from sixth to third in the standings. The fleet Eagle has caught 43 for 786 yards and 10 touchdowns.

The kicking toe of New York's Pat Summerall has kept him in first place among the scorers with 84 points.

Among the passers, Bill Wade of Los Angeles is seventh with 236 attempts and 138 completions for 1,754 yards and a 7.43-yard per throw average. Y. A. Tittle of San Francisco is ninth with 177 attempts and 89 completions for 1,198 and 6.77. Eddie LeBaron, the Californian playing for Washington is 10th with 138 attempts and 63 completions for 929 and 6.73.

J. D. Smith of San Francisco is second among the ground gainers with 188 attempts for 916 yards, an average of 4.9. Ollie Matson of Los Angeles is third with 808 yards in 157 carries for a 5.1 average.

Del Shofner of Los Angeles is the fourth pass catcher, with 42 receptions for 855 yards. Frank Gifford, a Californian playing for New York, is sixth with 39 for 727, Billy Wilson of San Francisco seventh with 39 for 499, Jim Phillips of Los Angeles 10th with 34 for 464, and Jon Arnett of Los Angeles 12th with 34 for 344.

LISTON CHOICE OVER GERMAN IN TV TONIGHT

CLEVELAND (AP)—Hard-hitting Sonny Liston, who wants a crack at the heavyweight title, is favored to score his 19th straight victory tonight in a 10-rounder with Willie Besmanoff.

The 27-year-old Liston, of Philadelphia, ranks third among the heavyweight contenders. A 5-1 favorite to whip the German-born Besmanoff, Liston has lost only once in 26 fights. He has knocked out 16 opponents.

Besmanoff, who fights out of Milwaukee, has been knocked out only once, in the first of 64 fights. He has won 41, lost 16 and had seven draws, with 15 of his victories ending in knockouts.

Besmanoff, 27, dropped a unanimous decision in a dull bout with Eddie Machen on Sept. 16.

Casing Flattens Wiggins In Two At Richmond

RICHMOND (UPI)—Thirteen proved no jinx for Stockton bantamweight Benny Casing as he ran his win string to that number with a second round knockout over Chuck Wiggins of Oakland here last night.

Casing dropped Wiggins flat on his back with a swift left to the stomach. He was counted out after 1:06 of the second round. Casing weighed 120, Wiggins 117.

Preliminaries:

Joe Sullivan, 190, San Francisco, dec. Andy Issac, 183, San Jose (6).

Ray Salaz, Oakland, drew with Jimmy George, 129, Oakland (6).

The odds against a 300 game in the American Bowling Congress Tournament are 365,655 to 1. In 56 ABC events only 15 perfect games have been rolled.

NO MORE TARGETS LEFT

Billy Cannon, Louisiana State's two-time All-America halfback, named yesterday as "Back of the Year," points to place on Heisman Trophy, another of his many honors, where his name will be engraved. Cannon will receive his Heisman Trophy from Vice President Richard Nixon at a dinner tonight. (AP Wirephoto)

Retired Ump Hopes To Stay In Baseball

BALTIMORE (AP) — Eddie Rommel, an American League pitcher for 13 years and an umpire for 22, isn't ready to just sit in the stands yet.

The American League retired him Monday and Rommel, who was 62 on Sept. 13, received the news from Associated Press with mixed reactions.

"I haven't anything in mind," said Rommel, whose active association with major league baseball goes back to 1920. "I'd like to do something to occupy my mind."

HOPES TO STAY

He expressed hope he would be "contacted by someone" in baseball.

Besides pitching for the Philadelphia Athletics and umpiring, Rommel's baseball experience includes coaching and managing.

In 1922, Rommel's 27 victories were best in the American League and he was runner up to George Sisler as most valuable. He had a 21-10 record in 1925.

Rommel disclosed in 1956 that he was the first major league umpire to wear eyeglasses at work. He hastened to add, "I don't need them for work at the plate or in the daytime. I got them just for night games when I'm on the bases."

Promoter Moves For Fullmer Bout With Sugar Ray

BOSTON (AP) — Matchmaker Sam Silverman is attempting to secure a middleweight title fight between NBA world champion Gene Fullmer and the winner of the Sugar Ray Robinson-Paul Pender bout.

Silverman said last night he offered Fullmer's manager, Marv Jenson, $100,000 plus 25 per cent of the live gate, for a title fight in Boston in March. He made the offer in a wire to Jenson in West Jordan, Utah, Silverman said.

Robinson, recognized as the middleweight champion in New York and Massachusetts, has signed to fight Pender in a title bout in Boston Jan. 22.

Silverman said both Robinson and Pender, of Brookline, Mass., have agreed to the Fullmer fight.

Little Schools Grow Big Pro Grid Stars

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Arnold . . . Compton . . . Scottsbluff . . . Florence Teachers . . . Mt. Diablo High . . . Miller High . . . Sam Houston . . . Murray State . . . Bethune-Cookman

Mention these names to the average football fan and he will probably reward you with a blank stare. He should react with open mouth amazement when you tell him that from these institutions, little known outside their areas, come some of the finest pro football players in the land.

A study of National Football League rosters disclosed this and a number of other interesting statistics that would make a figure filbert's heart sing. For example there are 431 active NFL players from 140 colleges, universities, junior colleges and high school.

Take the list referred to above. From Arnold College in Connecticut comes Andy Robustelli, standout defensive star for the New York Giants now in his ninth season. Compton (Calif.) Junior College contributed a 207-pound powerhouse known as Joe (Jet) Perry of the San Francisco 49ers.

Dick (Night Train) Lane, an eight year defensive ace of the Chicago Cardinals, calls Scottsbluff Junior College Neb., his alma mater. Then, there are such greats as:

Here are some figures which will help settle those off season debates as to which teams provide most of the pro stars. The Big Ten has 63 former players on the 12 NFL teams. Michigan State has 13 and Purdue with 12 lead the way for the Western Conference.

Next comes the Southeastern Conference with 60 in the play-for-pay ranks. Mississippi, Tennessee, Georgia and Louisiana State claim seven each. The Southwest Conference, led by Southern Methodist's 10, Bayro's 8 and 7 each from Arkansas and Texas A&M can brag about 47 active pros.

Other conference breakdowns show the Pacific Coast conference with 42, the Atlantic Coast Conferench 27, the Southern Conference 15 and 8 from the Missouri Valley Conferences.

On a team level, Notre Dame leads the field with 16 post graduate footballers. Michigan State and Maryland each have 13; Purdue, 12; Southern California, 11; Southern Methodist, 10; Pittsburgh, 9, and Rice, Baylor, Oregon, College of Pacific and Oklahoma 8 each. Three players, Lipscomb, Gonzaga and Tom Wilson, Los Angeles, have no college background.

Three-School Merger Postponed For Year

There will be no merger of the Burdell School District with the Lincoln and Union districts this year, it was announced today by James Grossi, clerk of the Burdell school board.

The proposed merger, under discussion for some time among the three districts, would have had to be voted upon on or before next Jan. 19 to be effective next school year, Grossi said. Notice would have to be filed with the county clerk 75 days in advance, a deadline now passed.

The 14 pupils of the Burdell district are now using the facilities of Our Lady of Loretto School in Novato. The one-room Burdell School was burned by vandals in November of 1958.

The district's contract with Our Lady of Loretto School runs through the current school year. A decision on where to locate the pupils during the 1960-61 school year, will be reached through joint meetings with the other two districts, Grossi said.

STOCKS TODAY

COMBINED AP & UPI

NEW YORK—The stock market ran into some heavy selling around the close today, especially in the blue chips which yesterday helped put the market within touching distance of the all-time high.

Volume for the day was estimated at three and one-half million shares compared with 3,870,000 yesterday.

Losses of fractions to a point or a bit more were the rule for most key stocks.

Some took wider losses, notably American Motors, down about four. The electronics group also showed greater losses than the list as a whole, Texas Instruments and Motorola falling more than three apiece and Ampex about four.

Mother, Boys Slightly Hurt In Collisions

A Mill Valley mother driving her two children home from San Rafael last night in a borrowed car struck a truck twice, inflicting injuries on herself and the children.

Mrs. Patricia Evans of 20 Shelly drive, having been at a motel restaurant with her children, Nicholas, 8, and Christopher 5, borrowed a car from a friend there and started south on Highway 101, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Mercer Jack Johnson, 44, of Marin City, told the patrol that he saw the Evans car coming up fast behind him.

"First she hit my truck on the left rear," he said. "Her car went back, then she came up again and hit on the right rear."

As Johnson stopped, he said, the Evans car went ahead to cross the southbound lane and stop on the divider strip.

Mrs. Evans and her children were given emergency treatment at Marin General Hospital for cuts and bruises.

Mosk Says 6,000 In State Use Dope

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California's known narcotics users number 6,000 in the six months since such records were started, Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk says.

And the numbers are growing at the alarming rate, he told the state senate committee on judiciary yesterday. The committee is getting testimony on penalties for dope users and sellers.

"Our information indicates," he added, "that 75 per cent of all illicit narcotics in California originates in California originates in Mexico. We must be aware of the sensibilities of our good neighbors to the south but facts are facts."

HUB CITY

with less authority had been proposed by the mayor.

Smith, however, said the decision to place the matter on the ballot had ben reached subsequently, and he now thinks the appointment should be held up to learn the wishes of the electorate.

Mrs. Booth se vrdeon

Mrs. Booth served notice that Flautt can expect no more enthusiastic support from her than was received by his predecessor, City Manager Brewer.

"We were in a heck of a muddle," she declared, "due to a former council who thought they were very clever manipulators. . . . By the time we got rid of the city manager, we were in a mess. . . ."

Since Brewer's departure, she said, "I have watched each and every office work, and they have worked to peak capacity. There has ben no dissension for the first time in two years. . . . You can't give your boys a raise but you can go right out and hire an administrator." (She referred to her recent unsuccessful attempts to get a 5 per cent pay hike for city employees.)

"You wanted an administrator!" exclaimed Councilman Carleton G. Little.

She also objected that Flautt "hasn't worked at the job for some time and was a good friend of the former city manager."

"Are you against this man because he's a friend of Mr. Brewer?" demanded Franchini.

"Yes," said Mrs. Booth.

"I had a friend check on Flautt," said Franchini. "He did a remarkable job for the city of Sanger."

Councilman Jordan L. Martinelli added that Flautt is aware that the job will be subject to the result of the April election "but is willing to take the chance."

"You said he was a glad-hander," declared Mrs. Booth, turning to Martinelli.

"I did," admitted Martinelli, "but I think the city needs a glad-hander. Public relations are important."

Flautt left the city manager of Sanger, a city of about 10,000 population, recently, after five years' service, when, at his suggestion, the job was combined with that of city engineer-public works director.

Before becoming Sanger city manager, he held municipal posts in Montrose, Colo., and in Visalia and San Jose.

He was born in Manteca and is a graduate of San Jose State College, where he also took post-graduate work in public administration. He is married and has four children.

Big Explosion Jars German Border Area

LUEBECK, Germany (AP) — An explosion shook the border region between East and West Germany today. West German police say they believe a Communist explosives depot blew up.

Officials said they heard two detonations and observed a 1,200-foot smoke cloud about a mile inside East Germany. The shock wave shattered windows in several houses on the West German side.

Police recalled small detonations had been heard from East Germany in the last few days. They said it appeared East German guards wanted to clear a wooded area for better control of the border.

The West German authorities theorized the charges used in this clearing work had been stored at a depot which blew up today, either by accident or sabotage.

Gene E. Mortley, 17 Rogue Moraes drive; Walter Merila, 70 Heather way, and Leland K. Spragle, 10 Shelly drive, all of Mill Valley.

The two gunmen also took a wrist watch belonging to Benjamin, but in their haste to leave the store ignored the wallets of the three customers.

Delasaux said his two clerks told him they believe the men may have been drug addicts, judging from their agitated appearance.

He said he believes they may be the same men who a day or so ago held up a store in Santa Clara. He said he based this on an all-points bulletin issued from Santa Clara giving almost the same descriptions.

DeLasaux, who was not in the vicinity during the holdup, said the two clerks and the three customers were told to "lay quiet for five minutes."

Officer Carl Mead heard the alarm and was the first to reach the store. Officer D. Terzich is handling the investigation.

COSTS

ed Eugene K. Sturgis, attorney for the assessment district, who happened to be in the supervisors' chamber on another matter.

The board indicated that it shared this view after a desultory effort to evaluate prospects of raising any more money.

"We formed an assessment district and raised $30,000 instead of $13,000," said Mrs. Schultz. "But . . ."

She then made and the board unanimously passed a motion to put the matter on next Tuesday's agenda.

The letter said the re-analysis was made "as result of comments on the detailed project report by the State of California and the divisional engineer of the Corps of Engineers."

It pointed out that the federal contribution has a $400,000 statutory limitation imposed by Public Law 685.

It added that no "land enhancement benefits as interpreted by the federal government" were to be brought about by the project, also that "because of the increased cost the economic justification for construction of the project is marginal."

Then came the demand to know, quick, where Marin County stood on picking up a $114,000 tab in addition to the $13,000 one already in prospect.

Man Jailed After Marin City Blaze

An unemployed man, suspected of accidentally setting fire to a washroom in Building A-31, was booked in jail yesterday for drunkenness and vagrancy.

Sheriff's Deputy Harold Sleezer identified the suspect as Earl Prentis Perry, 56, who has no home and no occupation. Sleezer said witnesses saw Perry stagger out of the washroom about two minutes before the fire flared up about 3 p.m. He appeared to be intoxicated when Sleezer intercepted him near Building A-1. Inside the washroom, a mattress was ablaze. Investigators said Perry may have been sleeping on the mattress and set it on fire with a cigarette.

OBITUARIES

Novato Man Found Dead Of Gunshot

A retired cook, living alone in a Novato home, carefully addressed Christmas cards for friends, put his house in order, and shot himself to death in his back yard, sheriff's deputies reported last night.

Deputy Gerald Fries found the body of Charles Lambert, 74, of 1689 Indian Valley road, lying in his back yard with a .22 caliber revolver clutched in his right hand. Lambert, a bachelor, left a suicide note in the living room.

Funeral arrangements were pending at Redwood Chapel in Novato this morning.

Lambert had lived in Marin for about 20 years. His friends and neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. George of 1671 Indian Valley road, first noticed something amiss yesterday. Mrs. George, who saw Lambert Sunday, said they had not heard from him for several days.

Yesterday, she telephoned him and knocked on his door several times without getting any answer. She left a note under the door. Last night, she and her husband entered and spotted the suicide note in the living room. It was dated Dec. 8. They called the sheriff.

Fries said everything in the house was in neat order. The Christmas cards were arranged neatly in a box ready for mailing. About 60 yards to the rear of the house, across a creek, the officer found the body, fully clothed, face up.

Technologist, Cook Book Editor Likes International Tang Recipes

Joe Bell, senior laboratory technologist at San Rafael General Hospital, is a triple-threat man when it comes to hobbies. He is an amateur potter, and has taken numerous classes under Edwin Cadogan at the College of Marin. He has studied photography there under Ken Molino, in an effort, as he puts it, to take his pictures "out of the snapshot class."

His third hobby is cooking, although he considers this hardly a hobby, but a day-to-day matter.

"We have to eat," he says. "Why not make it interesting."

His interest in cooking dates from boyhood days in Santa Maria, where he cooked at home and was camp cook, by choice, on trips with other boys. Before the days of easily available charcoal, he used oak wood for barbecuing and cooked over its coals. And he devised a way to smoke meats.

After attending the University of Southern California, Bell was a chief pharmacist's mate in the Navy during World War II. He took advantage of a tour of duty in Guam to talk to the natives about cooking and to eat in native homes.

Bell's interest in cooking is well known at San Rafael General where in January he will observe his tenth anniversary as technologist at the local unit of the Marin Medical Laboratories.

He was a natural choice for the job of editor of the hospital's new cook book, "Favorite Fare." Now that is off the press, so he can go back to his pottery, pictures, and cooking.

Bell's idea of giving variety and interest to the daily business of eating is to try different recipes. He has experimented with French, Italian, Chinese, and lately, Japanese cooking. Sometimes he takes several days to collect the ingredients for a special dish.

The Bells like to entertain in their Corte Madera home, planning menus together. But he leaves the dessert and baking to his wife, he says.

Make Holiday Cake Act As Centerpiece

When it comes to holiday dinners, the appearance of the festive board is as important a part of the traditional scene as the food you serve. Glowing candles, fragrant pine boughs, and bright balls are always lovely — but here's an idea that's really different! Why not make your holiday cake itself the centerpiece for your table — by baking it in one of the traditional Christmas shapes?

For instance, what could be more unusual decoration for buffet or dinner table than a cake baked and frosted to look like an outsize Christmas candle? This centerpiece would be a real conversation piece, too, yet it's surprisingly easy to make. It starts with a package of Pound Cake Mix, which you bake in a can to produce the long candle shape. The cake is frosted with Fluffy White Frosting Mix, trimmed with colorful gumdrop pieces; a marshmallow, coated with yellow-tinted frosting, makes the candle flame.

The traditional Christmas wreath can go to your table as a delicious angel cake — and if the cake is Pineapple-Lemon Angel Cake, what a light, right touch it is after a hearty holiday meal! To make this handsome centerpiece, bake the angel food mix in a tube pan as usual, and spread with Fluffy White Frosting. Then, turn it into a wreath by adding green tinted coconut and groups of maraschino cherries placed to resemble bunches of holly.

CHRISTMAS CANDLE CAKE

1 package Loaf-size Pound Cake Mix
1 egg
1 package Fluffy White Frosting Mix
½ cup boiling water
1 marshmallow yellow food coloring gumdrops

Prepare Loaf-size Pound cake Mix as directed on package. Pour batter into a can about 4 inches in diameter and at least 5 inches deep, which has been well greased and lightly floured on the bottom only. Bake at 350° for 45 to 50 minutes. Frost cooled cake with Fluffy White Frosting, reserving ¼ cup. Tint reserved frosting with a few drops yellow food coloring; frost marshmallow to resemble flame and place on top of cake (anchor with wooden picks if necessary). Use gumdrop pieces to trim sides of candle.

ANGEL WREATH CAKE

1 package Pineapple-lemon Angel Food Mix
1¼ cups water
1 package Fluffy White Frosting Mix
½ cup boiling water
½ cup coconut
green food coloring
maraschino cherries

Prepare and bake Pineapple-lemon Angel Food Mix in ungreased 10-inch tube pan as directed on package. Prepare Fluffy White Frosting Mix as directed; frost cooled cake. Sprinkle green-tinted coconut on top and sides of cake. (To tint coconut, combine few teaspoons water with green food coloring and sprinkle over coco nut; toss until coconut absorbs color.) Garnish with pieces of maraschino cherries, grouped to resemble holly berries. Place a large red bow at base of wreath.

Not Too Hot

When adding meringues as toppings to pies and other desserts, be sure the temperature of the filling or food to be covered is not too hot or the meringue will "cry." If the food is too cold, the meringue will collapse and "leak." For perfect meringues, pile the stiffly beat-room-temperature foods. Bake en egg whites on luke-warm or or boil at a high temperature for a short time.

It's easy to make this wonderful punch for your family and friends during the Christmas and New Year's holidays. Chill a can of Ping or Pong or Pi-Li . . . pour it into a bowl. This is ready-to-serve punch with the taste of real fruit because it's made from fresh fruit. Each flavor is different, delicious. All are non-carbonated; enriched with Vitamin C.

Tam, Redwood Co-Favored In Cage Tourney This Weekend

First official varsity basketball function of the new Marin County Athletic League will take place Friday and Saturday of this week when all six schools send their cagers into the first annual league tournament.

To be held at Redwood High, the tournament will present three games Friday night and a full, five-game program on Saturday.

Friday night's opening games, according to Tournament Director Bob Troppman, will be: San Rafael vs. Drake at 6:30 o'clock, Marin Catholic vs. Tamalpais at 7:45 and Novato vs. Redwood at 9.

The Drake-San Rafael contest will not be counted in tournament standings because those teams drew a first round bye and automatically advance into Saturday's championship round.

Saturday's big schedule starts off at 1:30 p.m. and games will follow at 2:45, 6:30, 7:45 and the championship battle at 9 o'clock.

Redwood and Tamalpais have been rated co-favorites and are expected to be in the finals.

Friday's games will be played in eight-minute quarters while Saturday's tilts will be shortened to five-minute quarters.

Only one trophy — for the championship team — will be awarded. Original plans called for first, second and third place team trophies, similar awards to the outstanding player and best cheering section and cups to the All-Tournament team, but league principles ruled against the extra "hardware." An All-Tournament team will be selected, however.

New Loop To Seek Aid From Congress

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Branch Rickey's four-month tug-o'-war with baseball's higher echelon for recognition and admission of his embattled Continental League into the major league circle may wind up in the courts, it was learned today.

William Shea, founder of the circuit, currently limited to six teams, has just about convinced Rickey the time has come to seek congressional aid in their bid to become a third major league. This was reliably reported to The Associated Press by a source closely connected with the embryo circuit.

Only a clear-cut stand on expansion by the American League—either yes or no—will deter the 78-year-old president of the Continental League from making this grave decision. The American League announced Monday that at the present time it had no plans to expand but that it had reached no definite decision on future expansion because of a number of problems which could not presently be resolved.

A. L. President Joe Cronin added that expansion was inevitable and instructed his fact-finding committee to continue its study.

"The American League decision is not satisfactory to us," the source said. "Cronin had promised us a yes-or-no answer. He hasn't lived up to that promise. Unless the American League tells us it will expand and makes its selection of cities, or declares emphatically and unequivocally that it has absolutely no intention of expanding, I'm afraid the only recourse is for us to go to the courts."

'NO COMMENT'

Cronin refused to comment on Rickey's assertion that he had offered to release any two cities the American League desired if it was sincere about expansion.

"There is no indication at this time," said Joe, "that the American League intends to expand in 1961, 1962, 1963, 1964 or 1956. I made it clear the A. L. will not delay the Continental League from going forward with the completion of its organization.

"It looks as though they have problems and are trying to blame them on us."

Cronin referred to the fact that the Continental League currently is comprised of only six members. Atlanta joined the founding five yesterday. The original franchise holders were Toronto, Houston, Denver, Minneapolis-St. Paul and New York.

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick also denied he was deterring the new league.

"When they get eight teams, I'll be behind them 100 per cent," he said. "I cannot subscribe to the theory that there is a road block. It's just impossible for anyone to say 'we are never going to expand.' I interpret the A. L. statement that it is not going to expand. To me it was perfectly clear that the A. L. gave the Continental League the go-ahead sign.

"It seems to me that instead of trying to hang the hat on somebody else, the time has come for the Continental League to act and not alibi."

TRADES

Chisox Pulled A Fast One, Lane Charges

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Baseball men tipped their hats to the White Sox today for making the best deals of the meetings despite Frank Lane's angry accusation that they had "pulled a fast one" in their latest trade with the Phillies.

Lane was steaming and he didn't care who knew it over the deal in which the White Sox obtained hard-hitting third baseman Gene Freese from the Phils for rookie outfielder Johnny Callison.

The burned-up Cleveland general manager said he believed the White Sox were promised Freese before they traded third baseman-outfielder Bubba Phillips to his club in a seven-man deal last Sunday.

"I never thought the White Sox could get Freese," Lane snapped. "In fact, John Quinn (general manager of the Phillies) told me he wouldn't trade him. I sort of figured they'd get a third baseman, but never dreamed it would be someone like Freese. Now they've got one helluva ball club."

BID FOR TEMPLE

Up until the moment he left here last night, Lane still was trying to swing another deal for Cleveland. He offered Cal McLish, Billy Martin and minor league pitcher Dick Stigman to Gabe Paul of Cincinnati for Johnny Temple. Paul rode all the way out to the airport with Lane trying to get him to substitute another pitcher for Stigman.

Several other deals still were in the works as the meetings wound up, and the general managers involved said there was a good chance some would be completed before the end of the inter-league trading period on Dec. 15.

The Phillies offered veteran center-fielder Richie Ashburn to Washington for either Russ Kemmerer or Tex Clevenger and one of three infielders—Reno Bertoia, Ken Aspromonte or Billy Consolo.

Another deal on the fire involved Billy Gardner and Joe Ginsberg of the Orioles and Clint Courtney and Hal Griggs of the Senators.

Cleveland joined Milwaukee and San Francisco in the bidding for Don Blasingame of the Cardinals.

"I'll talk with all of them again soon," said Cardinal G. M. Bing Devine, "and maybe something will materialize."

White Named Drake High's Top Gridder

Paul White, all-around athlete from San Anselmo and first string tackle on the Sir Francis Drake High School varsity football team, won the prized "Most Valuable Player" award last night at the 1959 varsity awards dinner.

The dinner, for players and parents, was sponsored by the Drake High School Benchwarmers at Sleepy Hollow School.

The speaker was John J. Connolly, sports columnist for the Independent-Journal and former sports editor and writer in San Francisco, Los Angeles and Oakland.

White, a senior at Drake, also is first string catcher on the Pirate baseball team and a few years ago was a star of the San Anselmo Little League and Junior League baseball organization.

Three awards—most to any player—went to Alden Sievers, Lagunitas senior who was varsity center. He won the outstanding lineman trophy, the scholarship award and a co-captaincy voted by his teammates.

OUTSTANDING BACK

Winner of the other co-captaincy was Sam Johnson, junior quarterback from Fairfax, who also was awarded the trophy for outstanding back.

Cal Wallops USF For 18th Straight Win

California breezed to its eighteenth straight victory last night with a 65-40 romp over the San Francisco Dons.

Big Darrall Imhoff, Cal's 6-10 center, paced the scoring with 16 in the Cal Bears' second win of the current season. Three other Bears hit double figures in the victory on the Dons' court. Tandy Gilils hit 12 and Bill McClintock and Dick Doughty bucketed 11 apiece.

Sophomore Bob Ralls led the inexperienced Dons with 9.

Three former Marin County high school stars saw action for the Dons. They were Ron Cox of Drake and Bill Breuner of Marin Catholic who each scored six points and Bill Gallagher of Drake who scored two.

Bill Leedom's 18 points paced St. Mary's runaway in the game with Sacramento State. The Gaels sprinted to a 29-9 lead in the first 10 minutes and then cleared their bench. Al Smith paced Sacramento with 14.

Short, Peppery Santa Clara Cage Hopeful Challenges Skyscrapers

HANLEY

This year's basketball rosters at Santa Clara, San Jose State, University of San Francisco and other Northern California schools are laden with names of young sophomores.

Of all the names none is more rhythmic or melodic than Adrian Osvaldo Buoncristiana Jr. Roll that on your tongue. It even has a fine, solid taste.

As a young man should be, Adrian Osvaldo Buoncristiana Jr., is mighty proud of his heritage. He was elected student body president of St. Ignatius High School in San Francisco on his full handle which required over-sized election cards.

Thus, when he went to Santa Clara it was only reasonable for him to expect that his full name, including the "Jr.," would be listed in the Bronc basketball brochure after he made the team this year as a sophomore.

Gene Perry, Santa Clara's news director, apologized to the young man when the listing appeared "Buoncristiana, Adrian Guard 5-4, 152, 19." Doesn't sound the same at all.

"I apologized to Ade," said Perry. "Yes, he already has the nickname of Ade. He's that kind of fellow, you know, a very likeable guy on whom teammates are quick to put a nickname.

"And, incidentally, you'll be hearing more about Ade as the season progresses. He is a ball hawk and excellent dribbler. Ade should shine brightly when Santa Clara's famous stall-pattern and press is necessary."

ADE IS THE pepperpot of the Bronc team. He almost ended his basketball career, however, before it started. After Bob Feerick, Bronc coach, concluded his pre-game dressing room talk for Santa Clara's season opener Dec. 1 at Chico State College, Ade grabbed a basketball and raced toward the door.

The rest of the team, moving slower than Ade, was admonished by him to hurry.

Then, whipping around without breaking stride, he ran face forward into the closed door.

IN THIS BASKETBALL age of towering men, it always is a joy to discover little 5-4 fellows like Ade wtih enough courage to challenge them.

We haven't seen Santa Clara in action yet this season but we hope Feerick spots Ade in the first Bronc game we catch. He might be a little fellow but he sure has a towering name.

IF THOSE All-America selectors don't pick Cal's Darrall Imhoff or St. Mary's Tom Meschery or both, we suggest they take a second look at Santa Clara's Frank Sobrero or College of Pacific's Leroy Wright.

Any one of the four is a most worthy candidate and Stanford's coach, Howie Dallmar, rates Imhoff and Meschery "among the 10 best in the country."

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Five pass receivers on the West squad for the Jan. 2 Shrine East-West Game accounted for a mile gained through the air during the 1959 collegiate season.

Chris Burford of Stanford caught 61 for 757 yards and six touchdowns. His teammate, Ben Robinson, caught 34 for 594 and two touchdowns.

All told, that accounted for 20 touchdowns and 2,399 yards or more than a mile.

Passer Don Meredith of SMU completed 69 passes for 804 yards while Jim Walden of Wyoming hit on 45 for 882.

Buck Shaw Named Coach Of East In Pro-Bowl Tilt

Shaw will be opposed by Red Hickey of the San Francisco 49ers who will direct the Western Conference team in the annual football classic at the Coliseum.

Shaw previously coached the 49ers and in 1955 was head coach for the West in the Pro Bowl. So far this year Shaw's Eagle squad has a 7-4 record in the National Football League's Eastern Conference standings.

Schloredt Named Top Coast Gridder

Schloredt, a junior, will receive the trophy Dec. 28 at the football writers' Rose Bowl luncheon in Pasadena. Schloredt will lead the Washington Huskies against Wisconsin in the Rose Bowl New Year's Day.

TRYING TO CATCH UP — Don Carter, four times national bowling champ, is behind in this year's world invitational tournament. He barely made the finals. Shown rolling yesterday, he predicted he would finish strong. Tournament winds up Friday night. (AP Wirephoto)

Longshots Hold Lead In World Keg Finals

CHICAGO (AP)—A pair of longshots led the field of 16 men and 16 women finalists today as firing resumes in the third annual World Invitational Bowling Tournament in the Chicago Coliseum.

Lou Frantz, a Louisville, Ky., bowling proprietor, shot into first place in the final four games last night, winding up the first round of head-to-head competition.

Frantz, who had finished fourth in the qualifying rounds, ended his day's schores with 13 wins and 3 losses and 80.34 Petersen points. He gave fans a couple of thrills in the qualifying rounds with games of 300 and 297. He posted series scores of 832, 845, 848 and 859 for an average of 211 plus. His pin total of 3,384 was topped by nine other finalists.

Olga Gloor, Chicago housewife, who finished 15th and last in the qualifying rounds, tok over the top spot in the women's division. Mrs. Gloor lost only one of seven games and ended the day's shooting with 40.38 points. Her pin total was 1,688.

Four four-game matches are on today's schedule for the men while the women will roll four two-game matches. This schedule continues through Friday.

Ingo Voted Fighter Of Year Honor

NEW YORK (AP) — Heavyweight Champion Ingemar Johansson of Sweden and Marv Jenson, fight manager, mink rancher and elder in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, are the winners of two of boxing's highest awards.

The undefeated, 27-year-old Swede was chosen "Fighter of the Year" yesterday. And Jenson, former mayor of West Jordan, Utah, and manager of NBA Middleweight Champion Gene Fullmer, was singled out today for the James J. Walker Award "for long and meritorious service to boxing."

Johansson will receive the Edward J. Neil Memorial Plaque, awarded annually by the Boxing Writers Assn.

Johansson's three-round destruction of Floyd Patterson in their title fight at Yankee Stadium, last June 26, earned the handsome Swede the nod over three other champions in the BWA's final voting. The others nominated were flyweight Pascaul Perez of Argentine, Lightweight Joe Brown of New Orleans and Fullmer.

Jenson, one of Utah's leading citizens, has been connected with boxing ever since he fought as a youngster. He was undefeated in 14 pro fights when he was stricken with Rocky Mountain spotter fever and had to hang up his gloves. But he never lost his deep interest in the sport.

The James J. Walker award is named in memory of the former New York mayor who introduced the boxing laws in New York. The Neil plaque is named in memory of the famed Associated Press sports writer who was killed while covering the Spanish Civil War in 1938.

STATISTICS

Conerly Takes Passing Lead From Unitas

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — New York's Charlie Conerly has displaced Baltimore's Johnny Unitas as the National Football League's top passer, but Unitas has set a league record.

Conerly completed 14 of 21 passes for 271 yards against Cleveland Sunday as he led the Giants to their second straight Eastern Conference title.

With one game to go, the former Mississippi star has gained 1,499 yards on 98 completed passes in 171 attempts, an 8.77 average, league statistics showed today.

He thus jumped from third to first in the passing division, relinquishing his old slot to Unitas, who has an 8.20 average on 180 completions in 340 attempts. He has gained 2,789 yards, the best in the league.

The Colts, however, scored three times Saturday on passes from their star quarterback, thus boosting Unitas' total to a record 29 touchdown passes.

The old NFL record of 28 for one season was held by Sid Luckman.

Jimmy Brown, of Cleveland, still holds a comfortable edge in the ground gaining department. The former Syracuse All-America has picked up 1,177 yards on 257 carries for a 4.6 average.

Baltimore's ace pass receiver, Ray Berry, is far ahead in his specialty. Berry has caught 63 passes for 936 yards and 12 touchdowns.

MOORE SECOND

Teammate Lenny Moore is second with 44 completions for 815 yards. Tommy McDonald, of Philadelphia, jumped from sixth to third in the standings. The fleet Eagle has caught 43 for 786 yards and 10 touchdowns.

The kicking toe of New York's Pat Summerall has kept him in first place among the scorers with 84 points.

Among the passers, Bill Wade of Los Angeles is seventh with 236 attempts and 138 completions for 1,754 yards and a 7.43-yard per throw average. Y. A. Tittle of San Francisco is ninth with 177 attempts and 89 completions for 1,198 and 6.77. Eddie LeBaron, the Californian playing for Washington is 10th with 138 attempts and 63 completions for 929 and 6.73.

J. D. Smith of San Francisco is second among the ground gainers with 188 attempts for 916 yards, an average of 4.9. Ollie Matson of Los Angeles is third with 808 yards in 157 carries for a 5.1 average.

Del Shofner of Los Angeles is the fourth pass catcher, with 42 receptions for 855 yards. Frank Gifford, a Californian playing for New York, is sixth with 39 for 727, Billy Wilson of San Francisco seventh with 39 for 499, Jim Phillips of Los Angeles 10th with 34 for 464, and Jon Arnett of Los Angeles 12th with 34 for 344.

LISTON CHOICE OVER GERMAN IN TV TONIGHT

CLEVELAND (AP)—Hard-hitting Sonny Liston, who wants a crack at the heavyweight title, is favored to score his 19th straight victory tonight in a 10-rounder with Willie Besmanoff.

The 27-year-old Liston, of Philadelphia, ranks third among the heavyweight contenders. A 5-1 favorite to whip the German-born Besmanoff, Liston has lost only once in 26 fights. He has knocked out 16 opponents.

Besmanoff, who fights out of Milwaukee, has been knocked out only once, in the first of 64 fights. He has won 41, lost 16 and had seven draws, with 15 of his victories ending in knockouts.

Besmanoff, 27, dropped a unanimous decision in a dull bout with Eddie Machen on Sept. 16.

Tonight's fight is the feature event of the 34th annual Cleveland News Toyshop Fund boxing show. It will be televised nationally (ABC, 7 p.m., P.S.T.) with Cleveland area blacked out.

Casing Flattens Wiggins In Two At Richmond

RICHMOND (UPI)—Thirteen proved no jinx for Stockton bantamweight Benny Casing as he ran his win string to that number with a second round knockout over Chuck Wiggins of Oakland here last night.

Casing dropped Wiggins flat on his back with a swift left to the stomach. He was counted out after 1:06 of the second round. Casing weighed 120, Wiggins 117.

Preliminaries:

Joe Sullivan, 190, San Francisco, dec. Andy Issac, 183, San Jose (6).

Ray Salaz, Oakland, drew with Jimmy George, 129, Oakland (6).

The odds against a 300 game in the American Bowling Congress Tournament are 365,655 to 1. In 56 ABC events only 15 perfect games have been rolled.

NO MORE TARGETS LEFT

Billy Cannon, Louisiana State's two-time All-America halfback, named yesterday as "Back of the Year," points to place on Heisman Trophy, another of his many honors, where his name will be engraved. Cannon will receive his Heisman Trophy from Vice President Richard Nixon at a dinner tonight. (AP Wirephoto)

Retired Ump Hopes To Stay In Baseball

BALTIMORE (AP) — Eddie Rommel, an American League pitcher for 13 years and an umpire for 22, isn't ready to just sit in the stands yet.

The American League retired him Monday and Rommel, who was 62 on Sept. 13, received the news from Associated Press with mixed reactions.

"I haven't anything in mind," said Rommel, whose active association with major league baseball goes back to 1920. "I'd like to do something to occupy my mind."

HOPES TO STAY

He expressed hope he would be "contacted by someone" in baseball.

Besides pitching for the Philadelphia Athletics and umpiring, Rommel's baseball experience includes coaching and managing.

In 1922, Rommel's 27 victories were best in the American League and he was runner up to George Sisler as most valuable. He had a 21-10 record in 1925.

Rommel disclosed in 1956 that he was the first major league umpire to wear eyeglasses at work. He hastened to add, "I don't need them for work at the plate or in the daytime. I got them just for night games when I'm on the bases."

Promoter Moves For Fullmer Bout With Sugar Ray

Silverman said last night he offered Fullmer's manager, Marv Jenson, $100,000 plus 25 per cent of the live gate, for a title fight in Boston in March. He made the offer in a wire to Jenson in West Jordan, Utah, Silverman said.

Robinson, recognized as the middleweight champion in New York and Massachusetts, has signed to fight Pender in a title bout in Boston Jan. 22.

Silverman said both Robinson and Pender, of Brookline, Mass., have agreed to the Fullmer fight.

Little Schools Grow Big Pro Grid Stars

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Arnold . . . Compton . . . Scottsbluff . . . Florence Teachers . . . Mt. Diablo High . . . Miller High . . . Sam Houston . . . Murray State . . . Bethune-Cookman

Mention these names to the average football fan and he will probably reward you with a blank stare. He should react with open mouth amazement when you tell him that from these institutions, little known outside their areas, come some of the finest pro football players in the land.

A study of National Football League rosters disclosed this and a number of other interesting statistics that would make a figure filbert's heart sing. For example there are 431 active NFL players from 140 colleges, universities, junior colleges and high school.

Take the list referred to above. From Arnold College in Connecticut comes Andy Robustelli, standout defensive star for the New York Giants now in his ninth season. Compton (Calif.) Junior College contributed a 207-pound powerhouse known as Joe (Jet) Perry of the San Francisco 49ers.

Dick (Night Train) Lane, an eight year defensive ace of the Chicago Cardinals, calls Scottsbluff Junior College Neb., his alma mater. Then, there are such greats as:

Here are some figures which will help settle those off season debates as to which teams provide most of the pro stars. The Big Ten has 63 former players on the 12 NFL teams. Michigan State has 13 and Purdue with 12 lead the way for the Western Conference.

Next comes the Southeastern Conference with 60 in the play-for-pay ranks. Mississippi, Tennessee, Georgia and Louisiana State claim seven each. The Southwest Conference, led by Southern Methodist's 10, Bayro's 8 and 7 each from Arkansas and Texas A&M can brag about 47 active pros.

Other conference breakdowns show the Pacific Coast conference with 42, the Atlantic Coast Conferench 27, the Southern Conference 15 and 8 from the Missouri Valley Conferences.

On a team level, Notre Dame leads the field with 16 post graduate footballers. Michigan State and Maryland each have 13; Purdue, 12; Southern California, 11; Southern Methodist, 10; Pittsburgh, 9, and Rice, Baylor, Oregon, College of Pacific and Oklahoma 8 each. Three players, Lipscomb, Gonzaga and Tom Wilson, Los Angeles, have no college background.

Santa's Stocking Up On Scientific Toys

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mom and Dad will have a tough time keeping one jump ahead of the kids after Santa's visit. This year's crop of toys aims to Junior into a scientific genius.

The accent is on reality and not-so-childish versions of adult scientific equipment, reports the Toy Guidance Council, an independent business organization which keeps tab on play needs and preferences.

This year, the industry predicts that $1.65-billion worth of toys will be sold, compared with one and a half billion last year.

Space and science toys will account for a large chunk of business. Many science toys are laboratories in kit form, created originally by experts at the Library of Science for their own teen-aged and preteen-aged children. Instruments are precision-ground and actually work. The increased quality and emphasis on scientific toys is due to the cold war, the council said.

There are crime detection labs which employes techniques used by the FBI; photo-micrography labs with equipment to photograph specimens through a microscope; and biology kits which include specimens of fish, frogs, worms and crayfish ready for dissecting.

A "Braniac" (like Univac) comes in parts which can be made into various computers that work. A youngster also can study molecular structure with a molecular model building set, build an actual model of an atomic power plant (it measures about two feet square), or raise chickens in a plastic hatchery complete with a coupon redeemable in fertile eggs.

In the space category are secret rocket test centers, parachute rockets with nose-cone recovery features, rocket salvo bases with plastic rockets that fire by remote control, lunar rockets that fire 300 feet in the air, and trains with guided missiles and exploding box cars. The cars can be put back together after the explosion.

Another trend centers around movie and television westerns. There are toys keyed to characters, such as Bat Masterson outfit with cane and vest.

A variety of guns will produce a generation fast on the draw. For example, the "flip special" rifle that flips and fires in rapid succession, a "Ric-O-Shay" pistol with built-ricochet sounds, and a gun that buckles to a holster. The pistol is cocked flat and imbedded in the buckle. All that's required to "shoot" the gun is to flex the stomach muscles.

'Northgaters' Cocktail Dansant In Old Fashioned Yule Setting

The decor, under the direction of Mrs. Allen Zeiss, began outside the entrance of the club. A well- restored and shiny Model A Ford was decorated with a Christmas tree, stacks of holiday-wrapped packages filling the rumble seat. Dr. and Mrs. John Siemens, owner of the car, assisted with the decoration.

Other Northgate members who carried out the traditional Christmas decorations, including attractive handmade felt stockings on the fireplace, garlands of greens, poinsettias and wreaths were Mesdames Fred Galbraith, Fred Sloat, Francis Auger, John McGee, Winston Jones.

Adding to the gaiety were the committee members selling award tickets. With small stylized Christmas trees as topknots the following attractive Northgate women peddled very successfully: Mesdames Mert Hipsley, Robert Walker (co-chairmen); David C. Dorward, Jack L. Hunt Jr., Paul McArdle, John W. Merryman, John S. O'Neill, LeRoy Page, Leon Smith, Charles Trost, John Rademan, Edward J. Ruff, Archibald Simonstadt, Henry E. Skinner and Spengler.

Among couple entertaining friends at the cocktail party and for dinner at the club later in the evening were the Hipsleys who honored Mr. and Mrs. Gus Niederholzer, Mr. and Mrs. Leavitt Olds, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Grady, and Mr. and Mrs. Rinaldo Sciaroni.

The Harold Schuttes entertained the J. Benton Tullys. Dr. and Mrs. Earle Young and Mr. and Mrs. Burton Geysi were guests of the Richard Tylers.

Guests of the Harvie Freeds of Larkspur were their friends and neighbors, Dr. and Mrs. Thurlow Jaegeling, the Bert Wheelers, Roy Frazieres, Charles Coburns and David Littles.

Wishes for a bon voyage were in order for Mr. and Mrs. Hammond E. Wright, leaving this week for a cruise to South America.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Perry entertained the Horace Seamans, Wallace Harpers and the Allan Jones and joined for dinner with the H. Wallace Hickmans, Mesdames Roland Chapman, Leon Smith, and Robert Quinlan.

No matter how busy the day has been, every woman wants to look refreshed when she steps out with the man in her life. Here's a simple trick: Swirl LUX Soap lather all over your face and neck, then count "1 . . . 2 . . . 3 . . . 4." Now rinse and see how your skin glows. LUX actually stimulates skin moisture from within, stirs a complexion to soft, new life.

"Re-arranging the dust?" a husband of my acquaintance used to say on cleaning day. But no more; even he knows that the "scatter" has been removed from dusting, now that ENDUST is here. Spray this O'CEDAR product on cloth or floor mop; it picks and holds dust, converting it into lint particles easy to dispose of. It leaves no film but actually brightens polished surfaces.

For mothers who have a noon meal to pack, few foods are as useful as WHITE STAR Tuna, with its good nutritious values and its tempting taste Chopped hard-boiled egg, crisp, chopped celery onion, and salad dressing, folded into flaked WHITE STAR, makes a superlative sandwich filling. Stuff small tomatoes with the same mixture, a delightful touch for a holiday buffet.

What, all that lovely food—ham, turkey, fruit cake, mince pie—but not a smidgeon for a hungry dog? Cheer up, Rover, your own dinner is on the way. Holiday season or any season it's always a treat, because it's HOLSUM Dog Food, the flavor-filled meal so much better than table scraps. HOLSUM is a balanced ration, rich in vitamins and keyed to a doggy taste.

That's all for now!

Joe Bell, senior laboratory technologist at San Rafael General Hospital, is a triple-threat man when it comes to hobbies. He is an amateur potter, and has taken numerous classes under Edwin Cadogan at the College of Marin. He has studied photography there under Ken Molino, in an effort, as he puts it, to take his pictures "out of the snapshot class."

His third hobby is cooking, although he considers this hardly a hobby, but a day-to-day matter.

"We have to eat," he says. "Why not make it interesting."

His interest in cooking dates from boyhood days in Santa Maria, where he cooked at home and was camp cook, by choice, on trips with other boys. Before the days of easily available charcoal, he used oak wood for barbecuing and cooked over its coals. And he devised a way to smoke meats.

After attending the University of Southern California, Bell was a chief pharmacist's mate in the Navy during World War II. He took advantage of a tour of duty in Guam to talk to the natives about cooking and to eat in native homes.

Bell's interest in cooking is well known at San Rafael General where in January he will observe his tenth anniversary as technologist at the local unit of the Marin Medical Laboratories.

He was a natural choice for the job of editor of the hospital's new cook book, "Favorite Fare." Now that is off the press, so he can go back to his pottery, pictures, and cooking.

Bell's idea of giving variety and interest to the daily business of eating is to try different recipes. He has experimented with French, Italian, Chinese, and lately, Japanese cooking. Sometimes he takes several days to collect the ingredients for a special dish.

The Bells like to entertain in their Corte Madera home, planning menus together. But he leaves the dessert and baking to his wife, he says.

Make Holiday Cake Act As Centerpiece

When it comes to holiday dinners, the appearance of the festive board is as important a part of the traditional scene as the food you serve. Glowing candles, fragrant pine boughs, and bright balls are always lovely — but here's an idea that's really different! Why not make your holiday cake itself the centerpiece for your table — by baking it in one of the traditional Christmas shapes?

For instance, what could be more unusual decoration for buffet or dinner table than a cake baked and frosted to look like an outsize Christmas candle? This centerpiece would be a real conversation piece, too, yet it's surprisingly easy to make. It starts with a package of Pound Cake Mix, which you bake in a can to produce the long candle shape. The cake is frosted with Fluffy White Frosting Mix, trimmed with colorful gumdrop pieces; a marshmallow, coated with yellow-tinted frosting, makes the candle flame.

The traditional Christmas wreath can go to your table as a delicious angel cake — and if the cake is Pineapple-Lemon Angel Cake, what a light, right touch it is after a hearty holiday meal! To make this handsome centerpiece, bake the angel food mix in a tube pan as usual, and spread with Fluffy White Frosting. Then, turn it into a wreath by adding green tinted coconut and groups of maraschino cherries placed to resemble bunches of holly.

CHRISTMAS CANDLE CAKE

1 package Loaf-size Pound Cake Mix
1 egg
1 package Fluffy White Frosting Mix
½ cup boiling water
1 marshmallow yellow food coloring gumdrops

Prepare Loaf-size Pound cake Mix as directed on package. Pour batter into a can about 4 inches in diameter and at least 5 inches deep, which has been well greased and lightly floured on the bottom only. Bake at 350° for 45 to 50 minutes. Frost cooled cake with Fluffy White Frosting, reserving ¼ cup. Tint reserved frosting with a few drops yellow food coloring; frost marshmallow to resemble flame and place on top of cake (anchor with wooden picks if necessary). Use gumdrop pieces to trim sides of candle.

ANGEL WREATH CAKE

1 package Pineapple-lemon Angel Food Mix
1¼ cups water
1 package Fluffy White Frosting Mix
½ cup boiling water
½ cup coconut
green food coloring
maraschino cherries

Prepare and bake Pineapple-lemon Angel Food Mix in ungreased 10-inch tube pan as directed on package. Prepare Fluffy White Frosting Mix as directed; frost cooled cake. Sprinkle green-tinted coconut on top and sides of cake. (To tint coconut, combine few teaspoons water with green food coloring and sprinkle over coconut; toss until coconut absorbs color.) Garnish with pieces of maraschino cherries, grouped to resemble holly berries. Place a large red bow at base of wreath.

Not Too Hot

When adding meringues as toppings to pies and other desserts, be sure the temperature of the filling or food to be covered is not too hot or the meringue will "cry." If the food is too cold, the meringue will collapse and "leak." For perfect meringues, pile the stiffly beat- room-temperature foods. Bake en egg whites on luke-warm or or boil at a high temperature for a short time.

The Misses Cindy and Judy Wiklund, sisters of the bride, as flower girls, wore full skirted silk organza dresses trimmed in lace of powder blue. They carried old fashioned bouquets of pink roses.

Charles H. David III served his brother as best man, and ushers were Lee Magdanz of Burlingame, and Linn Wiklund, the bride's brother, of Kentfield.

The bride was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and is now employed by Crocker-Anglo Bank in San Francisco. She is the sister of Linn, Earl and Larry Wiklund Jr., and Pat, Ada, Cindy and Judy Wiklund, all of Kentfield.

San Anselmo Coed Makes Who's Who

Elissa Eberhart of San Anselmo, a senior education major in language arts at Seattle University, Seattle, Wash., has been named to "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

The nomination is given in recognition of top scholarship, exceptional qualities in leadership and character potentials for good future citizenship and social responsibility.

Elissa's campus activities as a senate member (student body government) and SU Sodality vice-prefect in which she heads nine apostolic committees, and her special interest in Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, in which she conducts classes for the deaf, are all time consuming interests. She still manages, however, to find time for her studies, recreation and part-time employment as a long distance telephone operator

This job becomes full time employment in the summer, making it possible for Elissa to pay her own way through school. Recent additional employment in the field of tutoring children in preparation for high school will replace her telephone work during her practice teaching schedule in the coming spring semester.

Elissa is one of a family of eight children, whose mother is Mrs. Alberta Eberhart of San Anselmo, and whose grandfather is Adolph Eberhart of Mill Valley. Her first 12 years of schooling were under the Dominican Sisters of San Rafael at St. Raphael's parochial school and Dominican Convent Upper school, where she was the first- non-boarding student to become prefect of the Sodality of Our Lady.

Upon attaining her bachelor of arts degree in May 1960, Elissa plans to enroll in Gallaudette, College for the Deaf, in Washington, D.C. to study for her master's degree, with intentions of devoting herself to teaching the deaf.

ELISSA EBERHART of San Anselmo, above, a senior education major in language arts at Seattle University has been named to "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

Bars Near Campuses Stirring State Dispute

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The state is moving slowly in issuing liquor licenses to restaurants near college campuses under a new state law.

There have been about eight applications for licenses within the former dry zones since passage by the 1959 Legislature of a hotly debated bill aimed at easing the restrictions.

The Alcoholic Beverage Control Department has approved four—all in cases where it believes the places won't be frequented by students.

The Los Angeles Furniture Mart, two restaurants and a swank apartment house — all near UCLA—have been granted licenses.

The 1959 Legislature passed a bill by Sen. J. Eugene McAteer (D-San Francisco) permitting bona fide restaurants to get on-sale liquor licenses regardless of location.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown signed the bill into law, but said he didn't want college students drinking. He ordered Thomas W. Martin, director of alcoholic beverage control, to adopt a rule which would effectively ban liquor from student hangouts.

Martin did just that, ruling that premises—including bona fide restaurants—located within a mile of a campus and patronized by students, can't get liquor licenses.

"You're writing in rules even more strict than the one we had before," said McAteer. He contends that the 1876 law establishing dry zones of one-and-one-half to three miles around campuses is "archaic, arbitrary and stupid."

"You left the department discretion," Martin replied. "We used it."

"As long as the chief executive tells us to use that discretion, we will," he added.

The Constitution — not the Legislature—set up the ABC and gives it regulatory powers over liquor, he pointed out. Nothing in the McAteer bill prohibits the department from exercising those powers.

Not satisfied, McAteer asked: "What type of problem have you had that prompts a rule which circumvents the authority of the Legislature?"

And colleges, he said, "don't want honky-tonks that are going to cater to lower types."

McAteer said the department's rule keeps a one-mile dry zone just as effectively as the previous law.

Martin agreed, but said:

"Your dispute isn't with the department—it's with the governor."

"Next time nail it down in the bill and give him a bill he'll have to sign or veto."

Two State Aides Disclose Fight Over Staff Cuts

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The state director of veterans affairs and an aide have confirmed that they came to blows recently over a proposed staff reduction, but they say they're friends again.

Joseph M. Farber, the director, said he and J. Marvin Russell, his predecessor, traded punches at a dinner party in Santa Monica three weeks ago.

It was the climax to an argument over Farber's plans to cut 57 jobs and $400,000 a year from the Division of Farm and Home Loans, which Russell now heads. He returned to that job when Farber was named director by Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

"It was just one of those things that sometimes occur in the heat of argument," Farber said. "We are good friends again and are working for the good of the department."

ODDER ONES DIDN'T

Some Odd Laws Got On Books This Year

CHICAGO (UPI) — Expectant lobsters won legal protection in Connecticut this year and turtles found a place in the sun in Hawaii.

The Connecticut Legislature passed a law making it a crime for fishermen to keep pregnant lobsters. They must toss the lobsters back into water immediately.

Hawaii's legislature outlawed turtle shooting. But it turned thumbs down on a bill that would have prohibited persons from removng sand from beaches for private use.

These were oddities among nearly 100,000 proposals dropped into legislative hoppers by state lawmakers during 1959.

Editors of Commerce Clearing House, asked by United Press International to list some of the most unusual legislative actions, also nominated these:

California's legislature decreed that an operator of a self-propelled wheelchair must have a driver's license.

Overall, however, the "there ought to be a law" legislators didn't fare well. Thousands of their pet projects lost out in busy law-making sessions.

One that failed in Colorado would have put drunken drivers to work removing beer cans and whiskey bottles from roadsides. One rejected in Maine would have equipped uninsured motorists with distinctively colored license plates to warn other drivers to keep a safe distance.

The California Legislature considered, but did not pass, a measure that would have made bicycle riders subject to drunk driving laws.

A Hoosier legislator sought unsuccessfully to make colors of auto license plates match the colors of the high school that won the state championship in basketball-mad Indiana.

A proud Ohioan, mindful of the state's part in development of the electric bulb and the airplane, proposed that license plates bear the legend, "Birthplace of Light and Flight."

Arizona lawmakers considered — but didn't adopt as a state song—a ditty that begins: "Arizona, Arizona, land of my fate; Arizona, Arizona, my Grand Canyon State."

Company Purchased

Richard M. Duff of Rancheria road, Kentfield, president of the Bulldog Pallet Co. of Newark, Alameda county, has announced that his company has purchased the assets of Ace Engineering Associates, Inc., of Oakland, creating a new division of Bulldog with the name Ace Engineering Co.

Yule Musical For Lagunitas P-TA Meeting

A program of Christmas music will be presented by the students at the meeting of Lagunitas Parent-Teacher Assn., to be held tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the social hall in San Geronimo.

Featured on the program will be the new orchestra, which includes about 30 students. The orchestra has been working under the direction of Miss June Purviance who also directs the school's glee club activities and has planned the evening's program. The orchestra will make its debut with two numbers: "Silent Night," and "Oh Come, All Ye Faithful."

The Glee Club, composed of seventh and eighth grade pupils will sing a number of carols: "Angels We Have Heard on High," "Three Kings," "Angels and Shepherds," "Silent Night," and also LeRoy Anderson's "Sleigh Ride." The Girls Ensemble will sing "What Child Is This." One of the highlights of the evening will be a solo by Cheryl Willets, "Birthday of the King."

Some of the students have made attractive books of Christmas songs which they will distribute to the audience.

Following the program, refreshments will be served by mothers of seventh graders.

Santa's Stocking Up On Scientific Toys

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mom and Dad will have a tough time keeping one jump ahead of the kids after Santa's visit. This year's crop of toys aims to Junior into a scientific genius.

The accent is on reality and not-so-childish versions of adult scientific equipment, reports the Toy Guidance Council, an independent business organization which keeps tab on play needs and preferences.

This year, the industry predicts that $1.65-billion worth of toys will be sold, compared with one and a half billion last year.

Space and science toys will account for a large chunk of business. Many science toys are laboratories in kit form, created originally by experts at the Library of Science for their own teen-aged and preteen-aged children. Instruments are precision-ground and actually work. The increased quality and emphasis on scientific toys is due to the cold war, the council said.

There are crime detection labs which employes techniques used by the FBI; photo-micrography labs with equipment to photograph specimens through a microscope; and biology kits which include specimens of fish, frogs, worms and crayfish ready for dissecting.

A "Braniac" (like Univac) comes in parts which can be made into various computers that work. A youngster also can study molecular structure with a molecular model building set, build an actual model of an atomic power plant (it measures about two feet square), or raise chickens in a plastic hatchery complete with a coupon redeemable in fertile eggs.

In the space category are secret rocket test centers, parachute rockets with nose-cone recovery features, rocket salvo bases with plastic rockets that fire by remote control, lunar rockets that fire 300 feet in the air, and trains with guided missiles and exploding box cars. The cars can be put back together after the explosion.

Another trend centers around movie and television westerns. There are toys keyed to characters, such as Bat Masterson outfit with cane and vest.

A variety of guns will produce a generation fast on the draw. For example, the "flip special" rifle that flips and fires in rapid succession, a "Ric-O-Shay" pistol with built-ricochet sounds, and a gun that buckles to a holster. The pistol is cocked flat and imbedded in the buckle. All that's required to "shoot" the gun is to flex the stomach muscles.

'Northgaters' Cocktail Dansant In Old Fashioned Yule Setting

The decor, under the direction of Mrs. Allen Zeiss, began outside the entrance of the club. A well- restored and shiny Model A Ford was decorated with a Christmas tree, stacks of holiday-wrapped packages filling the rumble seat. Dr. and Mrs. John Siemens, owner of the car, assisted with the decoration.

Other Northgate members who carried out the traditional Christmas decorations, including attractive handmade felt stockings on the fireplace, garlands of greens, poinsettias and wreaths were Mesdames Fred Galbraith, Fred Sloat, Francis Auger, John McGee, Winston Jones.

Adding to the gaiety were the committee members selling award tickets. With small stylized Christmas trees as topknots the following attractive Northgate women peddled very successfully: Mesdames Mert Hipsley, Robert Walker (co-chairmen); David C. Dorward, Jack L. Hunt Jr., Paul McArdle, John W. Merryman, John S. O'Neill, LeRoy Page, Leon Smith, Charles Trost, John Rademan, Edward J. Ruff, Archibald Simonstadt, Henry E. Skinner and Spengler.

Among couple entertaining friends at the cocktail party and for dinner at the club later in the evening were the Hipsleys who honored Mr. and Mrs. Gus Niederholzer, Mr. and Mrs. Leavitt Olds, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Grady, and Mr. and Mrs. Rinaldo Sciaroni.

The Harold Schuttes entertained the J. Benton Tullys. Dr. and Mrs. Earle Young and Mr. and Mrs. Burton Geysi were guests of the Richard Tylers.

Guests of the Harvie Freeds of Larkspur were their friends and neighbors, Dr. and Mrs. Thurlow Jaegeling, the Bert Wheelers, Roy Frazieres, Charles Coburns and David Littles.

Wishes for a bon voyage were in order for Mr. and Mrs. Hammond E. Wright, leaving this week for a cruise to South America.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Perry entertained the Horace Seamans, Wallace Harpers and the Allan Jones and joined for dinner with the H. Wallace Hickmans, Mesdames Roland Chapman, Leon Smith, and Robert Quinlan.

FUN WITH FOOD AND HELPFUL HINTS

Why not capture the charm of a Swedish "Jul-Feast" for your Christmas Eve guests? Arrange a big table of smorgasbord delicacies and add a procession of stately St. Lucia Angels, with crowns of tiny candles. You make the angels with ALCOA Foil. For directions, and the St. Lucia story, send self-addressed envelope to Bonnie Hubbard, 593 Market St., San Francisco 5.

Meal-time is fun-time when Mother serves one of GERBER'S new Strained or Junior High Meat Dinners—savory veal, chicken, turkey or beef blended with vegetables—heaps of meat for a young diner who has learned how good it tastes, and lots of protein for growth. Another good choice: Cottage Cheese with Pineapple. GERBER'S new addition to the high protein dinners.

If you start with a can of LINDSAY Ripe Olives, there's no end to the delicious things you can create in the appetizer field. Here is a favorite in our family: Stuff LINDSAY Pitted Ripe Olives with bits of cheese, shrimp, chicken, tuna or sweet onion. Arrange on rack or pan and put under the broiler for a few minutes; serve piping hot, on colored picks.

When you've been shopping all day and your shoes feel two sizes too small, give yourself a rest and the family a treat—go Mexican! Pick some of VAN CAMP'S friendly Fiesta Foods off the shelf, and relax. VAN CAMP'S Tamales are delicious, lean beef, cooked in spicy gravy, folded into corn meal and wrapped in parchment. Heat, remove parchment, and enjoy a restful meal.

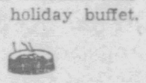
No matter how busy the day has been, every woman wants to look refreshed when she steps out with the man in her life. Here's a simple trick: Swirl LUX Soap lather all over your face and neck, then count "1 . . . 2 . . . 3 . . . 4." Now rinse and see how your skin glows. LUX actually stimulates skin moisture from within, stirs a complexion to soft, new life.

"Re-arranging the dust?" a husband of my acquaintance used to say on cleaning day. But no more; even he knows that the "scatter" has been removed from dusting, now that ENDUST is here. Spray this O'CEDAR product on cloth or floor mop; it picks and holds dust, converting it into lint particles easy to dispose of. It leaves no film but actually brightens polished surfaces.

For mothers who have a noon meal to pack, few foods are as useful as WHITE STAR Tuna, with its good nutritious values and its tempting taste Chopped hard-boiled egg, crisp, chopped celery onion, and salad dressing, folded into flaked WHITE STAR, makes a superlative sandwich filling. Stuff small tomatoes with the same mixture, a delightful touch for a holiday buffet.

What, all that lovely food—ham, turkey, fruit cake, mince pie—but not a smidgeon for a hungry dog? Cheer up, Rover, your own dinner is on the way. Holiday season or any season it's always a treat, because it's HOLSUM Dog Food, the flavor-filled meal so much better than table scraps. HOLSUM is a balanced ration, rich in vitamins and keyed to a doggy taste.



That's all for now! See you next week!

Printer Accused Of Lewd Conduct

Harrison Bidwell, 37, of 121 Sausalito Yacht Harbor, was arrested on charges of violation of probation and for lewd conduct toward children Monday night Sausalito police said.

The arrest was made by Police Chief Howard W. Goerndt and Donald E. Midyett, district attorney's investigator.

Police said they had several reports that Bidwell, a printer, had been lewd around children.

He has been arrested previously on sex offense charges.

School's Sewage Plans Approved

The Tiburon Sanitary District commission has accepted Reed School sewage plans and instructed the school district to proceed with construction of its treatment plant.

Commission Secretary Robert A. Sterling said the completed plan will be accepted in lieu of connection fees. The school has set Dec. 14 for bid opening.

The commission also accepted the Matchek lane sewer line in Tiburon, and reviewed tentative plans of Tiburon Associates for a 27-acre development in northern Tiburon.

Landscaping Set For Monte Maria

Center strips in the Monte Maria subdivision will be fully landscaped, it was decided at a special meeting of the Monte Maria Community Services District.

Board president E. Donald King said the board voted unanimously against installation of planter boxes and blacktop paving. Reasons given, King said, were the initial expense as well as esthetic disapproval.

Estimates for the landscaping will be acted upon Monday, King said, at which time a three-year contract for maintenance will be let.

No Decision Reached On Sewer Agreement

The Ross Valley Sanitary District board Monday discussed with its consulting engineer, Harry Jenks of Palo Alto, the question of renewal of its agreement with the Corte Madera Sanitary District for use of the Ross Valley district's treatment plant, but came to no conclusion, Ralph C. Noah, district manager, reported.

The meeting was adjourned to 9 a.m. Saturday.

MR. AND MRS. GRANT WILLIAM DAVIS cut the cake following their recent wedding in the Larkspur Redwood Presbyterian Church. The bride, the former Laural Jean Wiklund, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Wiklund of Kentfield. The couple will make their home in South San Francisco. (Francken photo)

Laural Wiklund Weds Grant William Davis

White gladioli, chrysanthemums and snapdragons were at the altar of the Redwoods Presbyterian Church in Larkspur for the recent wedding of Laural Jean Wiklund and Grant William Davis.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Wiklund of Kentfield, and the bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Davis Jr. of South San Francisco.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a lace, full-skirted ballerina gown fashioned with scooped neckline appliqued with seed pearls. Her veil of illusion was attached to a coronet of seed pearls and she carried a crescent bouquet of white stephanotis and a white orchid.

The Misses Cindy and Judy Wiklund, sisters of the bride, as flower girls, wore full skirted silk organza dresses trimmed in lace of powder blue. They carried old fashioned bouquets of pink roses.

Charles H. David III served his brother as best man, and ushers were Lee Magdanz of Burlingame, and Linn Wiklund, the bride's brother, of Kentfield.

The bride was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and is now employed by Crocker-Anglo Bank in San Francisco. She is the sister of Linn, Earl and Larry Wiklund Jr., and Pat, Ada, Cindy and Judy Wiklund, all of Kentfield.

The bridegroom was graduated from Central High School in Pueblo, Colo., and attended the University of Alaska. He is now employed with Guy Atkinson Co., in South San Francisco.

The newlyweds will reside in South San Francisco.

JOLLY ROGER PARTY SLATED

Mrs. Donald Dalpino, chairman of the annual Christmas party of the Jolly Roger Chapter of the Children's Home Society, to be held on Saturday night at the Cabana Club at Hamilton Field, promises a festive evening for members and their husbands.

San Anselmo Coed Makes Who's Who

Elissa Eberhart of San Anselmo, a senior education major in language arts at Seattle University, Seattle, Wash., has been named to "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

The nomination is given in recognition of top scholarship, exceptional qualities in leadership and character potentials for good future citizenship and social responsibility.

Elissa's campus activities as a senate member (student body government) and SU Sodality vice-prefect in which she heads nine apostolic committees, and her special interest in Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, in which she conducts classes for the deaf, are all time consuming interests. She still manages, however, to find time for her studies, recreation and part-time employment as a long distance telephone operator

This job becomes full time employment in the summer, making it possible for Elissa to pay her own way through school. Recent additional employment in the field of tutoring children in preparation for high school will replace her telephone work during her practice teaching schedule in the coming spring semester.

Elissa is one of a family of eight children, whose mother is Mrs. Alberta Eberhart of San Anselmo, and whose grandfather is Adolph Eberhart of Mill Valley. Her first 12 years of schooling were under the Dominican Sisters of San Rafael at St. Raphael's parochial school and Dominican Convent Upper school, where she was the first- non-boarding student to become prefect of the Sodality of Our Lady.

Upon attaining her bachelor of arts degree in May 1960, Elissa plans to enroll in Gallaudette, College for the Deaf, in Washington, D.C. to study for her master's degree, with intentions of devoting herself to teaching the deaf.

ELISSA EBERHART of San Anselmo, above, a senior education major in language arts at Seattle University has been named to "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

Mesdames Harold Blewett and Lyle Borcherding of the evening circle are in charge of refreshments.

Tide keeps on working after other suds have quit!

Sooner or later other suds tire out in your washer. They slow down . . . quit. But Tide keeps on working after other suds have quit. Tide is tireless.

If you've seen the test (left) on TV, you know just how hard Tide works. It keeps on eating up dirt long after the other suds are all . . . tired . . . out.

And doesn't it make sense that the one that works the hardest is the one that gets your wash the cleanest?

Civic League Elects Slate At Kentfield

The Kentfield Civic League has elected a slate of 19 directors for 1960.

New officers will be chosen by the directors at their first meeting Jan. 11. Albert Gommo assumed the acting presidency of the league this year after W. Carroll Tornroth moved to San Francisco.

Problems of Kentfield were discussed in the league's Monday night meeting by County Supervisor William D. Fusselman. He reported that traffic on College avenue had dropped 25 per cent since opening of the Bon Air Bridge. League members protested that despite this improvement, traffic congestion on College avenue remains a serious problem.

New league directors, by district, are as follows:

Directors at large are: C. Rollins Allan, Thomas L. Torrison, Richard Newell, William Murray, F. Bourne Hayne, Robert T. Lindemann, Joseph L. Smith and Gregory Sheehan.

'STONE WALLS DO NOT . . .'

Prison Camps Bear Out The Old Saying

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California's honor camps bear out the old saying about stone walls not making a prison.

The men sent there are carefully selected and screened until prison authorities are convinced they will not be risks to people in the surrounding area.

Slack Canyon has no walls or barbed wire fences, and there isn't a gun on the place. The men live in two barracks, kept so neat and clean they might put the average housewife to shame.

There's a mess hall, small recreation facility with books and a television set, and a swimming hole which the men have provided for themselves by damming up a small stream.

The main idea is work, however, and camp inmates put in 48 hours a week building fire breaks. It's a hard life, but the men prefer it to the main prison.

Although the chances for escape are plentiful, few men try it, because capture means forfeiture of chances at an honor camp assignment as well as bringing an increased jail sentence.

Rather than risk the temptations of escape, officials say, many prisoners have told them that it was on their minds and have asked to be sent back to the main prison until they could overcome the urge.

Action by the 1959 Legislature will result in more camps like Slack Canyon. Approving Gov. Edmund G. Brown's suggestion, the lawmakers voted to set up eight new camps and increase the number of men in the facilities from 60 to 80.

Behind the camp system is this basic idea: To free men from the idleness of overcrowded cells and put them to work on projects that will benefit both society and themselves.

State Agency On Aging Has Achieved 'Miracles'

By DICK MEISTER

SACRAMENTO (AP) — For about eight years now, Louis Kuplan has been waging an arduous war against vegetation — the variety that afflicts people.

Kuplan, as executive secretary of the Citizens Advisory Committee on Aging, is the vigorous guiding force in California's internationally famous attempts to bring meaning into the lives of its aged citizens.

With the average life span steadily increasing, this has become "one of the major social problems of our time," says the graying, 53-year-old Kuplan.

Today, most people can look forward to living nearly 80 years. But few of them, however qualified, will be allowed to hold their jobs beyond the age of 65.

"Sixty-five is just the latter part of middle age now," says Kuplan. "But since we're apparently stuck with harmful and ridiculous arbitrary retirement, we must do something to keep the retired out of rocking chairs.

"We must give them the chance to do something for themselves and their communities — to give them that feeling of self-respect and importance we all need to stay alive.

"It's not usually age that causes senility; it's lack of activity. If we don't keep the aged occupied, there will be a terrific bill for hospitals.

"And we'll pay for it politically. We'll force the aged into a homogeneous political bloc."

Basically, the state's program is this:

It provides expert advice to help local communities develop programs to give their elderly citizens an active role in community affairs. Some 85 communities have done this so far. Dozens more have plans ready.

There's no basic state blueprint, however. Each community is studied according to its unique needs and resources. The state enters the picture only if it's invited.

It was only a few years ago that the state became fully aware of the need to provide its aged with more than just money grants — to realize, as Kuplan says, "that the aged, too, do not live by bread alone."

That was in 1951. Earl Warren, then governor, called a statewide conference on aging, mainly because of the urging of Kuplan, then in charge of state old age assistance payments.

A committee on aging representing various state departments was established to work on possible legislation and other matters. Later, the 12-member citizens committee was appointed, to provide direct local assistance.

There were 895,000 Californians over 65 at the time. Today they number one and one-fourth million, and the total is growing by 40,000 a year.

"Just keeping up with the tremendous growth is our biggest problem," says Kuplan, who has the smallest staff of any state agency, and an annual budget of only $44,000.

Despite meager resources, Kuplan, an assocaite, Margaret Rucker Jenson, and two clerical aides "have accomplished miracles," says Edna Bonn Russell, chairman of the citizens committee, at whose pleasure Kuplan serves.

New Planner Joins Staff Of County

Sidney E. Shaw of Boston started work this week as a planner on the staff of the Marin County Planning Commission.

This filled one of two vacancies on the staff and Mrs. Mary Summers said she is negotiating for another man who will bring the staff to currently authorized strength of one senior planner and four planners.

Shaw, from Boston, has degrees from Cornell University of B.A. (economic major) and master of business administration, as well as of master in city planning from Harvard.

He worked as planning assistant with a private firm in Michigan in 1957, and in 1958-59 he was a junior planner with the Boston City Planning Commission.

He has also had business experience and has been an officers in the Air Force.

The county planners, at their meeting this week:

1. Having got aid from the district attorney to force Parnow Brothers to stop excavating without permit south of Point San Pedro road east of the San Rafael City Limits, allowed work to go on under restrictions.
2. Approved a tentative map of Oakwood Manor (renamed Novato Hills) near Novato High School on agreement that five acres will be reserved and tied to part of the high school property to provide a site for a new elementary school.
3. Postponed to Dec. 21 an application for architectural supervision of a detached building on the south of the Nave Shopping Center, South Novato boulevard, so that the developer can reconsider location.
4. Denied John Musso, Tiburon baker, permission to remodel his building at 10 Main street without providing additional parking spaces.

MISSIONARIES FINE, BUT NO MORE, PLEASE

RABAUL, New Britain (UPI) —Natives of this Australian-administered island have appealed to local authorities not to admit any more missionaries.

"The missions have done much for the natives, but there are too many of them," said Stanis Boralamit, spokesman for the island's 500,000 people.

"The mind of the native is confused. He hears the missions say they are all Christian, yet they all differ from each other. We don't want any more coming from Australia, and we ask you to keep them out."

Chessman Smuggle Decision Rapped

Assistant State Atty. Gen. Clarence Linn this week in a petition assailed as legally unsound a state District Court of Appeals decision quashing an indictment against attorney George T. Davis and two co-defendants in the Caryl Chessman "book-smuggling" case.

In the petition, Linn asked the California Supreme Court for a hearing and stated that the District Court of Appeals misinterpreted state law relating to criminal conspiracies.

West End School Sets Yule Show

Each grade in San Rafael's West End School will participate in the school's Christmas program at 1:15 p.m. Dec. 16.

Features will include singing by the choir, dancing by the fourth grade, decorations and a puppet show by the first grade, carols played by four young violinists, singing and a play by the fifth grade, and Christmas with a Spanish accent by the sixth grade, which has been studying Spanish on television.

The kindergarten will hold its holiday program of singing, dancing, and marching at 2:15 p. m. Dec. 15.

The school choir will sing at 12:30 p.m. Dec. 22 at the First National Bank in San Rafael. Radio KTIM will broadcast the performance.

Yule Parties Scheduled In Larkspur

Christmas parties for the young and the old will be held Friday and Monday in Larkspur's Eastman Hall under sponsorship of the Larkspur-Corte Madera Recreation Commission.

The Friday party will be for members of the Tween Teens, a seventh and eighth grade group. The two-hour event, to include dancing, will start at 7:30 p.m.

The Funsters, Twin Cities senior citizens group, will have a party and ham dinner at 1 p.m. Monday. Students of the commission-sponsored art-for-fun class will provide the decorations.

Reservations for the Funsters party may be made by calling Mrs. Ora L. Anderson or Mrs. May Printy at 101 Holcomb avenue, Larkspur.

String Quartet To Play With Choir In Yule Program

The third performance for this season of the Marin String Quartet will be in conjunction with a Christmas program given by the Golden Gate Seminary Choir, according to quartet director Mrs. Mabel Pittenger.

Set for Sunday at 7:30 p.m., in the seminary auditorium, the program will be the Christmas Oratorio by Saint-Saens, with Dr. David Appleby as organist and choir director. String bass player Dean Williams of San Bruno will play with the string group and harpist Alice Catlin of San Rafael will also perform.

Organized in 1953 by Mrs. Pittenger, head of the Tamalpais High School music department, the quartet is composed of Jean Williams, second violin; Mrs. Esther Furnas, viola, and Cesare Claudio, celli; with Mrs. Pittenger, first violin.

Bars Near Campuses Stirring State Dispute

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The state is moving slowly in issuing liquor licenses to restaurants near college campuses under a new state law.

There have been about eight applications for licenses within the former dry zones since passage by the 1959 Legislature of a hotly debated bill aimed at easing the restrictions.

The Alcoholic Beverage Control Department has approved four—all in cases where it believes the places won't be frequented by students.

The Los Angeles Furniture Mart, two restaurants and a swank apartment house — all near UCLA—have been granted licenses.

The 1959 Legislature passed a bill by Sen. J. Eugene McAteer (D-San Francisco) permitting bona fide restaurants to get on-sale liquor licenses regardless of location.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown signed the bill into law, but said he didn't want college students drinking. He ordered Thomas W. Martin, director of alcoholic beverage control, to adopt a rule which would effectively ban liquor from student hangouts.

Martin did just that, ruling that premises—including bona fide restaurants—located within a mile of a campus and patronized by students, can't get liquor licenses.

"You're writing in rules even more strict than the one we had before," said McAteer. He contends that the 1876 law establishing dry zones of one-and-one-half to three miles around campuses is "archaic, arbitrary and stupid."

"As long as the chief executive tells us to use that discretion, we will," he added.

The Constitution — not the Legislature—set up the ABC and gives it regulatory powers over liquor, he pointed out. Nothing in the McAteer bill prohibits the department from exercising those powers.

Not satisfied, McAteer asked: "What type of problem have you had that prompts a rule which circumvents the authority of the Legislature?"

And colleges, he said, "don't want honky-tonks that are going to cater to lower types."

McAteer said the department's rule keeps a one-mile dry zone just as effectively as the previous law.

Martin agreed, but said:

"Your dispute isn't with the department—it's with the governor."

"Next time nail it down in the bill and give him a bill he'll have to sign or veto."

Two State Aides Disclose Fight Over Staff Cuts

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The state director of veterans affairs and an aide have confirmed that they came to blows recently over a proposed staff reduction, but they say they're friends again.

Joseph M. Farber, the director, said he and J. Marvin Russell, his predecessor, traded punches at a dinner party in Santa Monica three weeks ago.

It was the climax to an argument over Farber's plans to cut 57 jobs and $400,000 a year from the Division of Farm and Home Loans, which Russell now heads. He returned to that job when Farber was named director by Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

"It was just one of those things that sometimes occur in the heat of argument," Farber said. "We are good friends again and are working for the good of the department."

Engineer Wins Award

Alfred D. McNulty of 10 Tarrant court, Santa Venetia, a stationary engineer at San Quentin Prison, has received a merit award for his suggestion for a new method of securing the clean-out cover on sewage pumps to make cleaning easier and safer. The method has been placed into effect, Warden Fred R. Dickson announced.

ODDER ONES DIDN'T

CHICAGO (UPI) — Expectant lobsters won legal protection in Connecticut this year and turtles found a place in the sun in Hawaii.

The Connecticut Legislature passed a law making it a crime for fishermen to keep pregnant lobsters. They must toss the lobsters back into water immediately.

Hawaii's legislature outlawed turtle shooting. But it turned thumbs down on a bill that would have prohibited persons from removng sand from beaches for private use.

These were oddities among nearly 100,000 proposals dropped into legislative hoppers by state lawmakers during 1959.

Editors of Commerce Clearing House, asked by United Press International to list some of the most unusual legislative actions, also nominated these:

Overall, however, the "there ought to be a law" legislators didn't fare well. Thousands of their pet projects lost out in busy law-making sessions.

One that failed in Colorado would have put drunken drivers to work removing beer cans and whiskey bottles from roadsides. One rejected in Maine would have equipped uninsured motorists with distinctively colored license plates to warn other drivers to keep a safe distance.

The California Legislature considered, but did not pass, a measure that would have made bicycle riders subject to drunk driving laws.

Printer Accused Of Lewd Conduct

Harrison Bidwell, 37, of 121 Sausalito Yacht Harbor, was arrested on charges of violation of probation and for lewd conduct toward children Monday night Sausalito police said.

Police said they had several reports that Bidwell, a printer, had been lewd around children.

He has been arrested previously on sex offense charges.

School's Sewage Plans Approved

The Tiburon Sanitary District commission has accepted Reed School sewage plans and instructed the school district to proceed with construction of its treatment plant.

Commission Secretary Robert A. Sterling said the completed plan will be accepted in lieu of connection fees. The school has set Dec. 14 for bid opening.

The commission also accepted the Matchek lane sewer line in Tiburon, and reviewed tentative plans of Tiburon Associates for a 27-acre development in northern Tiburon.

Landscaping Set For Monte Maria

Center strips in the Monte Maria subdivision will be fully landscaped, it was decided at a special meeting of the Monte Maria Community Services District.

Board president E. Donald King said the board voted unanimously against installation of planter boxes and blacktop paving. Reasons given, King said, were the initial expense as well as esthetic disapproval.

Estimates for the landscaping will be acted upon Monday, King said, at which time a three-year contract for maintenance will be let.

No Decision Reached On Sewer Agreement

The Ross Valley Sanitary District board Monday discussed with its consulting engineer, Harry Jenks of Palo Alto, the question of renewal of its agreement with the Corte Madera Sanitary District for use of the Ross Valley district's treatment plant, but came to no conclusion, Ralph C. Noah, district manager, reported.

The meeting was adjourned to 9 a.m. Saturday.

PLAN TO SAVE ANCIENT TEMPLES

NOT EXACTLY ANSWER TO HIS PRAYER

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Patrolman Michael Lanigan heard what he described as low muttering as he went down the stairs of a tavern, responding to a burglar alarm.

Lanigan flashed his light into a corner and spied a youth kneeling there.

"What are you doing?" Lanigan asked.

"I was praying," the youth replied. "I prayed if you didn't catch me I was going to put the box back."

The box contained $151 taken from a tavern drawer.

Woodsman, Spare That Christmas Tree—Or You Could Go To Jail

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — At Christmas time in the good old days, Pa walked out to the woods with an ax, chopped down a bushy pine and hauled home a Christmas tree.

But all that is past.

For Christmas trees are big business in California and only commercial operators who chop hundreds or thousands of trees at once, are allowed to harvest the crop.

Until about three years ago, private citizens could chop their own trees on specified stands in federal national forests. But according to Daniel Dotta, a forest technician for the state Department of Natural Resources, the public abused its privilege.

"They chopped down everything in sight," Dotta said; "some people cut maybe three or four trees before they found one they liked. This ruined it for everybody."

Today, the federal government thins its national forests by lot and by bid. Foresters go into a stand, mark which trees may be cut and then commercial operators bid on the lot.

A spokesman for the U. S. Forest Service Department of Timber Management said that this year operators were bidding from 25 to 77 cents per linear foot, depending upon the variety of tree and its accessibility.

The state works a little differently, cutting its own trees from the public land and then offering them for sale by lot. This year, however, there have been no state sales because the men who usually chop the trees have been fighting forest fires.

The penalty for unauthorized tree chopping is a $200 fine, six months in jail, or both. But despite this threat, federal and state officials estimate that some 5,000 young trees worth $25,000 have been cut illegally on public land this year.

Recently, officers arrested five Oakland men and charged them with staging a woodchoppers ball in the Plumas National Forest. Forest Ranger Robert Cermak of Oroville says they cut down 1,300 trees.

All of which is not to say that an honest citizen can't chop a tree. The California Christmas Tree Growers Assn. of Santa Cruz lists 34 "choose and cut" plantations in the state whose owners welcome persons who wish to do it themselves.

Last year, the plantations furnished 2 per cent of the 470,000 California-grown trees on the market. In all, Californians bought more than three million trees worth $14 million dollars. The majority came from Washington, Montana, Oregon and British Columbia.

If, after all this, you still feel a yen for the great outdoors but don't want to go to jail, you can always hunt mistletoe. It hangs from the limbs of oak trees, looks like a bunch of grass, and is a parasite. The state says you can have all you want.

HE HAS PLANE NOW

Dr. Dooley Returning To Laos Next Week

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dr. Tom Dooley will return to his hospital in the Laotian jungles early next week with a lame arm and a fresh determination to fight disease and ignorance in newly developing countries.

"I've got an airplane now!" said the boyish, blue-eyed doctor from St. Louis. "Do you know what that means? It means I can open three more hospitals separated by miles of jungles and mountains and still make daily visits to each of them."

Dooley seems to have recovered fully from the operation this summer to remove a tumor from his chest. But his right arm will be permanently impaired by skin grafts and muscle transplants, and he still is 32 pounds under his normal weight.

The 32-year-old doctor spent his recuperative period making a 50-day tour of 46 U.S. cities (including San Rafael) to raise funds for MEDICO, an organization he founded to bring medical care to areas of the world where it is non-existent.

"I made 68 speeches and raised about $350,000," he said. "I've written my third book since I got out of the hospital and just turned the manuscript over to my publisher. Now I'm going home for Christmas."

Home is Muong Sing, Laos, deep in a Communist-troubled valley where he is known to the poorly fed, clothed and housed population as "Dr. America." He hopes the twin engine airplane donated by the St. Louis Junior Chamber of Commerce and hotelman Conrad Hilton will have reached Muong Sing before him.

"I've got a pilot who will fly it for me for only $150 a month, and CAT airlines will maintain the plane for me," he said. "All I need now is a charge card for the gasoline—and I don't mind at all if you put that in your story."

Dooley is bursting with plans to expand MEDICO service to 23 countries whose governments have requested teams of medical specialists. MEDICO already has teams in Cambodia, Vietnam, Kenya, the Belgian Congo, Jordan, Peru and Haiti, treating the natives, teaching them how to carry on alone, then moving on.

Dooley is not deterred by the political situation and jungle warefare in Laos. Communist propagandists tell the people that he is an imperialist spy and that he is waging germ warfare with injections and inoculations. But he does not think the people believe.

"Most of them sense that communism threatens what is dearest to them—the family organization," he said. "And they really appreciate what Americans are doing for them. American government aid is doing a crackerjack job now after getting off to a slow start."

Dooley says Dr. Albert Schweitzer, with whom he worked at Schweitzer's medical station in Labarene, French Equatorial Africa, is still his greatest inspiration. But he says he dislikes being called the Albert Schweitzer of South East Asia.

"I'm not a missionary, a great musician, a linguist, or a wise old man," he said. "To ask me what I think of Schweitzer is like asking a priest what he thinks of Jesus."

Civic League Elects Slate At Kentfield

The Kentfield Civic League has elected a slate of 19 directors for 1960.

New officers will be chosen by the directors at their first meeting Jan. 11. Albert Gommo assumed the acting presidency of the league this year after W. Carroll Tornroth moved to San Francisco.

Problems of Kentfield were discussed in the league's Monday night meeting by County Supervisor William D. Fusselman. He reported that traffic on College avenue had dropped 25 per cent since opening of the Bon Air Bridge. League members protested that despite this improvement, traffic congestion on College avenue remains a serious problem.

Directors at large are: C. Rollins Allan, Thomas L. Torrison, Richard Newell, William Murray, F. Bourne Hayne, Robert T. Lindemann, Joseph L. Smith and Gregory Sheehan.

'STONE WALLS DO NOT . . .'

Prison Camps Bear Out The Old Saying

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California's honor camps bear out the old saying about stone walls not making a prison.

The men sent there are carefully selected and screened until prison authorities are convinced they will not be risks to people in the surrounding area.

Slack Canyon has no walls or barbed wire fences, and there isn't a gun on the place. The men live in two barracks, kept so neat and clean they might put the average housewife to shame.

There's a mess hall, small recreation facility with books and a television set, and a swimming hole which the men have provided for themselves by damming up a small stream.

The main idea is work, however, and camp inmates put in 48 hours a week building fire breaks. It's a hard life, but the men prefer it to the main prison.

Although the chances for escape are plentiful, few men try it, because capture means forfeiture of chances at an honor camp assignment as well as bringing an increased jail sentence.

Rather than risk the temptations of escape, officials say, many prisoners have told them that it was on their minds and have asked to be sent back to the main prison until they could overcome the urge.

Action by the 1959 Legislature will result in more camps like Slack Canyon. Approving Gov. Edmund G. Brown's suggestion, the lawmakers voted to set up eight new camps and increase the number of men in the facilities from 60 to 80.

Behind the camp system is this basic idea: To free men from the idleness of overcrowded cells and put them to work on projects that will benefit both society and themselves.

State Agency On Aging Has Achieved 'Miracles'

By DICK MEISTER

SACRAMENTO (AP) — For about eight years now, Louis Kuplan has been waging an arduous war against vegetation — the variety that afflicts people.

Kuplan, as executive secretary of the Citizens Advisory Committee on Aging, is the vigorous guiding force in California's internationally famous attempts to bring meaning into the lives of its aged citizens.

With the average life span steadily increasing, this has become "one of the major social problems of our time," says the graying, 53-year-old Kuplan.

Today, most people can look forward to living nearly 80 years. But few of them, however qualified, will be allowed to hold their jobs beyond the age of 65.

"Sixty-five is just the latter part of middle age now," says Kuplan. "But since we're apparently stuck with harmful and ridiculous arbitrary retirement, we must do something to keep the retired out of rocking chairs.

"We must give them the chance to do something for themselves and their communities — to give them that feeling of self-respect and importance we all need to stay alive.

"It's not usually age that causes senility; it's lack of activity. If we don't keep the aged occupied, there will be a terrific bill for hospitals.

"And we'll pay for it politically. We'll force the aged into a homogeneous political bloc."

Basically, the state's program is this:

It provides expert advice to help local communities develop programs to give their elderly citizens an active role in community affairs. Some 85 communities have done this so far. Dozens more have plans ready.

There's no basic state blueprint, however. Each community is studied according to its unique needs and resources. The state enters the picture only if it's invited.

It was only a few years ago that the state became fully aware of the need to provide its aged with more than just money grants — to realize, as Kuplan says, "that the aged, too, do not live by bread alone."

That was in 1951. Earl Warren, then governor, called a statewide conference on aging, mainly because of the urging of Kuplan, then in charge of state old age assistance payments.

A committee on aging representing various state departments was established to work on possible legislation and other matters. Later, the 12-member citizens committee was appointed, to provide direct local assistance.

There were 895,000 Californians over 65 at the time. Today they number one and one-fourth million, and the total is growing by 40,000 a year.

"Just keeping up with the tremendous growth is our biggest problem," says Kuplan, who has the smallest staff of any state agency, and an annual budget of only $44,000.

Despite meager resources, Kuplan, an assocaite, Margaret Rucker Jenson, and two clerical aides "have accomplished miracles," says Edna Bonn Russell, chairman of the citizens committee, at whose pleasure Kuplan serves.

New Planner Joins Staff Of County

Sidney E. Shaw of Boston started work this week as a planner on the staff of the Marin County Planning Commission.

This filled one of two vacancies on the staff and Mrs. Mary Summers said she is negotiating for another man who will bring the staff to currently authorized strength of one senior planner and four planners.

Shaw, from Boston, has degrees from Cornell University of B.A. (economic major) and master of business administration, as well as of master in city planning from Harvard.

He worked as planning assistant with a private firm in Michigan in 1957, and in 1958-59 he was a junior planner with the Boston City Planning Commission.

He has also had business experience and has been an officers in the Air Force.

The county planners, at their meeting this week:

1. Having got aid from the district attorney to force Parnow Brothers to stop excavating without permit south of Point San Pedro road east of the San Rafael City Limits, allowed work to go on under restrictions.
2. Approved a tentative map of Oakwood Manor (renamed Novato Hills) near Novato High School on agreement that five acres will be reserved and tied to part of the high school property to provide a site for a new elementary school.
3. Postponed to Dec. 21 an application for architectural supervision of a detached building on the south of the Nave Shopping Center, South Novato boulevard, so that the developer can reconsider location.
4. Denied John Musso, Tiburon baker, permission to remodel his building at 10 Main street without providing additional parking spaces.

String Quartet To Play With Choir In Yule Program

The third performance for this season of the Marin String Quartet will be in conjunction with a Christmas program given by the Golden Gate Seminary Choir, according to quartet director Mrs. Mabel Pittenger.

Set for Sunday at 7:30 p.m., in the seminary auditorium, the program will be the Christmas Oratorio by Saint-Saens, with Dr. David Appleby as organist and choir director. String bass player Dean Williams of San Bruno will play with the string group and harpist Alice Catlin of San Rafael will also perform.

Organized in 1953 by Mrs. Pittenger, head of the Tamalpais High School music department, the quartet is composed of Jean Williams, second violin; Mrs. Esther Furnas, viola, and Cesare Claudio, celli; with Mrs. Pittenger, first violin.

MISSIONARIES FINE, BUT NO MORE, PLEASE

RABAUL, New Britain (UPI) —Natives of this Australian-administered island have appealed to local authorities not to admit any more missionaries.

"The missions have done much for the natives, but there are too many of them," said Stanis Boralamit, spokesman for the island's 500,000 people.

"The mind of the native is confused. He hears the missions say they are all Christian, yet they all differ from each other. We don't want any more coming from Australia, and we ask you to keep them out."

Chessman Smuggle Decision Rapped

Assistant State Atty. Gen. Clarence Linn this week in a petition assailed as legally unsound a state District Court of Appeals decision quashing an indictment against attorney George T. Davis and two co-defendants in the Caryl Chessman "book-smuggling" case.

In the petition, Linn asked the California Supreme Court for a hearing and stated that the District Court of Appeals misinterpreted state law relating to criminal conspiracies.

West End School Sets Yule Show

Each grade in San Rafael's West End School will participate in the school's Christmas program at 1:15 p.m. Dec. 16.

Features will include singing by the choir, dancing by the fourth grade, decorations and a puppet show by the first grade, carols played by four young violinists, singing and a play by the fifth grade, and Christmas with a Spanish accent by the sixth grade, which has been studying Spanish on television.

The kindergarten will hold its holiday program of singing, dancing, and marching at 2:15 p. m. Dec. 15.

The school choir will sing at 12:30 p.m. Dec. 22 at the First National Bank in San Rafael. Radio KTIM will broadcast the performance.

Special Events Are Great Fun If Whole Family Works Together

Do you have annual special events in your family which you love and remember? I hope so. They're precious. They counteract some of the bad times we have with our children.

Birthdays are special events in many homes. The honored child is king for a day. He gets to pick the menus. He decides on the party he wants. He calls the turns and has a wonderful time. The other children cooperate. They know their birthdays are coming.

Do you make a big thing of birthdays? I hope so.

Is Fourth of July the day when your family honors our country and the men who gave us our independence?

Is Halloween a time to cut our pumpkins and put them on tables in front of windows? Do you enjoy the smell of candles burning in a freshly made jack-o-lantern?

One of the big events in my family is the Christmas tree. We go early to pick it so we'll have some choice, and work together to mount the tree in a big green bucket. If we keep the bucket full of water the tree lasts a long time.

Then we decorate it. Time was when our children dropped and broke the decorations. They're bigger now and less awkward. We always reserve places of honor for the decorations they made. The lights are checked and put up, then we stand back and admire our handiwork. It is our tree. It means something.

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "A neighbor said you advised parents not to let their children believe in Santa Claus. Is that right?"

B.N.T.

(A) No. I said that it does not make a great deal of difference whether you teach the Santa story or not. Children love Christmas either way. Suit yourself.

A thought for today: English poet John Milton said: "They also serve who only stand and wait."

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Controversy Rages Over Fluoridation

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Suppose scientists were to find a simple, safe, cheap method of curbing man's most widespread chronic disease?

How would Americans respond to this marvelous discovery? Would they rush to put it to use all over the country?

They say this because they are convinced the marvelous discovery has already been made. It has received the unqualified endorsement of the American Dental Association, the World Health Organization and many other scientific groups. Since 1951, the U.S. Public Health Service has been pleading with Americans to put it to use.

And yet, as of today, three-fourths of the American people have chosen not to.

Scientists usually shy away from saying that anything has been "proved conclusively." Yet that is precisely the phrase used by the Public Health Service in summing up the results of a quarter century of intensive research on water fluoridation.

This research shows, beyond the shadow of any doubt in the scientific mind, that the addition of proper amounts of fluoride to public water supplies can reduce dental decay by about 65 per cent.

Dental decay is not a terrifying disease, like cancer. But it is by far the most prevalent of man's chronic ailments. It afflicts virtually everyone. It costs Americans upwards of $1,700,000,000 a year in dental bills — and even at that figure, only about half of the cases get treated.

The water fluoridation process which scientists say could eliminate two-thirds of this costly misery is very cheap. The price comes to only a few cents per person per year. And the authorities insist it has been proved completely safe. The Public Health Service says that even if the amount of fluoride in public water supplies were increased 800 per cent over the level recommended for preventing tooth decay, it would not and could not cause any injury to anyone's health.

These claims are not new. Health Officials have been calling them to public attention regularly for the past eight years.

For a while, Americans responded enthusiastically. In 1952, water fluoridation programs were launched by 243 communities. The following year, 378 communities adopted fluoridation.

Then a counteraction set in. A small but highly vocal minority of anti-fluoridationists launched a campaign against the health measure. Some claimed it would cause harm; others objected to the introduction of any foreign matter into their water supplies.

Some sincere people were and are involved in the fight against fluoridation. But the opposition camp also includes, according to the American Medical Association, "cults and quacks of all descriptions" who harbor a perpetual grudge "against all legitimate scientific progress."

The AMA charges that opponents of fluoridation have resorted to "all manner of irresponsible charges," including the "ridiculous" assertions that fluoride in water causes sexual impotence and induces abortions.

This campaign has been highly effective. Since 1953, the number of communities adopting fluoridation has declined each year, reaching a low of 145 last year. And several cities which had begun fluoridation were compelled by public clam or to suspend it.

As of today, about 42,000,000 persons — one-fourth of the total population — live in communities where the water supply contains an amount of fluoride considered adequate to prevent tooth decay.

Arthur S. Flemming, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, said he finds it "difficult to understand" why any community would pass up this "proved protection."

"I have come to the conclusion that the program is lagging only because opponents of fluoridation are a militant minority, and proponents, as is frequently the case with new health measures, are an unmilitant majority," Flemming said.

"It is nothing short of tragic to deny millions of children the benefits of healthy teeth, when public opinion polls indicate that a majority of citizens desire to take advantage of this established health measure.

"Yet this is clearly what is happening in a number of communities, large and small."

PLAN TO SAVE ANCIENT TEMPLES

NOT EXACTLY ANSWER TO HIS PRAYER

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Patrolman Michael Lanigan heard what he described as low muttering as he went down the stairs of a tavern, responding to a burglar alarm.

Lanigan flashed his light into a corner and spied a youth kneeling there.

"What are you doing?" Lanigan asked.

"I was praying," the youth replied. "I prayed if you didn't catch me I was going to put the box back."

The box contained $151 taken from a tavern drawer.

Agricultural Unit Re-Eelects Chief

Alfred J. Bianchi of Point Reyes Station has been re-elected chairman of the Marin County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Aso elected to the committee were Christian Baur of Wilson Hill road, Petaluma, vice chairman; Alfred Grossi of Inverness; David B. Burbank of Fallon, first alternate, and Tom Furlong Jr. of Tomales, second alternate.

Woodsman, Spare That Christmas Tree—Or You Could Go To Jail

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — At Christmas time in the good old days, Pa walked out to the woods with an ax, chopped down a bushy pine and hauled home a Christmas tree.

But all that is past.

Today, if Pa and his ax were caught in the woods at work on a pretty Douglas fir, he could easily go to jail.

For Christmas trees are big business in California and only commercial operators who chop hundreds or thousands of trees at once, are allowed to harvest the crop.

Until about three years ago, private citizens could chop their own trees on specified stands in federal national forests. But according to Daniel Dotta, a forest technician for the state Department of Natural Resources, the public abused its privilege.

"They chopped down everything in sight," Dotta said; "some people cut maybe three or four trees before they found one they liked. This ruined it for everybody."

Today, the federal government thins its national forests by lot and by bid. Foresters go into a stand, mark which trees may be cut and then commercial operators bid on the lot.

A spokesman for the U. S. Forest Service Department of Timber Management said that this year operators were bidding from 25 to 77 cents per linear foot, depending upon the variety of tree and its accessibility.

The state works a little differently, cutting its own trees from the public land and then offering them for sale by lot. This year, however, there have been no state sales because the men who usually chop the trees have been fighting forest fires.

The penalty for unauthorized tree chopping is a $200 fine, six months in jail, or both. But despite this threat, federal and state officials estimate that some 5,000 young trees worth $25,000 have been cut illegally on public land this year.

Recently, officers arrested five Oakland men and charged them with staging a woodchoppers ball in the Plumas National Forest. Forest Ranger Robert Cermak of Oroville says they cut down 1,300 trees.

All of which is not to say that an honest citizen can't chop a tree. The California Christmas Tree Growers Assn. of Santa Cruz lists 34 "choose and cut" plantations in the state whose owners welcome persons who wish to do it themselves.

The plantations, in 13 counties from San Diego to Mendocino, charge roughly from 40 to 75 cents a linear foot, depending on variety.

Last year, the plantations furnished 2 per cent of the 470,000 California-grown trees on the market. In all, Californians bought more than three million trees worth $14 million dollars. The majority came from Washington, Montana, Oregon and British Columbia.

If, after all this, you still feel a yen for the great outdoors but don't want to go to jail, you can always hunt mistletoe. It hangs from the limbs of oak trees, looks like a bunch of grass, and is a parasite. The state says you can have all you want.

HE HAS PLANE NOW

Dr. Dooley Returning To Laos Next Week

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dr. Tom Dooley will return to his hospital in the Laotian jungles early next week with a lame arm and ~~a fresh~~ determination to fight disease and ignorance in newly developing countries.

"I've got an airplane now!" said the boyish, blue-eyed doctor from St. Louis. "Do you know what that means? It means I can open three more hospitals separated by miles of jungles and mountains and still make daily visits to each of them."

Dooley seems to have recovered fully from the operation this summer to remove a tumor from his chest. But his right arm will be permanently impaired by skin grafts and muscle transplants, and he still is 32 pounds under his normal weight.

The 32-year-old doctor spent his recuperative period making a 50-day tour of 46 U.S. cities (including San Rafael) to raise funds for MEDICO, an organization he founded to bring medical care to areas of the world where it is non-existent.

"I made 68 speeches and raised about $350,000," he said. "I've written my third book since I got out of the hospital and just turned the manuscript over to my publisher. Now I'm going home for Christmas."

Home is Muong Sing, Laos, deep in a Communist-troubled valley where he is known to the poorly fed, clothed and housed population as "Dr. America." He hopes the twin engine airplane donated by the St. Louis Junior Chamber of Commerce and hotelman Conrad Hilton will have reached Muong Sing before him.

"I've got a pilot who will fly it for me for only $150 a month, and CAT airlines will maintain the plane for me," he said. "All I need now is a charge card for the gasoline —and I don't mind at all if you put that in your story."

Dooley is bursting with plans to expand MEDICO service to 23 countries whose governments have requested teams of medical specialists. MEDICO already has teams in Cambodia, Vietnam, Kenya, the Belgian Congo, Jordan, Peru and Haiti, treating the natives, teaching them how to carry on alone, then moving on.

Dooley is not deterred by the political situation and jungle warefare in Laos. Communist propagandists tell the people that he is an imperialist spy and that he is waging germ warfare with injections and inoculations. But he does not think the people believe.

"Most of them sense that communism threatens what is dearest to them—the family organization," he said. "And they really appreciate what Americans are doing for them. American government aid is doing a crackerjack job now after getting off to a slow start."

Dooley says Dr. Albert Schweitzer, with whom he worked at Schweitzer's medical station in Labarene, French Equatorial Africa, is still his greatest inspiration. But he says he dislikes being called the Albert Schweitzer of South East Asia.

"I'm not a missionary, a great musician, a linguist, or a wise old man," he said. "To ask me what I think of Schweitzer is like asking a priest what he thinks of Jesus."

Singing Policeman

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (UPI) — Providence patrolman Robert Martini has a "police record" as well as a "hot beat."

To explain: Patrolman Martini is also known as Bob Martin, a singer of country and western ballads. The 24-year-old cop-singer even has a record out: "Sweet Date" backed by "Hunk of Dynamite."

Special Events Are Great Fun If Whole Family Works Together

Do you have annual special events in your family which you love and remember? I hope so. They're precious. They counteract some of the bad times we have with our children.

Birthdays are special events in many homes. The honored child is king for a day. He gets to pick the menus. He decides on the party he wants. He calls the turns and has a wonderful time. The other children cooperate. They know their birthdays are coming.

Do you make a big thing of birthdays? I hope so.

You can enjoy recurring holidays.

Do you color your own Easter eggs and have an egg hunt first thing Easter morning?

Is Fourth of July the day when your family honors our country and the men who gave us our independence?

Is Halloween a time to cut our pumpkins and put them on tables in front of windows? Do you enjoy the smell of candles burning in a freshly made jack-o-lantern?

One of the big events in my family is the Christmas tree. We go early to pick it so we'll have some choice, and work together to mount the tree in a big green bucket. If we keep the bucket full of water the tree lasts a long time.

Then we decorate it. Time was when our children dropped and broke the decorations. They're bigger now and less awkward. We always reserve places of honor for the decorations they made. The lights are checked and put up, then we stand back and admire our handiwork. It is our tree. It means something.

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "A neighbor said you advised parents not to let their children believe in Santa Claus. Is that right?"

B.N.T.

(A) No. I said that it does not make a great deal of difference whether you teach the Santa story or not. Children love Christmas either way. Suit yourself.

Controversy Rages Over Fluoridation

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Suppose scientists were to find a simple, safe, cheap method of curbing man's most widespread chronic disease?

How would Americans respond to this marvelous discovery? Would they rush to put it to use all over the country?

No, the scientists declare unhappily, they wouldn't.

They say this because they are convinced the marvelous discovery has already been made. It has received the unqualified endorsement of the American Dental Association, the World Health Organization and many other scientific groups. Since 1951, the U.S. Public Health Service has been pleading with Americans to put it to use.

And yet, as of today, three-fourths of the American people have chosen not to.

Scientists usually shy away from saying that anything has been "proved conclusively." Yet that is precisely the phrase used by the Public Health Service in summing up the results of a quarter century of intensive research on water fluoridation.

This research shows, beyond the shadow of any doubt in the scientific mind, that the addition of proper amounts of fluoride to public water supplies can reduce dental decay by about 65 per cent.

Dental decay is not a terrifying disease, like cancer. But it is by far the most prevalent of man's chronic ailments. It afflicts virtually everyone. It costs Americans upwards of $1,700,000,000 a year in dental bills — and even at that figure, only about half of the cases get treated.

The water fluoridation process which scientists say could eliminate two-thirds of this costly misery is very cheap. The price comes to only a few cents per person per year. And the authorities insist it has been proved completely safe. The Public Health Service says that even if the amount of fluoride in public water supplies were increased 800 per cent over the level recommended for preventing tooth decay, it would not and could not cause any injury to anyone's health.

These claims are not new. Health Officials have been calling them to public attention regularly for the past eight years.

For a while, Americans responded enthusiastically. In 1952, water fluoridation programs were launched by 243 communities. The following year, 378 communities adopted fluoridation.

Then a counteraction set in. A small but highly vocal minority of anti-fluoridationists launched a campaign against the health measure. Some claimed it would cause harm; others objected to the introduction of any foreign matter into their water supplies.

Some sincere people were and are involved in the fight against fluoridation. But the opposition camp also includes, according to the American Medical Association, "cults and quacks of all descriptions" who harbor a perpetual grudge "against all legitimate scientific progress."

The AMA charges that opponents of fluoridation have resorted to "all manner of irresponsible charges," including the "ridiculous" assertions that fluoride in water causes sexual impotence and induces abortions.

This campaign has been highly effective. Since 1953, the number of communities adopting fluoridation has declined each year, reaching a low of 145 last year. And several cities which had begun fluoridation were compelled by public clamor to suspend it.

As of today, about 42,000,000 persons — one-fourth of the total population — live in communities where the water supply contains an amount of fluoride considered adequate to prevent tooth decay.

Arthur S. Flemming, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, said he finds it "difficult to understand" why any community would pass up this "proved protection."

"I have come to the conclusion that the program is lagging only because opponents of fluoridation are a militant minority, and proponents, as is frequently the case with new health measures, are an unmilitant majority," Flemming said.

"It is nothing short of tragic to deny millions of children the benefits of healthy teeth, when public opinion polls indicate that a majority of citizens desire to take advantage of this established health measure.

"Yet this is clearly what is happening in a number of communities, large and small."

PUPILS PORTRAY HISTORY IN ACTION

Princess Anne Enjoys Activity As A Brownie

LONDON (AP)—If anyone at Buckingham Palace needs a reef knot tied in a hurry there is an expert close at hand—9-year-old Princess Anne.

Brownies are girls serving a sort of apprenticeship to qualify as Girl Guides, British counterpart of the American Girl Scouts.

Princess Anne became a Brownie last May. Now Tuesdays are special days at the palace. If anything threatens to conflict with the Brownie sessions the marshal of the court just has to change his program. The princess is engaged after 5 p.m.

There were 23 under-teen girls in the pack at last count, not all of them bluebloods. One of the ideas of the Brownies is that girls should make friends in all stations of life.

The gatherings take place in the palace if it's cold and in the roomy summer house on the palace grounds if the weather is fine. There the princess meets such friends as 8-year-old Susan Lewis, daughter of a taxicab driver and Carol and Sally Lewis, 9 and 11, whose father is a hotel maintenance man.

Miss Mary Millican, 33, a teacher who is the pack's "Brow Owl," and Miss Mercy Edgedale 30, who as "Tawney Owl" is second in command, stick pretty close to the Brownie agenda of knot-tying, flower recognition, setting up a tea and washing the dishes.

Redwood Bands To Give Concert

A program of holiday music will be presented to the public by the Redwood High School bands Dec. 17 in the school gymnasium.

The program will feature numbers from the Christmas season, according to director Sidney Gordon. Selections from Hayden, Stainer, Debussy and Stravinsky will also be played.

Performing will be both the intermediate band and the advanced band. "It is unusual," Gordon said, "to have an intermediate band performing so early in the school year, but members have prepared several selections well enough to appear as a separate unit."

PETROCHEMICAL EXPERT—Dr. H. J. Aroyan of 2029 Huckleberry road, San Rafael, has been named supervising research engineer at the Richmond Laboratory of California Research Corp.

Radio Panel To Discuss Housing Bias

Four panelists will discuss racial discrimination in housing in Marin County and what to do about it at 9 a. m. tomorrow on radio station KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board" program.

Kitty Oppenheimer is moderator of the program. Panelists will be Lloyd Grandi, chairman of the Marin County Committee on Racial Discrimination; Robert Pitts of Mill Valley, housing market analyst with the Federal Housing Administration; Edward P. Morphy, president of the Marin County Real Estate Board, and a member of the Citizens Committee for Fair Play on Housing, not yet selected.

Listeners may submit questions for the broadcast. The program will be heard again via tape-recording Sunday at 12:30 p. m.

Tenants Appoint Member To Board

The Marin City Tenants Council appointed its secretary, Mrs. Gene Beard, as a member of the Marin County Community Services Advisory Board.

The board, working under a grant from the Columbia Foundation, is to make a community relations study in Marin City.

The council also:

1. Voted to lend the Marin City Community Services District $25 for expenses.

2. Voted to seek another ruling from the Treasury Department on the council's tax-exemption status.

State Pays $610 Million To 112,000 Employees

Its annual payroll is about 610 million dollars, with individual salaries ranging from $255 to $1,550 a month for civil service employees. The average is $467.

They go as high as $40,000 a year in the case of the top man, the governor. He, like other elected officers, is exempt from civil service.

Agencies vary in size from the sprawling Mental Hygiene Department, with some 19,000 workers, to the Citizens Advisory Commission in Aging, with a staff of three.

State workers are scattered throughout the 58 counties. There are about 20,000 in Sacramento County, 17,000 in Los Angeles County, 7,700 in San Francisco, only 10 in Alpine County.

Excluding the University of California, there were 57,887 men and 35,472 women in state service when the year started, the time the last complete count was made.

The state uses all types of skills—carpenter, cook, psychiatrist, engineer, printer, veterinarian and soil expert — to mention a few of some 2,400 job classifications.

The breakdown by broad categories, called "occupation groups," shows 20,819 clerks, stenographers, secretaries and similar workers; 13,410 in medicine and allied services; 9,848 in engineering fields.

The state has 619 lawyers.

Other categories include: Mechanical and construction trades, 2,174; fiscal management and staff services, 4,154; education and library — not counting U.C. or the state colleges—724; custodian and domestic services, 4,463; agriculture and conservation, including game wardens, foresters and park wardens, 4,649.

Civil service in California dates from 1913, when it was introduced as a reform measure by Gov. Hiram Johnson's administration.

Under California's civil service system, rated by experts as one of the nation's best, jobs and promotions go to those best qualified as shown by competitive examination and on-the-job performance.

These include the elected officers, those appointed by the governor, employees of the Legislature and teachers at the University of California and the state colleges.

The state Personnel Board fixes pay of the 84,000 civil service and 9,000 state college workers—the bulk of the state employees.

The Legislature sets salaries for 270, the board of regents for the 19,000 employees of the University of California, the director of finance for about 1,000 exempt employes and the San Francisco Port Authority for some 350 workmen.

In 1940, the population was 6,900,000 and there were 29,000 civil servants.

In 1950, there were 51,000 state employees for a population of 10½ million.

Today, with a population of 15 million, the state employs more than 100,000.

But the state has a long way to go to become the biggest employer in California.

The federal government has more than 250,000 civilian employees in the state.

PUPILS PORTRAY HISTORY IN ACTION

The Trojan horse is the subject of this mural on the outside wall of the Meadow Park School at Hamilton Air Force Base executed by 16 members of the seventh grade under supervision of Walter Bachrach, social studies instructor. One of a series of four murals, it was researched and painted by the pupils in connection with their study of Homer's "Iliad." Shown here with Bachrach is Cynthia Peffer, one of the students who will have spent four months on the panels when they are completed. The school is in San Jose District. (Air Force photo)

Princess Anne Enjoys Activity As A Brownie

LONDON (AP)—If anyone at Buckingham Palace needs a reef knot tied in a hurry there is an expert close at hand—9-year-old Princess Anne.

Brownies are girls serving a sort of apprenticeship to qualify as Girl Guides, British counterpart of the American Girl Scouts.

Princess Anne became a Brownie last May. Now Tuesdays are special days at the palace. If anything threatens to conflict with the Brownie sessions the marshal of the court just has to change his program. The princess is engaged after 5 p.m.

A special pack of Brownies was organized at Buckingham Palace, at the direction of Queen Elizabeth, so the princess could get going in the Girl Guide program.

There were 23 under-teen girls in the pack at last count, not all of them bluebloods. One of the ideas of the Brownies is that girls should make friends in all stations of life.

The gatherings take place in the palace if it's cold and in the roomy summer house on the palace grounds if the weather is fine. There the princess meets such friends as 8-year-old Susan Lewis, daughter of a taxicab driver and Carol and Sally Lewis, 9 and 11, whose father is a hotel maintenance man.

But play is not permitted to take too much time from the Brownie program of constructive activities.

Miss Mary Millican, 33, a teacher who is the pack's "Brow Owl," and Miss Mercy Edgedale 30, who as "Tawney Owl" is second in command, stick pretty close to the Brownie agenda of knot-tying, flower recognition, setting up a tea and washing the dishes.

Redwood Bands To Give Concert

A program of holiday music will be presented to the public by the Redwood High School bands Dec. 17 in the school gymnasium.

The program will feature numbers from the Christmas season, according to director Sidney Gordon. Selections from Hayden, Stainer, Debussy and Stravinsky will also be played.

Performing will be both the intermediate band and the advanced band. "It is unusual," Gordon said, "to have an intermediate band performing so early in the school year, but members have prepared several selections well enough to appear as a separate unit."

PETROCHEMICAL EXPERT—Dr. H. J. Aroyan of 2029 Huckleberry road, San Rafael, has been named supervising research engineer at the Richmond Laboratory of California Research Corp.

Radio Panel To Discuss Housing Bias

Four panelists will discuss racial discrimination in housing in Marin County and what to do about it at 9 a. m. tomorrow on radio station KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board" program.

Kitty Oppenheimer is moderator of the program. Panelists will be Lloyd Grandi, chairman of the Marin County Committee on Racial Discrimination; Robert Pitts of Mill Valley, housing market analyst with the Federal Housing Administration; Edward P. Morphy, president of the Marin County Real Estate Board, and a member of the Citizens Committee for Fair Play on Housing, not yet selected.

Listeners may submit questions for the broadcast. The program will be heard again via tape-recording Sunday at 12:30 p. m.

Tenants Appoint Member To Board

The Marin City Tenants Council appointed its secretary, Mrs. Gene Beard, as a member of the Marin County Community Services Advisory Board.

The board, working under a grant from the Columbia Foundation, is to make a community relations study in Marin City.

The council also:

1. Voted to lend the Marin City Community Services District $25 for expenses.

2. Voted to seek another ruling from the Treasury Department on the council's tax-exemption status.

State Pays $610 Million To 112,000 Employees

Its annual payroll is about 610 million dollars, with individual salaries ranging from $255 to $1,550 a month for civil service employees. The average is $467.

They go as high as $40,000 a year in the case of the top man, the governor. He, like other elected officers, is exempt from civil service.

Agencies vary in size from the sprawling Mental Hygiene Department, with some 19,000 workers, to the Citizens Advisory Commission in Aging, with a staff of three.

State workers are scattered throughout the 58 counties. There are about 20,000 in Sacramento County, 17,000 in Los Angeles County, 7,700 in San Francisco, only 10 in Alpine County.

Excluding the University of California, there were 57,887 men and 35,472 women in state service when the year started, the time the last complete count was made.

The state uses all types of skills—carpenter, cook, psychiatrist, engineer, printer, veterinarian and soil expert — to mention a few of some 2,400 job classifications.

The breakdown by broad categories, called "occupation groups," shows 20,819 clerks, stenographers, secretaries and similar workers; 13,410 in medicine and allied services; 9,848 in engineering fields.

The state has 619 lawyers.

Other categories include: Mechanical and construction trades, 2,174; fiscal management and staff services, 4,154; education and library — not counting U.C. or the state colleges—724; custodian and domestic services, 4,463; agriculture and conservation, including game wardens, foresters and park wardens, 4,649.

Civil service in California dates from 1913, when it was introduced as a reform measure by Gov. Hiram Johnson's administration.

Under California's civil service system, rated by experts as one of the nation's best, jobs and promotions go to those best qualified as shown by competitive examination and on-the-job performance.

The Constitution exempts 16 types of jobs from civil service.

These include the elected officers, those appointed by the governor, employees of the Legislature and teachers at the University of California and the state colleges.

There are five salary-setting authorities for state employees.

The state Personnel Board fixes pay of the 84,000 civil service and 9,000 state college workers—the bulk of the state employees.

The Legislature sets salaries for 270, the board of regents for the 19,000 employees of the University of California, the director of finance for about 1,000 exempt employes and the San Francisco Port Authority for some 350 workmen.

In 1940, the population was 6,900,000 and there were 29,000 civil servants.

In 1950, there were 51,000 state employees for a population of 10½ million.

Today, with a population of 15 million, the state employs more than 100,000.

But the state has a long way to go to become the biggest employer in California.

The federal government has more than 250,000 civilian employees in the state.
